Descendants of James Cornelius Wynne

Edmund Thomas
b. 8-3-1814
d. 5-13-1885

According to T.B. Deem's Genealogy of The Wynne Family: "We were unable to trace the families of any of these children except Samuel." I keep wondering if Thomas' wife, Hannah, + Samuel's wife, Phoebe, were sister.

According to John W Jordan's Colonial + Revolutionary Families of Penna, Phoebe Wynne was daughter of Delaney Sharp b. 16 Feb 1769 in N.S. Soldier in second war for In Capt. John Jones Co., 1st U.S. Artillery. Wounded in Sacket's Harbor 1814. Died soon after. Married 13 Oct 1789 to Sally Gilman, b. 16 Feb 1771, d. 26 Feb 1798. He then married Julia Stretch who survived him + became the 3rd wife of John Hine's.

I can fairly well determine where the Fergusons lived. Presumably, Wynnes must have lived in same neighborhood when Thomas Wynne married Joyce Ferguson, perhaps in the 1770's.

9 Dec 1773: Joel Ferguson is appointed surveyor of the road from the courthouse road to the falls of Nottoway, and...Lyddal Bacon and Thomas Winn...to work under him. (Lunenburg Co., Va. Court Order Book 13, p.381)

Is this my Thomas working with his father-in-law?

15 Oct 1784: ...petition of Joel Ferguson...to build a water grist mill, he having land on both sides of a branch of Great Creek...

By DAMON VEACH

At one time there was a town in southern Wise County by the name of Garvin. It consisted of a schoolhouse, Post Office, store, church and cemetery. Today, all that remains of the town is Garvin Methodist Church and its cemetery.

Garvin Methodist Church is located about five miles west of Bayd, on a dirt road one mile south of State 114. The church was organized in the Fisher home by a Rev. Miller. Worship was at the Fisher home and later in a schoolhouse until 1872. Dr. Morton donated the land and a log house was built replacing the log cabin. A man by the name of Garvin moved to this location, built a store and U.S. Post Office that gave this settlement the name of Garvin. The present house was built in 1905.

Robert V. Drennan, 5321 Gordon Avenue, Fort Worth, 76115 is compiling information on the town of Garvin. The data will be edited and added to the historical manuscript now being assembled. All help in assisting in the preservation of Garvin's past will be appreciated.

MRS. GLADYS SKINNER, 717 Kentwood Circle, Bedford, Tex., 76021 is researching the Zachary family and needs data on Bennett Hiram Zachary who came to Texas before statehood. He was born in Orangeburg, S.C., in 1809, a son of William Zachary and his second wife, Penelope Davis. He died in 1860, Newton County, Texas.

MRS. JOHN Winters Walker, 1304 Lawson Ave., Midland, Tex., 79701 needs data on the descendents of William Houston Small, born in DeKalb County, Ala., in 1874 and died in Hot Springs, Ark., in 1944. His first wife was Lula Smith of Texola, and their son is thought to be Van Houston Small, born in the early 1900s, probably in Wheeler County, Texas. They may have lived in Collinsworth County, Texas, for a short time.

MRS. WARREN McNUTT,

Your Texas Ancestors

Route 1, Box 102, Alvord, Tex., 76225 is researching the Wynn - Winn - Wynne family and would like to correspond on this lineage. Zealy M. Wynn was born in Virginia circa 1800, and his children were: Andrew, born 1826, Alabama; William, born 1828, Tennessee; Preston, born 1833, Missouri; Minerva, born 1834, Missouri; Polly, born 1843, Crawford County, Ark.; Josiah, born 1844, Arkansas; Susanna, born 1846, Arkansas; and Zachary T., born June 4, 1847, Crawford County.

Zachary came to Parker County, Texas, in about 1862, and Preston came in 1882. Andrew married a widow, Lillie Walter. He is listed in the McLennan County census of 1880. He was 53, and Lillie was 39. Their children were Maggie O., age 5, Sul Ross, age 3, and Mollie, age 1.

Mrs. McNutt will exchange information with anyone searching these lines—Wynn, Winn, Wynne, Tucker, Profitt, Mills, McNutt, and White. She would especially like to hear from the Sul Ross Wynn descendants.

GENEALOGICAL Miscellany: For information on Pennsylvania sources, write to Department of Property and Supplies, Box 1365, Harrisburg, Pa., 17125 and ask for their catalogue of publications of the Commonwealth. This is free, and there are many listings. Three of their publications are good (and inexpensive): Directory of Pa. Historical Organizations and Museums, 90 pages, 50 cents; Guide to the Published Archives of Pa., $1.50; and Pa. Historical and Museum Committee, 1973 list, free. There in Pennsylvania. Schuyler Brossman's "Our Keystone Families" is a well-read genealogy column. The column is good but of little benefit unless the reader's connection is with the Pennsylvania Germans of the eastern section.

Correspondence to this column should be sent to Damon Veach, Your Texas Ancestors, Ft. Worth Star-Telegram, P.O. Box 1870, Fort Worth, 76101. Column reprints in this series are available in limited quantities at $4 each.

Eliza Buckner<sup>7</sup>, born 1835, died 1900, was adopted by her grandmother (who, after the death of Mr. Cooke, married Col. Wm. Jones, of Concord) married Dec. 29th, 1860, Prof. Alex Hogg, of Fort Worth, Texas.

Mrs. Hogg was a gentle lovable woman, a devoted wife and mother, and through a long and somewhat checkered career was the support and inspiration of her devoted husband. There are few such women in existence today, in this age of frivolity and clubs, and the world is suffering from their absence.

Prof. Alex Hogg, born 1830 near Yorktown, Va., and died in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md., in 1911. He was educated at Randolph Macon College, Virginia, and University of Virginia. After graduating at Randolph Macon College he was employed by my father to teach his sons and others, and was our first male teacher, and while thus engaged, he wooed and won his wife, a cousin of my mother. After teaching nearly three years at Cappahosic Academy, he married, and then finished his education at University of Virginia. He was Professor in following schools: Wesleyan Female College, N. C., Washington College, Md., Agricultural and Mechanical College of Alabama and Texas. Finally moving to Fort Worth, Texas, where he became Superintendent of Public Schools, and where he remained the balance of his life, his wife dying there and there his children have married. Prof. Hogg was a progressive, energetic, restless soul, ever suggesting and demonstrating certain factors necessary to progress, and his work on "Railroads in Education" was so highly appreciated that thousands of copies were procured and distributed by the heads of different railroads. He died highly esteemed by hundreds of men whom he had educated. They had issue:

(1) Mary Lulie<sup>8</sup> of Fort Worth, who takes an intense interest in educating her nieces and nephews, and is an active worker for the welfare of her fellow women.

GENERAL ALBERT MAVER WINN

General Albert Maver Winn was born on a plantation in Loudon County, Old Virginia, April 27, 1810.

His father was Capt. John S. Winn who commanded a company of American soldiers in the War of 1812, and who died in 1843.

His mother was Anjanet Maver Winn born in Liverpool, England, the daughter of John Maver, a Scotsman, who died in Philadelphia in 1800. The Mavers were Scotch-Irish and the Winns were Welsh.

Capt. John and his wife Anjanet were married in 1809 and were the parents of 21 children - 13 of whom reached maturity. They were all single births.

John and Anjanet had 2 sons in the Mexican war, and quite a number of sons, grandsons, and sons-in-law were in the Union Army during the Rebellion in which 3 of them lost their lives.

Capt. John Winn commanded a Volunteer Company - raised and equipped in Leesburg during the War of 1812. After its close, he moved to Culpepper County. In 1824, he went to Zanesville, Ohio, where he died in 1843.

Albert Winn was educated in Culpepper until he was 12 years old. After that, his education was evidently rather sketchy, as he helped his father with the work on the farm until 1826. It was his boast in after years that at the age of 12, he drove a lot of hogs from Culpepper to Zanesville. He evidently thought that that was something, and I suppose that it was.

He learned the carpenter trade and when he was 19 years old he married a young lady by the name of Catherine Gaffney, and they travelled from Zanesville to Vicksburg, Miss., on a boat laden with lumber. On this trip he and another man worked up this lumber into doors and windows and when they reached Vicksburg, they sold these house accessories very readily. But on their way there, they stopped at Louisville, Kentucky, where their only son, Adolphus Gustavous was born. They then proceeded on their journey.

The family lived in Vicksburg until the son, my father, was 17 years old.

General Winn and his wife Catherine had 4 daughters and one son, one daughter died in infancy.

The General was a Jackson Democrat. In 1835, he received his commission as 1st Lieutenant. In 1836, he was commissioned as Assistant Quartermaster General with the rank of Major on the staff of Gov. Chas. Lynch. In 1840, he was appointed Drill Master of the State and held it for 4 years. He was commissioned

Colonel of the 1st Reg. Miss. Militia in 1845. He was secty. of the Phoenix Engine Company for 7 years and a member of the City Council.

Adjutant Gen'l Buckley, Col. Courtney, and Gen'l A. M. Winn were judges of the election when Jefferson Davis was elected Colonel of 1st Miss. Reg. Volunteers, Mexican War. Winn was President of the Masters Carpenters and Joiners Society of Vicksburg. He left Vicksburg Feb. 14, 1849 for California via New Orleans, through Texas and Mexico.

He arrived in San Francisco May 28th and Sacramento June 25th, 1849.

He was the 1st Mayor of Sacramento, also the leader of an organization called "The Law and Order League" to quell squatter riots.

He organized the 1st Odd Fellows Lodge on the Pacific Coast and was its 1st presiding officer.

He acted as agent for Capt. John Sutter.

Removing to Grass Valley, he acted as notary public.

He was appointed as Brigadier General in 1850, and reappointed by Gov. John Bigler in 1854.

He joined the Sons of Temperance in 1853.

Removing to Sutter County, he was nominated and defeated for Legislature.

He was until his death the President of the State Swamp Lands Commissioners.

He went to San Francisco in 1860 and in 1862, his wife died.

He remarried in 1865 the widow of James King of William.

Besides the foregoing, he founded and organized the following:

The Sons of the Revolutionary Sires.

Mechanics State Council.

Odd Fellows Relief Association for Widows and Orphans in 1849.

The Order of the Native Sons of the Golden West of which he was an honorary member duly elected by the membership.

He was instrumental in the establishment of a hospital for the sick and destitute. The Masons and Odd Fellows financed this project jointly.

He owned and edited a paper called "The Shop and Senate".

He was a constant contributor to the "New Age" and the "Alta California."

We are told that the General belonged to every Fraternal Order in existence in the early days in Sacramento and it is quite probable that this was true.

He established the 1st Episcopal church in Sacramento. It was called Grace Church, and the General was a regular attendant.

In 1876, he retired to Sonoma County where at the residence of his stepson, Chas. J. King, he died August 26th, 1883 - he was 73 years old.

The Order of the M S G W buried him with all honor and erected to his memory a beautiful stately monument in the City Cemetery of Sacramento.

Wynn, Albert M.

Every organization of Sacramento attended his funeral in a body - bands marched playing the tunes suitable, and the courts and civic bodies closed in respect to his memory.

- * A public park in Sacramento has been named after him where the N S G W have placed in his honor a tall flagstaff on either side of a marker. From the right pole flies the flag of our country and the State (Bear) flag flies from the left. The Order of the
- * N S G W have been very kind to his memory. General Winn was a kindly gentleman, a benefactor to mankind, and was beloved by everyone who knew him.

My mother has asked me to add this item.

Albert Maver Winn was of the branch of the Sir William Watkin Wynns in Wales.

My oldest brother carries that name and is a member of Sacramento #3 N S G W.

It was through the efforts of General A. M. Winn that the 8 hour law was passed in the Legislature for Carpenters.

I also forgot to get his family to California. Joe Genneli who was a brother-in-law of the general's undertook the care of the Winn family consisting of Mrs. Winn, 3 daughters and 1 son, in company with his own family on the trip to California by way of the Isthmus of Panama.

The Winn family had a ranch up the Sacramento River and it is called Winn's Ranch and Winn's Landing to this day.

Mr. Joe Genneli had the first crockery store in San Francisco.

If I wished, I could go on with many other things that General Winn sponsored but I think that the foregoing is enough for any one man to have to his credit.

Respectfully submitted to Mr. Peter Cymmy by request

WALTER T. WINN

Walter T. Winn, editor of the Courier. as a native of Knox County, Ohio, and son of J. M. and Mary F. Winn, now of Toledo, Iowa, was born in 1862. He received his education at Toledo and began his career as a printer in the office of the Toledo Times, in 1879. In 1880, he started the Tama County News, in partnership with William Clark, but in the same year sold his interest and, moving to Gladbrook in April, 1881, bought the Gladbrook Courier, a weekly paper, of which he is now editor and proprietor. He was married June 29, 1882 to Miss Emma J. Lawson, daughter of Harvey B. and Maria (Stewart) Lawson. Mr. Winn is a member of the V.A.S. Society of Gladbrook, is respected as a citizen, and his success in managing newspaper work has more than proven his adaptability to that profession. He ~~he~~ is a pungent and pleasing writer and his articles are always to the point.

HISTORY OF OKLAHOMA

Richard H. and Harriet Ann (Means) Moss. His grandfather, Thomas H. Moss, was born in Green County, Kentucky, in 1821, and died in 1915 at the age of ninety-four. He was a farmer and stock raiser, indulged the typical taste of a Kentucky gentleman in fine saddle horses, and was also an extensive grower of tobacco. His local prominence drew him into politics, and for two terms he was a member of the Kentucky Legislature. He was a staunch old Kentucky democrat. Richard H. Moss, father of the Tulsa lawyer, was born in Green County, Kentucky, in 1842, was educated in the University of Louisville, became a physician and for about thirty years was engaged in practice at Hodgenville in LaRue County. His activities have been widely extended, and in 1896 he was elected a member of the Legislature and reelected in 1898, after which he was connected with the office of the internal revenue collector for about three years, and was then again elected to the Legislature for one term. In recent years he has been engaged in the retail drug trade at Hodgenville. Austin F. Moss has one brother, Burdett H. Moss.

Mr. Moss was educated in the public schools at Hodgenville, the South Kentucky College at Hopkinsville, attended the Cumberland University at Lebanon, Tennessee, and finished his law studies with the class of 1900 at Center College at Danville, Kentucky. He soon afterwards came to Oklahoma, was admitted to the bar and began practice at Blackwell in Kay County, and in the fall of 1902 was elected county attorney and served one term. After this experience he was engaged in a general practice until 1908, and then removed to Oklahoma City, where he was engaged in general practice. During 1911 he was associated for about half of his time with the county attorney's office of Oklahoma County in the handling of criminal cases, and this proved a valuable experience as a trial lawyer. During 1912 Mr. Moss was honored among his associates with the office of president of the Oklahoma City Bar Association.

In March, 1913, he located at Tulsa, becoming a member of the firm of Martin, Rush & Moss. In 1914 Mr. Bush withdrew from the firm and removed to California, since which date the firm has been Martin & Moss. They are general lawyers, handling a large volume of civil and criminal litigation, and also represent several corporations. Mr. Moss is a member of the Tulsa County Bar Association and the Oklahoma State Bar Association, and politically is a democrat. He was married March 14, 1903, to Miss Marjorie L. Buchanan, who was born at Owen Sound, Ontario, Canada.

X U. G. WINN. Much that is of consequence in the history of the last twenty years in the old Chickasaw Nation of Oklahoma—its most important epoch—is reflected in the experiences of Judge Winn, who as one of the pioneer United States commissioners of this section assisted in ridding it of outlaws, whiskey peddlers and other undesirable characters. The once thriving Town of Center, situated twenty miles from Pauls Valley, which for years was the nearest railroad town, was the home of Judge Winn while he was a servant of the Federal Government. The country was sparsely settled, and afforded a free range for refugees from justice and the active violators of the law. Many of these renegades appeared at one time or another in his court, to which was attached a constable and two deputy marshals. Judge Winn by his actions practically set a date for the end of lawlessness in his district. Time after time the outlaws were remanded in this decree when they were held for trial before the United States courts, over which at that time in that district Judge Hosen Townsend presided. Such prompt and courageous handling of the forces of justice soon gave indication that the stronghold of lawlessness was to be broken up, and facing such an issue the ill-assorted characters attempted to intimidate the fearless commissioner. At length he received word that he was to be attacked by the outlaws, and strung to a tree with a rope. They meant business, and Judge Winn knew it. He therefore called in his official force and instructed them to arm citizens of the town in a body of defense. All good men rallied to the call and when the outlaws appeared they were completely routed by the Winn forces. That was the beginning of the end of the reign of lawlessness in that part of the present State of Oklahoma. The end came a few years later when respectable men of Pontotoc County, incensed by the slow processes of justice, took four of the leaders of the outlaws from the county jail in Ada and lynched them on a public street.

Judge Winn, who had for many years been one of the substantial lawyers of Southern Oklahoma, and is now again practicing at Ada, was born in Christian County, Missouri, May 30, 1864, a son of Larkin David and Sophia A. (Looney) Winn. His father, a native of Tennessee and an early settler of Missouri, was descended from Irish and Scotch emigrants who came early to America from Ireland. Judge Winn has four brothers. John C. Winn is a minister at Sparks, Oklahoma; Willis M. Winn is a merchant at Seminole, Oklahoma; Ira E. Winn is an architect of Springfield, Missouri; and Columbus M. Winn is a farmer and stockman at Nowata, Oklahoma.

Judge Winn obtained his early education in Arkansas, to which state the family moved in 1870. The father had died in Missouri. After finishing the course of the common schools he took a teacher's course in the State Normal School at Mount Nebo, following which came a law course in the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville. When seventeen years of age Judge Winn was a teacher, and for three years had charge of schools in country districts prior to entering the State Normal. With a certificate from the State Normal he continued educational work for seven years. In the meantime he had come to Oklahoma, and in 1894 located at Duncan, where for two years he was in the mercantile business.

Judge Winn was admitted to the bar at Chickasha in 1896, being licensed to practice in the United States courts. A year later he began the practice of law at Center, Oklahoma, and in October of the same year received his first commission as judge of the United States Commissioners' Court. He served in that capacity until 1901, and that was the period during which he was most exposed to the dangers of the frontier and in which his prompt execution of justice brought about such important reforms in his district. In 1901 he resumed the practice of law at Ada, and during the following four years he had a large private business and was also attorney for the Frisco Railroad Company. Then came another appointment as judge of the United States Commissioners' Court, and he discharged the duties of that office until 1907. During the first three years of Oklahoma statehood he was a farmer and stock raiser at Ada, and on May 4, 1910, was appointed postmaster at Ada, and remained in charge of the Federal office until February, 1914. More than ten years of Judge Winn's life in Oklahoma has been spent in the service of the Federal Government. Since leaving the post office Judge Winn has continued in the practice of law at Ada and is enjoying a most lucrative practice.

Judge Winn has come in touch with the developing life and interests of old Indian Territory and new Oklahoma at many points. In 1893 he organized the first public school at Rush Springs, Oklahoma, taught a part of the term, but resigned later in the same year to make the un into the Cherokee Strip. He staked a piece of round in Enid, only to find later that his stakes were given into a street. He then went into the country and created a homestead, but subsequently abandoned it before proving up. While serving as commissioner his district embraced an area that was twice as large as the present County of Pontotoc. At the same time his court as held in a small box house at Center and later in a room that was owned by the late ex-Governor Byrd of the Chickasaw Nation.

Judge Winn was married at Duncan, Oklahoma, Miss Minnie L. Gibbs. They have three children: Ulysses G., Jr., who is a student in the East Central State Normal School at Ada; William L. and Ruby Thelma, both of whom are in the Ada High School. Judge Winn is a member of the Christian Church, is a past chancellor of the Knights of Pythias Lodge and also affiliates with the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. He is a member of the Pontotoc County and Oklahoma State Bar associations and of the Ada Commercial Club. In 1909 he served as deputy clerk of the United States Court at Muskogee. Both in territorial and statehood times he has been one of the leading forces in the republican party. For ten years he has been a member of the State Republican Central Committee, and in 1910 was tendered the party nomination for Congress from the Fourth Oklahoma District, but declined to accept. He still has farm and live stock interests and owns considerable property in Ada. Judge Winn organized the Union Oil & Gas Company of Ada with a capital stock of $30,000, and is still a stockholder in the organization, and was also one of the organizers of the Ada Building & Investment Company, capitalized at $25,000, and for several years was a stockholder. Having been a pioneer factor in the development of the community, Judge Winn is still an enthusiastic apostle of its welfare.

ROBERT PAINE BREWER. Now president of the First National Bank of McAlester, Mr. Brewer has been closely associated with banking affairs in old Indian Territory and the new state for almost twenty years. In fact, almost his entire life has been identified with this section of the country. He is a son of Rev. Theo. F. Brewer, who for thirty years was a missionary among the Indians of Indian Territory and has been one of the most active and best known ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, now living a pastorate at Eufaula. The interesting and full career of Reverend Doctor Brewer is sketched on other pages.

Robert Paine Brewer was born at Boonsboro, Arkansas, December 3, 1876, and when eight months old his parents came to Muskogee, Indian Territory, in which community he was reared. For his higher education he went East to the noted old Webb School at Bell-Me, Tennessee, was for two years a student in Vanderbilt University at Nashville, and in 1896 graduated Master of Arts from the Southwestern University at Georgetown, Texas. His education finished, he returned to Indian Territory, and became one of the organizers of the First National Bank of Checotah. He served as assistant cashier of its organization until 1901, and then participated in the organization of the First National Bank of Quinlan in which he became cashier. He remained with that institution until 1909, when he accepted promotion as cashier of the First National Bank of McAlester. The past six years Mr. Brewer has been actively identified with this large institution, one of the strongest in Eastern Oklahoma, and in August, 1915, was elected its president. In the meantime he became identified with the organization of other banking institutions in Oklahoma, and now holds stock and has official relations with about twenty banks in different parts of the state. Though a comparatively young man he is today regarded as one of the ablest bankers and financiers in Oklahoma.

His public spirited citizenship has been on a par with his business career. He has accepted many opportunities to work in behalf of the various communities where he has lived, and though a loyal democrat has sought no political office and in fact has had no time for the duties of such position. In Masonry he has attained the thirty-second degree of Scottish Rite, is a member of the Mystic Shrine, and is also affiliated with the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. His religious membership is in the Methodist Episcopal Church South. In 1901 Mr. Brewer married Miss Lucile Barnette, of Missouri. Their two children are Elizabeth and Robert Paine Brewer, Jr.

EDWARD SWEENEY. One of the men who made the race for land at the time of the opening of the Cherokee Strip in 1893 is Edward Sweeney, whose farm is located one mile east of the present Town of Dacoma. During the twenty years in which he has resided in this community, he has not alone developed a valuable and productive property and shown himself an intelligent and well-trained agriculturist, but has co-operated with other progressive and public-spirited citizens in advancing the interests of Woods County.

Mr. Sweeney is one of the comparatively few citizens of his part of Oklahoma for whose citizenship this commonwealth is indebted to the New England states. He was born at Bridgeport, Connecticut, July 6, 1855, and is a son of Miles and Margaret (Mahan) Sweeney. His father, a native of Ireland, emigrated to the United States at the age of twenty years, and was married in Connecticut, where, at Bridgeport, he followed his trade of mechanic until his death in 1860. He was the father of five sons and four daughters, namely: James, Ann, Patrick, Bridget, Bernard, Mary, Edward, William and Elizabeth.

The early advantages of Edward Sweeney were not numerous, nor was his education extensive, for he was only five years of age when his father died, the family was large, and the widowed mother was forced to care for her children in the best way she could and the small means she had at hand. He attended the public schools of Bridgeport at intervals, and having inherited some of his father's mechanical skill adopted that calling in his youth. When he was sixteen years of age he decided to face the world on his own account, and accordingly left home and made his way to New York City, where he secured employment, and subsequently visited various other parts of the country, accepting such positions as were given him in the line of his trade. He was married in Ohio, when twenty-four years of age, and having saved some small capital went to Marion County, Ohio, where he began his career as a farmer. After ten years in the Buckeye State, he decided there were better opportunities awaiting in the West, and accordingly went to Kansas, where he located on United States Government land in Comanche County, where he soon became recognized as a substantial and trustworthy citizen and participated in the organization of the county. Mr. Sweeney remained in Comanche County until 1893, being there a member of the first jury impaneled in the county, and at the opening of the Cherokee Strip, in the year mentioned, made the run and

MRS. ROBERT HENRY WYNN, nee Alma Sawtell

May 19, 1966

The family and friends of Mrs. Robert H. Wynn have gathered here to honor her memory, and to celebrate her release from the limitations of a worn body.

When President John Quincy Adams was aged and infirm, a college chum visited him and inquired after his health. Mr. Adams replied, without hesitation,

"Mr. Adams was never better. The house in which he lives is miserably weather-beaten and is showing signs of age and decay. The landlord is not inclined to make any further repairs on the building, so Mr. Adams is getting his effects together, preparatory to moving out."

I do not know anyone who has gotten more mileage out of a body, than Aunt Alma. --She has enjoyed its use--but now, she is through with it. We shall honor the resting place of this body, and mark it well--but we know that she will never be there, only the worn-out body.

On September 13, 1872, a precious baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sawtell, in Wheeling, West Virginia. She was named Alma. Later they moved to New Orleans--she developed into a sprightly, dynamic young woman.

The first half of her adult life, in a sense, began on October 27, 1897, when she was happily married to a promising young Methodist preacher, in Algiers, on the West Bank of New Orleans. His name was Robert Henry Wynn, the son of a Methodist circuit rider. They became one of the best-known and widely loved minister-wife teams, that this Annual Conference has known. Each brought to the combination, qualities, which the other seemed to need. They complemented each other wonderfully well. Uncle Bob was quiet, calm, and deeply spiritual. He was nicknamed "The St. John of the Conference." Aunt Alma was radiant, inspirational, bubbling, and joyful, in her religious life.

Somehow, without seeming to neglect the nurture and care of three active children, Louise, Robert, and Pauline, she threw herself enthusiastically into her husband's career. She loved the Methodist Church and she loved people, making friends wherever she went. For 34 years, she and her husband worked together, devoted to each other, to their children, and to the work of the ministry. The years flew by.

Leaving Algiers, they labored in the Irish Channel, in old New Orleans, at Louisiana Avenue Church. Then, in rapid succession, came Homer, Ruston, Minden, and Monroe. They were loved and appreciated in each place.

After a short term on the Lafayette District, he was called to be President of Centenary College. They were trying years, but they had the satisfaction of a good job well done. Preferring the pastorate, he was again appointed to Ruston, and then to the Shreveport District.

After 5 years of hard work in Lake Charles, they again came to Minden, in 1929. After one happy year, his terminal illness began. She suffered every pain, along with him, until he was relieved, on Christmas Day, in 1931.

This married half of her adult life was busy, happy, and satisfying. She was wrapped up in her husband and his career, her family, her friends, and the Church.

It often happens that when a devoted couple is broken by death, the surviving one grieves until illness or even death results. That did not happen with Aunt Alma. She was deeply affected by the loss of her beloved mate, but she did not indulge in grief. She moved into a new way of life, resolved to make the most of it.

The children insisted that she make her home with them, and she did, for 35 years. They showered love, tender care, and sincere appreciation upon her. She never lacked for a thing.

She continued to be interested in the Methodist Church, helping as she could, and encouraging the children, in their church life. But she found some other, varied interests, also connected with her Christian Faith. She took a tremendous interest, for example, in the work of Dr. E. Stanley Jones, and his Ashrams. She traveled all over the country, acting as secretary for the movement and reveling in this dynamic witness for personal and social Christian experience.

She continued to attend the General Conferences of Methodism, as she had when Uncle Bob was delegate to four of them.

At the age of 81, when most folks are content to sit around and take it easy, she went with a group of women, by bus, from Houston, to the WSCS Assembly at Milwaukee. It was a long trip, but she enjoyed every minute of it.

When she was 87, I saw her, at the General Conference in Denver. She was not going to miss a thing, if she could help it.

A friend who has known and loved her for many years, remarked that she was the "most alive person" that she had ever known.

She was convinced that the Christian religion is an aid to happier and healthier living. It certainly proved to be that, in her case.

Last December, at the age of 93, she was beginning to think that her faith had failed, because her eyesight was growing dim; I had a long talk with her about that. We are grateful that her terminal illness was so short. Her life was long, and rich, and full. We are thankful for her great faith. It helped to keep her buoyant and radiant, through many a long, tiring day.

One of her friends through the years, Dawson Bryan, told a story he heard when a boy. I think it fairly represents the Christian attitude, at a time like this.

"A little boy was playing in the sands along the seashore, building a city in the sand--his city had streets, houses, stores, banks, churches, even a school, with a wall around it. He worked all afternoon, building his city in the sand. He was so wrapped up in his job that he did not notice the sun was setting--clouds were gathering--the wind was growing chill. He was very busy--he did not notice the tide coming in, the waves mounting higher and higher--until one large wave swept in over him, washing away his city in the sand. He ran to a little cliff, nearby, alone and afraid--but he was not alone--above him, on the cliff, was his elder brother. He had seen the whole thing--he noticed his little brother's fright. He reached down--caught hold of the younger brother's hand, and pulled him to safety--arm in arm, they walked to the open door of their brightly lighted home, the home of their Father.

Often, we get so busy, playing upon the sands of time--we get wrapped up in what we are doing here, on earth--we may not notice the passing of time--that the wind is rising--the waves mounting higher and higher, until suddenly, without warning, or perhaps with warning--a deadly wave sweeps in over us--wiping out the life we have known--we may feel lonely and afraid. But we need not be--there is an Elder Brother looking on. His name is Jesus Christ--He has seen it all. He has been there, himself. He is ready to reach down, catch hold of our uplifted hands, and lift us to safety--arm in arm with Him, we turn from this scene, toward a brightly lighted Home, where the door is always open, and the Father waits, with open arms--forgetting the storm outside, we may enter that place prepared for those who love Him.

Aunt Alma's faith carried her through, all the way--we thank God for her, and for her faith. It makes the difference, between faint hope, and positive assurance--between defeat and triumph.

MESSERS. EDITORS:

COULD THE DESCENDANTS OF PETER WYNNE, OR WINNE IN MARYLAND TELL ANYTHING ABOUT THEIR RELATIONSHIP WITH PETER WINNE OR WYNNE OF NEW YORK ? HE CAME TO AMERICA FROM THE CITY OF GHENT, IN FLANDERS. HE IS BELIEVED TO BE DESCENDED FROM THE WYNNES, OF GWYDIR HOUSE, OF WALES. HE WAS HERE BEFORE 1643, FOR HIS ELDEST SON PETER WAS BAPTIZED IN THAT YEAR.

HE MARRIED FIRST AECHIE JANS, AND SECOND, TANNETJE ADAMS, HE HAD 12 CHILDREN. HE WAS VERY DISTINGUISHED IN THE COLONY OF NEW NETHERLANDS, WAS MAGISTRATE OF WILLEMSTRADT AND HONORABLE COMMISSIONER OF COLONY OF RENSELAERWYCK, ETC., ETC. ON JULY 6, 1684, HE AND HIS WIFE MADE A JOINT WILL IN WHICH THEY MENTIONED THEIR CHILDREN - PETER, ADAM, LIVENUS, FRANZ, ALETTE, KILLIAN, THOMAS, LYNTE, MARTIN JACOBUS, EVA, DANIEL, RACHEL.

HIS SON PETER WAS ALSO VERY DISTINGUISHED: WAS MEMBER OF ASSEMBLY FROM, 1737 to 1759 AND PROMINENT IN COLONIAL WARS, ETC. IF ANY INFORMATION COULD BE GIVEN IN CONNECTION WITH THE TWO FAMILIES IT WOULD BE VERY PLEASANT. winner ...

(I'm not sure but I think this Mary was Daniel's daughter.)

The wills are old time <sup>calendar</sup> counting (I believe) - before the change to Jan 1st starting the year. I have that date & seems like Mar 1 may have been the beginning of the new year. I'll come across it, if you aren't aware of it.

John, being the oldest son should have been an executor but since he died shortly after his father, I believe his health was too poor or perhaps he lived further away from George -

James Boone Wynn, son of John, got over 7,000 acres of land, in a deed I will send you. Also have the marriage agreement of John's wife Sarah to Burnell Bell about 1756, in which she names her children - Guess this James Boone got the manner plantation & right now
I can't remember if was Mary Boone son or Sarah's.

I spend more time hunting for what I have - just can't get it in order - 21. with Mrs. A. D. D. son can help me.

known. He was a journalism major & has written one book for the American Medical Association. Besides works on newspapers since he was 16 yrs old. Luckily while he was in the Korean War did the same. He works in Chicago & seems we just can't get together long enough to do anything. - He has a very active six year old son and an invalid mother-in-law - so I can't ask them to do much at present. He commutes by train twenty or more miles for a suburban area, so actually doesn't have spare time -

My old bachelor son (38) could type up things for me but doesn't have much time nor the incentive. - If I continue to get <sup>more</sup> palsied, guess I'll have to hire a secretary.

Wanted to get something off to you so you wouldn't think I'd forgotten - with company, sewer trouble and leaf raking, hardly know who I am.

The Wallaces of N.C. belong to me, through the Gairis Andrews line. The Rices, Bruces, Jenkins are rampant in N.E. N. Carolina -

James Wright Wynns, my grandfather, had a half sister who married Robert Bruce and moved to Hempstead County Ark. before 1850 -

Will say this & quit - some Parrish families were down in Georgia very early & intermarried into some of my husband's lines (not direct) -

Christine

In 1956 a descendant of Daniel sent me the following.
This proves Watkins William Wynns is the same man once living in Bertie but moved to Martin -

" This is to certify that according to the records in the Register Deeds office of the said state & County, Watkins William Wynns transacted business in said County during the years between 1771-1789 -

According to the records, in 1798 he gave his residence in the execution of deeds as of Martin County, N.C.

We give the following notation of proof that the said Watkins William Wynns lived and transacted business in Bertie County, to wit:

Register of Deeds Bertie Co. N.C.

Watkins William Wynns first deed in Martin Co was in 1786 & was for 800 acres purchased from Luke & Mary Roberson.

That land lies in the Coverello area and adjoined (~~my ancestor~~) the land on which Henry Robason (<sup>my c.w.</sup> your ancestor) lived. There is an old graveyard (back of a cornfield) with all Wynn graves. The names spelled Wynn.

This Correspondent think only in Bertie - Chowan Albemarle section did the name "Wynns" exist. However, the hand written wills I saw in Bertie Co Court House used that spelling -

One of my young Cousins who went with me, said he was proudest of all they (the Wynns) could read & write.

In George Wynns inventory he listed 65 spoons. I haven't seen it myself.

I don't believe I have the deeds mentioned. maybe a few -
I have thought I'd send for one from Morgan Outlaw to Daniel Wynns (or viceversa) in 1801 - I have most of the early ones & one wonderful Wynns desc. sent me a list of all the deeds in Bertie from the Index - I will look that up for you.

I must get this off and will continue with other wills & etc - Still have something but I keep up certain is a persistent "bug" - my 38 yr old bachelor son still has it.

Hope your New Year will turn up more exciting things the Bible Records. Wright. O. Wynns so far as I know is gone. He had the same records but they were destroyed - I do have several of the dates though - I can't find out who his first wife was - Isn't it disconcerting Daniel's mother's name was mentioned. She was supposed to have also been an Van Pelt. <sup>done</sup> <sup>Chas. Wynn's</sup>

STAMPED ON WILLIAM
WYNN'S WILL IN 1758

From State Department of Archives & History - Raleigh, N.C. Oct 31 - 1956
Photographic copy made from records in its Archives.

Will of Daniel Wynns.

In the name of God. Amen. This 23 day of Sept. In the year of our Lord Eighteen hundred and thirteen, I, Daniel Wynns of the County of Bertie in the province of North Carolina Being very sick and weak in body but of perfect mind and memory thanks be given unto God therefore calling to mind the mortality of my body and knowing that it is appointed for all men to die, do make and order this my last will and Testament, that is to say, principally, and first of all I give and Recommend my soul unto the hands of God that gave it to me, and my body I recommend to the Earth to be buried in a Decent and Christian manner at the Discretion of my Executors, nothing doubting but at the ~~final~~ Resurrection I receive the same again by the Almighty power of God, and as Touching such worldly Estate wherewith it has pleased God to bless me in this life, I give, Devise & dispose of the same in following manner & form -

In the first place I bequeath to my Beloved wife the following negroes to wit: Sampson. Jim & Frit, all my stock of sheep, all my hogs, all my cattle, one grey mare, also all my household and Kitchen furniture and farming tools of every kind, also I lend my wife ~~in~~ a certain tract of land during her natural life, beginning at the Bridge running up the road to the upper corner of my new the fence to the cart path, thence down the path to the Spring Branch, thence Branch to the <sup>(mannes)</sup> Man Swamp, thence down the Swamp to the Bridge. and also, I lend her all my cleared land that I have on the plantation, whereon I now live for five years one half to be tended each year, the fences to be returned in good order, also all the corn made on the plantation this year and all my fodder and all the rest of my crop of every kind. and also. I leave my three youngest children to be maintained out of their mother's Legacy for five years.

Secondly, I give and bequeath to my son George Wynn one negro boy named Boston, with other property he has all ready received, to him and his heirs forever.

Thirdly, I invest into my son Geo. Wynn hand two negroes names Venus and Anthony to be at his discession for the benefit of Mary Jenkins and her children, to be equally divided among her children after her decease.

Forthly, I give and bequeath to my daughter Elizabeth Barnes two negroes, Ben Norton and Lear by her paying two hundred dollars into the hand of the Executor, for negroes were valued to be over her part, to her and her heirs forever.

Fifthly, I give & bequeath to my daughter Sarah Roberson two negroes named Biddy and Dick, to her and her heirs forever.

Sixthly, I give & bequeath to my son Watkin Wm. Wynn two negroes named Frank and Peter, also one sorrell Colt, also all my tract of land joining my son George Wynn, and Ralph Outland's land - to him & his heirs forever.

Seventhly, I give and Bequeath to my daughter Peggy Wynn two negroes named Nanner & Bryant to her and her heirs forever.

John Bush - 1000 acres - 1700 [These surely are the sons of Wm " - 900 " - 1700 - Wm & Martha]

I've thought it strange John Wynn named no daughters. Rose or Martha - could some young one have died - One piece it seems John was b. 1701 - wouldn't it be awful to find this Rose Batson could have been daughter of Wm Bush & became a widow & married George Wynn - and was the father of most of the rest of the children except John??

Wm Bush had land adjoining Wm Hooker + Wm Stevenson + Wm Hooker
- Oct 13, 1722 - Test. Wm Crawford - 1717.

Wm Bush. Test - Oct 15, 1711 - Deed from Wm Hooker to Wm Bush - 1000 acres in Meherrin Neck, as per patent dated 1715 - 1716

& hurriedly jotted down a few deeds in the short time I stopped at Martin Co. Court House at Williamston -

In 1798 Watkin William Wynns deeded Daniel Wynns land (son)

In 1799 - Wm Wynns & Thomas Wynns, his son, deeded 150 ac failed to get to whom.

Watkin W. Wynns was Sheriff in 1796 (wife ann).

In 1810 - May 9 - Thomas Wynns sold 165 acres.

In 1806 Ebenezer Smithwick sold to Wm. Wynns a negro slave named Cherry for $225.<sup>00</sup>

In 1806 John Wynns sold to John Moberly - Watkin William Wynns was a witness -

In 1810 - David & Sarah Wynns bought 41 $\frac{1}{2}$  acres - David was a soldier in War 1812 from Martin Co.

In 1833 Thomas Wynns sold to Bennett - (now I find two daup. married Bennetts -)

In 1809 Thomas Wynns sold for $1833<sup>00</sup> 3 shillings & 4 pence, 21 4 acres (more or less)

In 1817 Henry Wynns sold to Samuel Wynns land (war 1812 soldier)

William Moberly to granddaughter Elizabeth Wynns land Sept. 1822

(Suppose John Wynns married a Moberly or Moberly?)

Daniel Wynns bought land in Martin Co 1818 - (our Daniel was dead) so this may be Daniel Jr. or some named son for a brother)

Watkin William Wynns paid 150 pds for 250 acres in Martin Co -

In 1803<sup>Sept 27</sup> Watkin William Wynns gave his son William Ward land.

The town of Everett is near Martin Co Courthouse.

I sat down one day to try to trace this genealogy as far back as it went. I never in the world thought anyone would be seeing this scribbly chart, but I haven't time to recopy it. I hope you can read it. I got all of the information on from the genealogy by the unknown author and could not find anywhere on Mr. Atnips charts where the two Wynne brothers fit in, however, his chart seems to be very sketchy to me and I'd bet that an ~~awful~~ awful lot of people are left out of it. I hope that you will be able to figure out where these two brothers fit into the tree.

Yes, I will be happy to join your Wynne Ass. As you can see by the enclosed Pedigree Charts/<sup>page 49</sup>my one and only Wynn to date is Margaret Meredydd Wynn born about 1530. With a name like that she must have been important enough to have some ancestors which I do hope you will be able to help me locate. I have many family group sheets on the other members of the family.
These I obtained at the Salt Lake Gen. Soc. but I am not sending any of them at this time because I did not know if you need them.

to secure the same, along with other information. It is hoped that everyone will send in what ever information he or she may find on the Wynne Family on Matter Spelling of the Name of Wynne or Where they came from. By collecting information of all kinds on the Family we will be able to help more people seeking information. So if you should have any additional information please send it in to us. Thank you for being so patient with us during the year. If I am slow in answering letters or writing to you and the other members it is because I am very busy putting the information sent in into family groups. .

We hope to put out a newsletter starting this year coming. If you have any ideas , please

Dear Mr. Landrum,

I have some information which I am sure will be of interest to you. I can send more at a later date.

Dr. Frank Rickey's address is : 1247 Stanford Ave., Baton Rouge, La. 70808.

Rev. John Franklin Wynn was born in Athens, Alabama on February 10, 1836. His father was John Henry Irby Wynn (born in Dinwiddie County, Virginia in 1797 and died in 1854. He was referred to as "Captain Jack". In 1821, he married Frances Martha Brownley. She was born in Petersburg, Virginia in 1804 and died in 1852. Rev. John F. Wynn married Miss Paulina Gorton on Dec. 25, 1862 in Waterproof, La. All during the ceremony, the booming of the guns at Vicksburg could be heard.

I have a long write-up of the Wynn, Gwynne family which I will try to copy for you.

In 1938, a Wynn Family History was available in manuscript form for $2.00 at the Media Research Bureau, 1110 F Street, Washington, D. C. I don't know whether this is still available. If you find out, let me know.

Thanks ever so much for the copy of Aunt Alma's funeral eulogy and the records from your family bible.

Sincerely,

Gentlemen:

For genealogical purposes I am trying to trace my family back to Dr. Thomas Wynn, who I am told was physician to William Penn and came over with him on the WELCOMF. Would you, by any chance, have any information on this or on any of the later Wynnes? Somewhere in the mid-1800's my great-grandfather changed the spelling to Winn but my father later changed it back again. Except for the doctor's only son, Johnathan, I believe the oldest son was always named Thomas until my father who was named Coleman (born 1888).

Any information with which you can provide me will be gratefully appreciated.

Sincerely,

Dear Mrs. Dennison:

We are sorry that we do not have the staff to research all the information on Thomas Wynne who founded Wynnfield, Wyncote and Wynmoor, 3 Philadelphia suburban communities.

There have been numerous books on William Penn which contain references to Dr. Thomas Wynn but no genealogy of the family.

We suggest that you contact your local Friends Meeting House. They should have, or be able to direct you to the information you desire.

I'm sorry it has been 3 mos. since your wonderful letter and records of the Wynne & Payne family bible and I'm just now answering. I was very excited about the information you sent but at the time it arrived I had guests from Tenn. come visit me for a month. Then a few days after they left we went on a vacation for another month. As soon as we got back I broke my right arm and it hasn't healed completely yet. Dear Cousin Bob,

I have read with great interest the charts you sent me on my ancestors, and will add to my charts by your kind help. I have typed off my charts to you, for I am sure you will want to add to your material and make corrections, also.

Of course, you know Dr. Thomas Wynn's line goes back to Charlemagne, and King Edward I, King John, and French Kings and Queens as well. This I have documented in The "Magna Carta" by Wurts. It is a little difficult but I have figured out the lines and hope to add them to my 3rd edition of my book, "My German, Pilgrim, and Quaker ancestors." That is when this 2d edition runs out.

I am the official Doane Family Association Historian and have life membership there, of course, and am official Columbia County Genealogist (here in Pa.), plus my DAR, DAC, War of 1812, and a Daughter of the Pilgrims, and my genealogy magazine, which I publish 4 times a year, so I am afraid I can't afford to join the Wynne association, (Unless you'd accept 4 issues of my magazine each year with an ad for the Wynne Association in it as membership.) You can think of that and if you like send me your ad. (Try not to make it more than a half page, please).

I am swamped with mail and have too much to do, as usual, but do make it to church Sundays, which somehow has left the American public for some reason. I try to think of the old ways (although I am only 35) and do not approve of much of the modern thinking nor views of the ancestors as not being Christians. I do not know what you think of me by now, but whatever it is, I appreciate what you sent me, and will enclose these charts for you to keep, not to publish in a book, however, and will send you a sample of my June magazine to keep and review. I think you will find the charts and the magazine of interest.

Best wishes,

Cousin Mary Lontz

who descend from this line of Minor Winn.

I am enclosing an Application to join the Association . If you should like to do such dues are $ 5.00 per year. The purpose of The Wynne Association is to gather all the information that we can gather on the Wynne Family no matter the spelling or where they may have come from. All the information gathered is indexed into one large central file also put into proper family branches such as: Col. Robert Wynne Branch to Va. 1656 Dr. Thomas Wynne Branch to Penn. 1670 -- Capt. Thomas Wynne to Maryland 1620 -- Owen Wynne to Va. in 1611 and so on , Edmond Winne to Mass , Peiter Winne to New York and so on. I shall also enclose a letter of welcome , so that you may get an idea of the purpose of the Association. We have gathered a great deal of information both in the U.S. and Wales and England on the Wynne Family.

We are putting out our first Newsletter this year, It is now being put together, so we will be able to keep all the members informed.

It is my hope that you will share with us what ever information you may have on the Wynne family, So we might index it into our central file to further help others. It is also my hope that you will join our Wynne Family And Kinsmen Association. Hope I have helped you in some way. I remain,

Dear Mr. Landrum,

Thank you for your reply to my letter of Dec. 30, last, regarding Thomas Winn/Wynne of Lunenburg Co., Va.

I have very little on this family, and cannot determine who the parents were of Thomas. The only thing I have been able to find out is that his wife was Joyce Ferguson, a daughter of Joel. I presume Thomas and Joyce were married in Lunenburg Co., since Joel Ferguson was living in that county as early as 1766.

In your letter you suggested that Thomas may be connected with the Daniel, Joseph, Alexander and Benjamin Winn family which connects with Thomas Winn (1626-1692) of St.Mary Co., Md.

This information offers to first glimmer of hope at trying to untangle all the Lunenburg Co. Winns in an effort to properly place Thomas.

I would appreciate any help you might have to offer on this line. I would also like to correspond with others who may be a descendant of this branch.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Landrum,

Jefferson Hotel

Room 599

I have received and read with much interest your kind letter of Nov 27th, as president of the Wynne Family and Kinsmen Association. You may be interested to hear that this is the first letter I have received commenting on my article about the family in the Virginia Magazine and that it seems to have served some useful purpose is extremely satisfying. So far as I know I am not a member of this distinguished family and esteem it an honor to be accepted as an honorary member of the Association.

of any importance
Unfortunately I have nothing to add to the information I published. I find the following in my RELIQUES OF THE RIVES (J.P. Bell, Lynchburg, Va., 1929): p. 426: Robt Wynne was paid 4s. 8d. from the estate of Timothy Rives according to an inventory presented to the Surry co. Va. court 15th Dec 1716. Page 430: A Robt Wynne was vestryman Albemarle Parish, Surry, on March 19, 1740. Page 647: Henrietta Edith Wynne, daughter of John and Elizabeth Rives, of Sussex co. Va., married Alden Benjamin Christopher Rives of Prince George co. Va. A son Wm Francis Rives, b. Nov 24, 1858, m. Feb 3, 1892, Mary Temple and lived in Sussex co. Va. but left no issue nor did his two sisters Vienna and Henrietta.

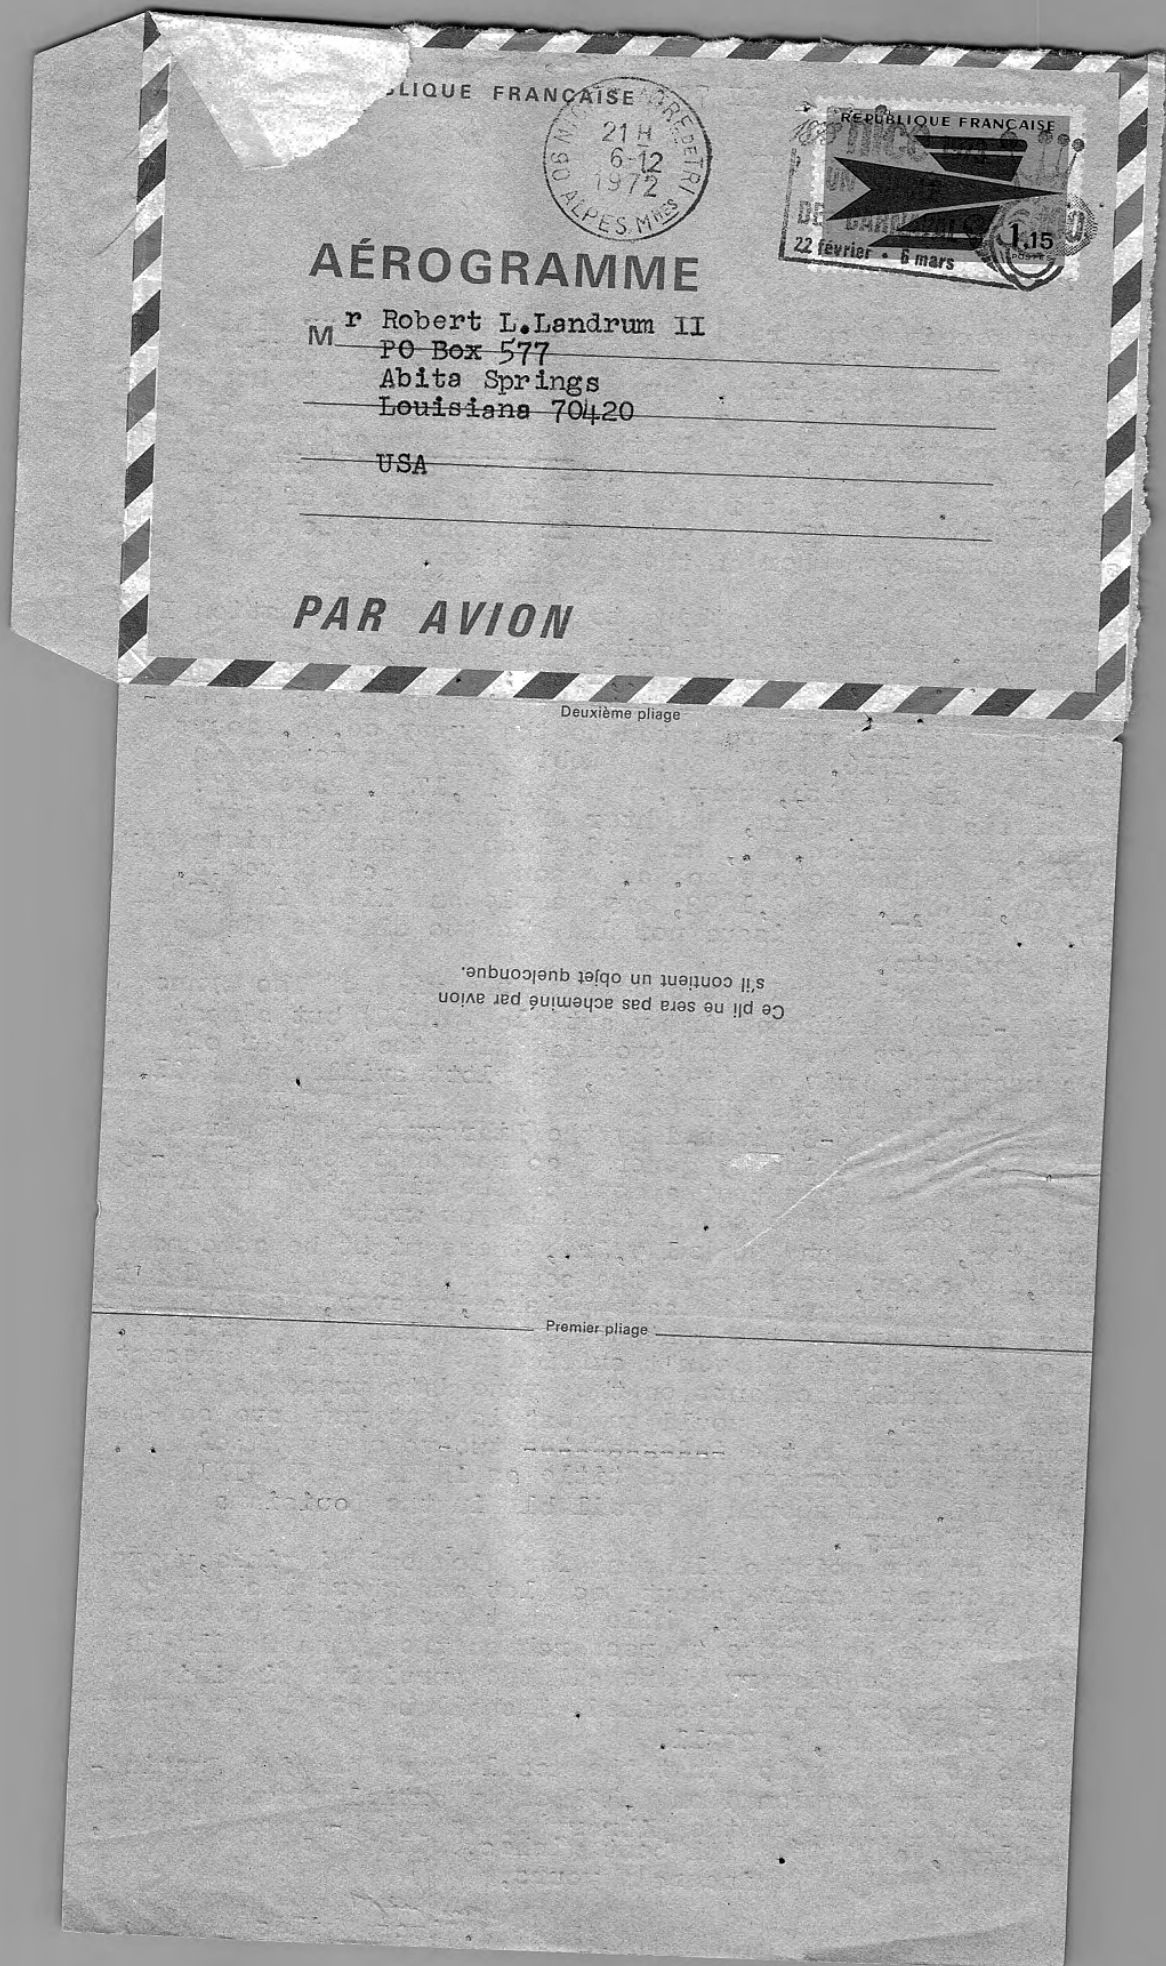

I wish I could send you a copy of the will of The Wynne (1604-1644) mentioned in my article (p. 432) but almost all my papers have been deposited with the Curator of Manuscripts, Univ of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va 22901. In referring to the GUIDE TO THE JAMES RIVES CHILDREN PAPERS (No 9256-B) issued by the Library of the Univ of Va. Box 27 contains my general correspondence for 1959-65 and it is possible that a copy of the will might be found in this correspondence. Perhaps if you wrote the Curator, Mr Edmund Berkeley, Jr., there might be someone who, for a fee, would make the search. Personally I don't feel that much would be accomplished, however, as you have a summary of the contents of the will in my article. I am afraid that I haven't sufficient material to present any worthwhile comments on the Wynne data presented in my letter. What I would suggest is that you have someone consult WYNNE in the index-of-the two-volume work of E.G. Wynn which bears some such title as INDEX TO VIRGINIA MATERIAL. This should be available in the Louisiana State Library.

I am on the point of leaving for Richmond Virginia, where I am due to arrive about Dec 21st and where I shall be for about six months. While I am there I might have some spare time to devote to research on the Wynne family in the Va State Library where all the surviving Virginia country records are deposited. I shall be at the Jefferson Hotel, Richmond, Va 23211.

I forgot to mention that the mss letters of ~~Wynne~~ Justini-enne Wynne mentioned on p. 431 of my article have been presented by me to the Library of Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, Va 23005. With best wishes, believe me

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Landrum;

Your name and address were given to me by Dr. Paul Gray of Corpus Christi. I am a Wynne descendant and have traced my line to William Wynne of Wake Co NC. It is my hope that you will have information as to his ancestry.

My great grandmother, Tabitha Green Wynne b: NC 1820 d: Tn 1879 m: ca 1839 probably in Shelby Co Tn to William Anderson Cothran b: NC 1812 d: Tn 1879. Both are buried in the Robinson Graveyard near Mason Tipton Co Tn.

Tabitha was the eldest child of Peter D. Wynne b: 1791(Wake Co NC?) d: Shelby Co Tn 1859. His wife Mary Ann (Persons?) b: 1800 d: 1840. Both are buried in a small family plot near Millington Shelby Co Tn.

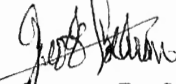

Peter D. was a son of William Wynne of Wake Co NC b: d: ca 1830 in Wake Co. His wife's name was Rebecca. We suspect he might have descended from Joshua Wynne 1660-1715, 3rd son of Col Robert Wynne of Virginia.

I would appreciate any information you may have. For exchange I have a long list of descendants of William Anderson Cothran and Tabitha Green Wynne.

Re: The Wynne Family & Kinsmen Association

Dear Mr. Landrum:

Mr. Marvin Winn of this city, a friend and cousin (doubtless), gave me a photocopy of your 18 January 1971 letter to Mrs. Janie Winn Larsson of Gilmer, Texas.

My grandfather, Alfred Washington Winn, came to Polk County, Florida with two brothers from Laurens, South Carolina before 1888 (since my father was born in Polk County in that year).

Though I have little other information to offer at this moment, I have long been interested in the family history and believe I will be able to supply you with information in the future.

Can you advise the cost of membership in your association, and consider me a member thereof?

With kindest regards, I am

Sincerely,

N. Alfred Winn

Dear Mr. Landrum:

Your letter of April 17, 1971, said you could use any Wynne information.

The enclosed sheet, tells what research I have found.
Have more of John Wynn ancestors if you are interested

Would appreciate it if you can find in your records that my research is correct. Hope someone has sent my William Hailey and Olive Wynn for your records. If so would appreciate having them. Thank you.

Happy New Year,

Dear Robert Landrum, II

I am sending you the Bible records as I copied them. I am also sending an ancestor chart. Hope you will be able to help me. I am not sure about Lyddal Bacon Estes and Nancy Winn. I find they were married in Madison, Ala. and lived in Tenn. I cannot find the names of their children mentioned. Benjamin Henderson Estes brothers and sisters are Lucretia (Creasy) Married — Derrybury, Martha A. b. about 1820 Married — Swain, Lyddal Bacon married E. Carolyn G., Jack and Wash. If you know if Lyddal and Nancy Estes are Benjamin Henderson Estes parents. I would appreciate hearing, also any further information I don't know if you would want any information on the Decendants of Benjamin Henderson Estes decendants, who would also be decendants of Nancy Winn if they tie in. It is quite a lot.

Sincerely

Dear Mr. Landrum,

I saw your ad in the March GH and although the Wynne spelling is not in agreement with my Wynn, it is well worth a try to see if you can help. I have:

Jasper P. Wynn, b. 21-Jen-1845 in Laurens Co., SC. Don't know yet who his parents were, but his father was suppose to be one of three brothers who settle in SC from Wales. I'm told he change the spelling of the family name to WYNN from WINN. However, he may have just dropped the "e".

He had brothers named Charlie, Thompson, Wash, and F. Marion. It is believed that F.M. was living in Union Co., Tenn. in 1915. Jasper married Carline Vinyard b. March 1851, probably in Miss. She gave him two sons, Dee & Vernon and died about 1883. Jasper had 3 wives after her, and one gave him 3 daughters: Sally, Etta, Maggie.

Family legend claims Jasper was brought up in "southern sytle" on a successful plantation in SC. He ran away from home in 1863 to Miss. to join the 12th Miss. Calvery. His home was burned to the ground during the war and he did not return there when the war ended.

He spent a while in Miss., Tenn., Ark., Texas (Sherman, Grayson Co.,) Lexington, Percell Co., Ok and finally died 1932 in Blanchard, McClain Co., Oklahoma. He may have had some relatives living near Sherman & Paris, Texas.

If you have any information on a Wynne family in Laurens Co., Sc. it would really be a step-a giant one-for me. Even without a Wynn with your spelling, would it be much help for me if I joined your Association? I'm short of "searching dollars" and have found membership in some family asso. are the most rewarding dollars spent.

I will be looking foward to your reply. Any help will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Jerry B. Pace

Dear Miss Landrum,

I thank you so much for your reply to my letter. Some one had given me your name thinking there might be a possibility you had data on that family.

I would be so happy to send you any information I have but it was all on the sheet I sent. I did get my father's cousin to go before a Notary and sign a paper with names of all the children of James Harris Swain and wife Anna Elizabeth Winn. She is Miss Gertrude Frazier and granddaughter of James and Louisa Swain. They lived in Abbeville Co. S.C. in 1848 and 1850 but were in Kemper Co. Miss in 1852. Ann Elizabeth Winn's parents b. Va. but I don't know where nor who.

I presume becoming a member means providing proof of kinship which I cannot prove at this time -

Their oldest son was named Robert Daniel Swain. Robert from the Swains and we thought Daniel from the Wynn family but do not have any proof of it. They seemed to have gone to Tenn. early before 1800 - and from Va. over to Miss. about 1851 from Abbeville, S.C.

Best Wishes for most profitable results in your research.

Martha Ann Swain m. Wm. Thomas Lancaster 1873 Lauderdale Co. Miss. (my grandparents) They with 6 of their 8 children moved to Texas 1884 when my father was 3 yrs. old. Moving so far away from the family they did not have access to Family Bible for family records and now I am searching every where and have not found their family
yet. The librarian suggested writing to others searching these lines. I do have some notes which I'd gladly pass on to any one.

Wm. Sumter is listed as being born in "Abbeville"
S.C. so I presume my grand mother Martha was too as she was next child. Then soon after her birth the family moved to Miss. as the next child was said to have been born Kemper Co. Miss. so it was sometime between 1850-1852 that they moved.

If you have S.C. or Va. data I could use it or would be happy to have it or be happy to have any information.

Ann Elizabeth Winn died 1903 just 10 yrs or 12 before compulsory death records - so that is out. I was never able to find them in 1850 census of S.C. tho they must have been there as my grand mother was said to have been born there. Her parents to Va.

Any help would be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Mrs F & Hawkins

Dear Mr. Landrum

Mr. Robert Wynne of this city called me tonight and left me your address as a

I was most happy to receive her call, as I have no Winn correspondents whatever, and unfortunately very little Winn

My Winn connection is Drucilla

Joel Heggins was born 1748 in Caroline Co. Va, the son of W<sup>m</sup> Heggins (Jr) and his 2nd wife Nancy Buchanan.

Joel & Drucilla moved to Ky in 1783 with the most of the rest of the Heggins family, settling about 1788 in Fayette Co. Ky.

Drucilla died before her husband who died in 1807. Joel & Drucilla and I have given most of the info that I have about them.

In my notes I find the Wynn and related family data that I have enclosed. The only other data

I have it on the Heggins family.

Mrs Wynne of Houston spoke of your efforts to connect the Winn and Wynne families, and I hope the little information enclosed will be of some aid in your research.

If you can help me in my be most appreciated.

Dear Mr. Landrum,

Your query was very much appreciated even though my own research and commitments with these and other lines has prevented my answering sooner.

Since you were asking about both the Landrum and Winn/Wynn lines, I will answer you separately on the lines.

I have given up hope on connecting any of my lines with the Winn/Wynns as my information is so old and records do not bear out any direct connection.

My connection with the Winns is limited to the marriage of Richard Bearden, b. ca 1717 Caroline County, Virginia, d. ca 1797, Spartanburg, County, S. C. Richard Bearden m. Lettice Winn, daughter of Minor Winn and wife Margaret O'conner Winn, probably Caroline County, Virginia, ca 1740.

Issue: Lettice, b. ca 1740, m. John Gowen Edmund/ Edward, b. ca 1742, m. Ann _____--..
John, Jr., b. ca 1744, m. Nancy Langston Isaac, b. ca 1746, m. Sarah _____.
Benjamin, b. ca 1748, m. Molly Harris?
William, b. ca 1750 _____.
Thomas, b. ca 1752 _____.
* Richard, b. ca 1754, _____.
Winn, b. ca 1760 _____.
Mourning, b. ca 1763, m. William Smith, Major, Rev. Soldier South Carolina.

The above John Bearden, Sr. had a brother, Richard, b. Caroline County, Virginia, ca 1719. According to our best efforts on the Bearden line, my descent came from one of these two men. None of this is proven and my earliest known Bearden relative was my GGG Grandfather Richard Bearden, b. ca 1750-1760, married somewhere in North Carolina. Place and name of wife yet unknown. This Richard Bearden is found in Wilkes County, Georgia as early as 1785 and in Clarke County, Georgia by 1802, where he bought 150 acres of land. He, Richard made Clarke County his home until his death in 1831. From Richard on down I have reasonable proof of descent through wills, marriages, etc. A grandson of this Richard, my Great grandfather, was named William Winn Bearden. Though I have no proof, I still believe my line is connected with the Winns. There is no record, however, of a connection between my Landrums and the winns, and no indication there ever was such a connection.

Now for the Landrums from which I descend:

The claim by all researchers is that most if not all Landrums in America descended from two brothers, James and John Landrum, who were living in Rappahannock County (later Essex as of 1791), Virginia in the late seventeenth century.

The oldest records, yet located, pertaining to the brothers, John and James Landrum, is a deed dated 8 December 1686, and recorded in old Rappahannock County, Virginia, records. This deed conveys to John Landrum 160 acres of land "South of the Rappahannock River, on the southeast side of Occupacia Run". John Landrum, sold this land by deed dated 4 February 1695, and signed by John Landrum and wife, ~~Jane~~ Landrum. John Landrum died in 1707-8 and his will was probated in Essex (part of old Rappahannock) County, Virginia, on 10 May 1708. This will named the following children:

Thomas, b. ca 1685, m. Mark, dau of Capt. John Hawkins.
Elizabeth, b. ca 1687, m. Buckenham or Boikemhead Brown.
John, Jr., b. ca 1690, m. Mary_____.
Martha, b. ca 1695., no further record.

In Essex County, Virginia, dated 11 January 1693, is the will of "Martin Johnson. Tthis will was entered for probate in September 1694 and named legatees: "to my grandson-in-law, John Evans, and to my loving friend Jane Landrum, now wife of John Landrum" "To these two equally to have and to hold, he willed his reals estate".

By reasons of this will, some researchers have decided that the wife of John Landrum, Sr. was "Jane Johnson". I am of the school that says that if she were his daughter, the will would not have read "Loving Friend".

The earliest record of James Landrum, the brother, is when he signed Martin Johnson's will as a witness when it was made on 11 January 1693. "Quit Rents" rolls of Essex County, Virginia, for the year 1704, lists both John and James Landrum as property holders. James Landrum, married Mary Browne(sic), daughter of William and Elizabeth Browne of Essex County, Virginia, in Essex County, Virginia, in 1696. James Landrum's will was probated in Essex County on 18 December 1739. The will of Mary Brown Landrum was probated in Essex County, on 21 May 1754. The Will of James named wife and the following children.

Margaret - married _____ Pitts.
Mary: Married _____ Atkinson.
William: Married _____.
Elizabeth: Married _____ Evans.
Winifred: Married Frances Ramsey (Which is male is doubtful).
Sarah: Married _____ Boulware.
Samuel: Married Elizabeth _____.
James, Jr.: Married Rachel Ramsey?
Patrick: Married Esther _____.
Dorcas: Married Thomas Swelliphen in 1745.

Of John Landrum, Sr's children, John, Jr. is located in old Orange County, North Carolina in 1754. He had seven sons, John III, Thomas, Reuben, Joseph, Charles, Benjamin and Samuel B.. With John, Jr in North Carolina was found all of his sons with the exception of Thomas, who is identified as remaining in Virginia.

So far as can be determined, Thomas, son of John, Sr. and born John, Sr.'s girls remained in Virginia. All of the Children of James and Mary Brown Landrum remained in Virginia. Our research has been centered primarily on John, Jr. and his descendants, but we do have quite a bit on the others garnered in research and correspondence with others.

It is known that some of the Other Landrums, other than John, Jr. and his six sons, left Virginia for the Carolinas, North and South, before the Revolutionary War. Some of these returned their families to be with kin in Virginia while they fought, and some families remained in both N. and S. Carolina. It wasn't until after the Revolutionary War, when soldiers were given lands in other states in lieu of full payment for their military service, that the real Landrum exodus from Virginia began. Our research has definitely located a few that migrated to Kentucky and Tennessee, also to the Carolinas, Georgia and other southern states. However, as yet we have not determined who was the first migrant to Ohio, although it is known that some did go west by this route.

I have an extra copy where I have attempted to indicate my particular line, beginning with John Landrum, the first. I am enclosing it so you can see that I yet have a long way to go to locate and identify even the Virginia-~~Georgia~~ Carolina- Georgia, etc. line.

I am also sending a few addresses of persons working on either the Landrum or Winn lines, and in one case both:

Dear Bert:

When I last talked with at the Red Ball terminal in New Orleans, La. I told you that I would send to you the information of my branch of the LANDRUM, Family. To see if we can at all connect to one another. You said that you would talk to your Mother to see if your Branch of the Family had an old Family Bible with the Names & Dates of Birth, Deaths and also marriages in it.

Well this is what information I have.

My Great Grandfather was Robert L. Landrum, born Jan. 8, 1835, in Ohio. It is said that his dad came from Virginia. He married Nancy Huff ~~and they had several children~~ their children are.

Mary Landrum, born April 26, 1868

John Landrum, born Sept. 24, 1871

Anna Bell Landrum, born Aug. 8, 1873

Febe Jane Landrum, born Oct. 1, 1875

Perry Tilden Landrum, born Dec. 19, 1877

Frank Landrum, born Jan. 16, 1879

James Landrum, born Aug. 18, 1881

Melinda Landrum, born Oct. 3, 1882 All born in Ohio. my Great Aunts Anna & Febe are the only ones living. My Grandfather was Perry Tilden Landrum.

Their are Landrum Families in Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi, Georgia, Ohio and Virginia but how they connect to one another is what I'm trying to find out. The LANDRUM'S came to Virginia back in the late 1600 's and early 1700's from Ireland & England. Well I guess I'll close for now. Hope to hear from you soon. Try and get what information you can and send it to me. I would be greatful for what ever information you can come up with on the Landrum, Family. I beg to remain,

MRS. MILLARD H. WEIDINGER
R. D. 3—WILMINGTON ROAD
WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, OHIO 43160

January 30, 1970

Mr. Robert L. Landrum II
6416 Pontchartrain Blvd.
New Orleans, Louisiana 70124

Dear Sir:

Thank you for your letter of January 25th asking about research at the courthouse here in Fayette County, Ohio. I am a native of Fayette County, having lived here all my life, belonging to two of Fayette Counties earliest families. I was taught how to research court house records back in 1929 by a very learned attorney by whom I was employed at that time as stenographer. I am a past State Officer of the Ohio Society Daughters of the American Revolution and of the Ohio Society United States Daughters of 1812. I have also been a chapter officer of both societies including the Colonial Dames of the 17th Century. Like many courthouses we had a fire which destroyed many of the early records back in the 1800's. I have been told however that the deed records are the most intact. One never knows until you look just what you will find. Our death records start about 1876.

The names you asked about are not too familiar. Jefferson Township was a big township with fertile land. Jeffersonville, village is the largest in the township. Bookwalter (originally Buchwalter) is a very small place. There is a possibility that since Bookwalter is very near the Madison County line, that your records might lie there. Again we cannot tell until we look.

This has been a terrific winter here with ice and snow from about December 5th until this week. I haven't been out of the house due to hazardous driving only when my husband takes me. However, it did serve to get some income tax work done earlier than usual. It did throw me behind in my genealogical work at courthouses however. I have a nice library in my home and what I could do from here was fine. What I am trying to say is that if you wish me to do your searching for you, it will probably be March or April before I can get to it depending largely on the weather. I have several ahead of you and I do not do any hurry-up or slipshod work. My fee is $1.00 per hour or $2.00 typewritten page. Any certifications of any courthouse record you might wish would have to be paid by you. I document my information, in other words state the source from which obtained. Sometimes people wish copies of a certain document certified.

If you wish me to undertake your work, write me all the information you have on your family, and state how much you wish to expend on research. Have you checked any Fayette County Histories? Census records? These are most helpful including a court house search. Thanks again for writing me.

Sincerely,
Millard H. Weidinger

Dear Mr. Landrum:

Well, the Augustine Landrum who was in the proper age bracket in census of Jackson Co., O. to be father of your Smith Landrum, sold his lands in Jackson Co., O. and was in Ross county, O. at the time one deed gives his residence. So I found no proof of Augustine's heirs in Jackson Co.

It could be Ross Co., O. would census records, deeds, and maybe some probate court record if Augustine died and left an estate in Ross County, O.

(I am not trying to stretch out your search, but it would appear Ross County ought to be searched for Landrum records.) You may prefer to write to the court house in Chillicothe yourself, for any records they have on this surname and Augustine in particular. Or I can do it for you if at some time you wish me to. The sketch I sent earlier on a Ross Co., O. Landrum branch, stated the Landrums had come to Ohio from Greenbrier Co., Va. Have you tried to locate any info in that area of Virginia?

The real find in Jackson Co., O. was the death record of Robert's mother, Catharine Landrum, stating she was born in Culpeper, Va. Now if you could just find a Smith Landrum marriage to a Catharine _____ in Culpeper court house. I have access to a good library on Va. records if you wish me to check compilations.

There are a number of clues in the enclosed deeds as to areas in which Landrums lived -- Mark, for instance, at one time in Scioto Co., O. And after you have digested the enclosed I shall be glad to have your opinions. And thank you for your check of $61.80 covering search, mileage and enclosures.

Dear Mrs. Reynolds:

I received your name and address from Mr. Bernard Landrum, of Columbus Georgia. I too am working on LANDRUM'S of OHIO. Plus WYNNE ( WINN ) I'am president of the WYNNE FAMILY AND KINSMEN ASSOCIATION.

Back to LANDRUM'S -- As I was told by my Great Aunt who just passed away in December 1970 at the age of 97 years. She had this information written down on a loose page in her things. This is what was written as follows :

" The Landrums were from around Jackson, Ohio. most of them are burried their. Grandmother to me on ( Anna Belle Landrum ) on Mothers side James BROWN & Ann HUFF Brother to Grandmother BROWN was Adam HUFF wife Sarah HUFF , children : Mary , Sarah, Hattie Joseph. ----- Sister of Ann HUFF , Melinda HUFF married WOODS children Newt.

My Father & Mother and my Brother & Sisters.

Robert LANDRUM born January 8, 1835 died Nov. 15, 1895 married Nancy HUFF born ? died March 19, 1884 Fayette County, Ohio.

Children:

Mary LANDRUM -- Born April 26, 1868 died Nov. 24, 1955

John Landrum -- born Sept. 24, 1871 died Dec. 4, 1945

Smith Adam LANDRUM -- Born February 25, 1870 died March 7, 1967

Myself Anna Belle LANDRUM -- Born August 8, 1873 ( She just Died December 1, 1970 )

Febe Jane LANDRUM -- Born Oct 1, 1875 ( still living )

Perry Tilden LANDRUM -- Born December 19, 1877 married July 8, 1911 to Iula Oakley WYNN

My Grandfather & Grandmother ) died February 23, 1921, Van Wert, Ohio

Frank LANDRUM -- Born January 16, 1879 died Oct. 29, 1945

James LANDRUM -- Born Aug. 18, 1881 died July 2, 1947

Melinda LANDRUM -- Born Oct. 3, 1882 died Oct. 18, 1960

This is all the information she had written down. I did not know about the Jackson Ohio information before this. As it was after my Grandfather died my Grandmother moved back to Louisiana with her people. And she remarried , lost all contact with the LANDRUM Family back in Ohio. My Father was 3 yrs old then. I found them Just a few ywars ago , after my Grandmothers death, from some old letters and papers. Funny how these things happen to a family. With the help of a cousin in Milwaukee, Wisc.

I would like to work on this LANDRUM LINE with you, Maybe we can get together a LANDRUM FAMILY ASSOCIATION. As we have on the WYNNE Family, I have been working on the WYNNE Family since I was 18 years old I am now 29 yrs. I descend from Col. Robert Wynne of Virginia.

Hope to hear from you soon , on both the Landrum & Wynne Families, with all good wishes,
I am

Dear Mr. Hough:

In reading the March 1973 issue of The Genealogical Helper, I came across your add stating that you were interested in information on the HUFF, HOUGH Family. Also your add for your Book .

You will find my check enclosed # 121 in the amount of $ 10.00 (Ten dollars and no cents) to cover the cost of the Book . As I would like a copy for my Library.

My connection to the HUFF Family is as follows:::

My Great Grandmother Nancy HUFF, born in Ohio married Robert L. Landrum on May 1, 1870 at Fayette County Ohio. She died March 14, 1884 at Jeffersenville Ohio, Fayette County. and She was the Daughter of Joseph HUFF & Mary ( ? last name not known at this time ) The 1880 Census of ~~JACKSONVILLE~~ says that Nancy HUFF's Father Joseph was born in Penn. and her Mother was born in Va. . The 1870 Census Fayette Co. Ohio Madison Township # 73 page 488 states the Joseph HUFF age 68 born Pa. a farmer and wife Mary age 54 born Va. ... Living next door to Joseph HUFF is a Benjamin HUFF age 25 born in Ohio, wife Mary age 20 born in Ohio and their child Charles age 4/12 born in Ohio. ----- NOTE ----- the X out line above should also read Fayette CO. Ohio in regard to the 1880 census.

This is the extent of my Huff research at this time, only wish I had more to share with you. Hope this helps you in some way. I also hope your book will help me. But if it should not, it won't be a loss for I will use it in my Genealogical Library. Hope to hear from you soon,

Sincerely,

Robert L. Landrum, II

Dear Relatives;

I am interested in the Wynn Family and appreciate you asked me to be a member of your association at the present time. I cannot infect in it as I am a "Senior Citizen".

The enclosed sheet gives you what little I have on my lineage and will gladly share any or all of it with you.

My lineage of Hartwell and Olive Hailey is proved. Would appreciate your help of who "Olive Wynn" parents are.

I am just an Amateur at this profession and have located some interesting people.

Happy to be of service to you. Will answer questions

Sincerely,

Dear Mrs. Beane: RE: WINN -WYNN

Thank you so much for answering my query relative to the Winn Family. I do not have anything on the names you have given to me- but it is possible I do have a little clue for you.

Am I correct that your grandparents are buried in Haynesville, La.? That is what I made it out to be "Hanesville"- If so, it is possible I can give you a lead. In my research in Claiborne Parish on my own gr.gr. grandfather and family who had moved from Ga. and settled at Haynesville in 1847, Genubath Winn. He died in 1863 and is buried in Old Town Cemetery, Haynesville, as well as many of his descendants. He was a Methodist Minister. In my research on the Winn Family there I found this which could be your family. The Beenes- as they now spell their names- were of that area- some of them now live in Shreveport- made a lot of money in oil in Claiborne Parish.

I found the following Wynn's- our name was formerly Wynn- but has been spelled Winn for several generations- Original Wynns settled in Maryland- thence to Lunenburg Co. Va., and my Rev. Soldier, Thomas Winn, grandfather of G. Winn, settled in Abbeville Dist. S.C. oldest son, Abner Winn settled in Tuscaloosa Co. Ala., my 3rd gr grandfather, where he died in the 1830's have his will and Bible Records, etc.

Back to Claiborne Parish, Homer, parish seat: I found following land transactions: JONES WYNN=R. M. Beene, Bk. D, xpg. 92: Folio- pg. 405.

I hope from the above you will find a lead, if so, let me know. I understand that there were other Winn's there not related to my Winns.

Best wishes to you in your research,

Sincerely,

MRS. W. W. MCDONALD, JR.

SAMUEL JONES CASSELS, a pioneer Georgia poet. In 1808 the Rev. Samuel Jones Cassels published Providence and Other Poems. CASSELL was born in Liberty Co. Ga., the son of Elias & Sarah Cassels. His mother was Sarah Jones, daughter of Samuel and Rebecca Jones, and a sister of Alfred Iverson's mother. Rebecca Jones was the daughter of Wm. Baker, Sr., whose descendants are listed in James Stacy's History of the Midway Congregational Church. Cassels maternal ancestors came from Dorchester, Mass., to Dorchester, S.C., thence to Ga. His father was a South Carolinian, a descendant of the Huguenots.

Cassels was graduated from Franklin College of the University of Athens in Aug. 6, 1828. In December he married MARY ELIZA WINN, daughter of JOHN and ELIZA WINN and the great granddaughter of the Rev. John Osgood, the first minister of Midway Church.

Cassels was ordained in Augusta Feb. 17, 1829, and called to the Church in Washington, Wilkes Co. Ga., in Oct. 1831, moving there January 1832. While here he published a theological treatise- entitled "Lectures on Paldo-baptism".

In 1836 he received a call to the Presbyterian Church in Macon- moving there in 1837. Cassels years in Macon were marked by the death of his 22 month old son, W. B. Cassels in 1837, and the death of his wife, Mary Eliza Winn on Oct. 20, 1838.

In 1841 he removed to Norfolk, Va., he died June 15, 1853, funeral was held in Savannah and body was taken to Midway Cemetery for burial. The children of Samuel Jones Cassels and Mary Eliza Winn Cassels are listed in Stacy, "History and Records of Midway Church, 340 Liberty Co. Ga., but the child W. B. Cassels is not included. Savannah Daily Morning News June 16, 25, 1853, carried a funeral invitation.

Dear Bob - No, I haven't given up genealogy work, nor have I forgotten about sending you the material I mentioned before. So far this summer has really been hectic for us because of my father being first in the hospital and then, recuperating with us. It hasn't left much time for anything else including golf.

Paul's mother got the name and address of H. Renford Winn, Paul's first cousin who lives in Dallas and has recently become interested in family history. I wrote him and had a delightful letter by return mail. He doesn't have any knowledge of the earlier generations (except what I sent him) but he filled in quite a bit of information on his father's generation and the family of his grandmother - Sarah Matilda Tatum who married Willis Marvin Winn. These pages I am copying for you. So far, this is the only material I have come across anywhere on the Tatums. I am also sending you my pages which show the material I received from Bernice Kaines. Some of this I'm sure you have - but check the dates because she corrected some material relating to her branch that she found to be in error in the material of Mrs. C. M. Winn.

Now, I've got a couple of questions to ask you.

1. What is the source or authority for the information you gave me on the generations of Capt. John Winn + Elizabeth Minor + Minnie Winn + Ann Byrd Winn? Are there any records of this era still in existence? I have never <sup>seen</sup> any except Vickers - Compendium of American Genealogy that mentions these generations, and I've been told that is not a very accurate source. (Renford Winn is curious about this too + I'll relay your reply to him)

2. You gave me the birth date of Capt. John Winn as 1610 Westmoreland Co. Va. Since we have the date as 1611 that Sir Owen Winn came to Virginia, wouldn't his son John either have been born in Wales or a bit later in Virginia?
3. You gave me the date of Rosamond Hampton Winn's birth as August 17, 1758. I think you meant it to be the date she married William Winn after his first wife died. It certainly would fit into the rest of the birth dates better that way and would save their children from being born "out of wedlock". Maybe her birthday was Aug. 17, 1737 ???

More later.

I was delighted to find that the chart done by Renford Winn in pencil would reproduce on the Xerox machine. As you can tell from the printing he's an engineer and architect.

Do hope ~~to~~ this files in some things for you! How were the reunions you were going to? Please do send us your new address - I hate risking things to the New Orleans post office any more than necessary.

Sincerely
Carol Winn

I will check those people in the Mormon Library as soon as I get a chance to get back up there.

Possible error in dates:

1. Birth of Capt. John Wynne (Winn). You give it as 1610 in Westmoreland Co. Va. His father, Owen was only 18 in 1610 and didn't come to Virginia until 1611. (I have his birth as 1627 in Westmoreland Co. according to Kirkus' Compendium of Amer. Genes.)
2. Rosamund Hampton. You have her birth as Aug 17, 1758. I have her as marrying Wm. Winn in 1757 approx. and their son John born 1758 (same book as above)
3. You have William as the 9th child of William Winn and Rosamund Hampton. I have him as born before 1775 in Winstboro, S. Carolina. married before 1798 to Elizabeth (Byrd) Ford. Served as Capt. in War of 1811. (same as above)

Another place where your information varies from mine both from Miss Kanes + other sources. You have listed as children of Minor Winn II + Margaret O'Connor a Thomas + a Lettice. I have never seen them mentioned except in one paragraph in the Evans material in So. Lineages. He mentioned the claim (unproved) that Lettice was the daughter of Minor II + Margaret O'Connor. No mention of Thomas. I am curious as to what is accurate here. Could you clear it up at all? What is your source? I have it that there were 5 sons in the family Minor III, John, Richard, William, + James + they all served in the Revolutionary War.

Gentlemen:

It has been suggested to me that I write you to see what help you may be able to offer me in trying to trace my ancestors. My immigrant ancestor was Dr. Thomas Wynne who supposedly came over with William Penn on the Welcome. I have been able to find out quite a bit about him but not much from there on down the line. There is a book called The Genealogy of the Wynne Family by T. B. Deem which I have been trying to locate with no success. Would you have any ideas where I might find this? Any suggestions which you might have would be very gratefully appreciated.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Dear Miss Weikel,

Thank you so much for the photostatic material which you sent me on the Wynne family from COLONIAL AND REVOLUTIONARY FAMILIES OF PENNSYLVANIA, Vol. 3. I guess I misjudged what the charge would be and only sent my check for $1.30. Consequently I am enclosing 206 in stamps to make up the difference. I hope this will be acceptable.

There are several other books which I have not been able to get hold of so I am taking the liberty of asking you if you have any of them. As I list them I shall also list the pages I have been told I would be interested in so that you may go ahead and photostat them and bill me accordingly. They are:

COLONIAL FAMILIES OF PHILADELPHIA by James
W. Jordan P. 618

WELSH FOUNDERS OF PENNSYLVANIA by Thomas
Allen Glenn - Oxford 1911 Pp. 98-107

THE PHILADELPHIA FRIEND Vol. 27 P. 228
ANNALS AND ANTIQUITIES OF THE COUNTY
FAMILIES OF WALES P. 712

Do you think you could get a student desirous of picking up some extra money to copy the information on your genealogy card files ~~for the names Wynn, Wynn and Wynn~~ in that way I could rule out that which I already have, that which I have access to in nearby libraries and then get a researcher to look into the rest of it for me.

Thank you so much for all your trouble.

Dear Miss Weikel,

Thank you so much for your prompt reply to my recent inquiry and for the photocopied material which you sent me. Enclosed you will find my check in the amount of $1.00 therefor. You mentioned that there were numerous references to the name Wynn and Wynne but I think we should also look into the spelling of Winn. Is there any possibility that these card files could be photocopied? In your letter, you mentioned you were enclosing an announcement concerning the extent of your services and a list of professional genealogists. Only the list of genealogists arrived. Would you, therefore, be good enough to send me the announcement about the services which you offer?

Thank you so much.

Almost everyone that I have corresponded with and those I have had meeting with re Genealogy are most profound and energetic

All this is fine.

But most letters contain too many subjects well mixed and therefore not easily responded to. I have one letter from a Cousin of another line who wrote 48

Suggestion # 1

If everyone would print, important items, like, dates, place names, sources of information, etc
it would be much easier.
for all.

Suggestion # 2

Everyone who knows
of a book, manuscript, should inform Association.

Possibly Mrs A. Davis could tell you more about the parentage of your

I like this family group sheet because it covers most of the genealogy needed for a family.

However, genealogy by itself soon becomes dull, like all statistics except Genealogy & history. go hand-in-hand. <sup>(bank balance)</sup>

History, records of achievement, (dail sentences) etc. tend to illuminate, and make things more enlightening and interesting.

Dear Mr. Landrum,

Jan 10 1971

The only information I have on Wynn is that my ancestors, Thomas Withers and Elizabeth Williams Withers, of Stafford and Fauquier Co., Virginia, had two daughters who married Wynn. They were Elizabeth Withers, who m. Capt. Minor Winn on Oct. 17, 1766, and Hannah Withers, who m. Dr. James Winn on March 3, 1767.

As these were only collateral lines of mine, I did no research on them. I know one little interesting fact about Elizabeth and Capt. Minor Winn. They were grandparents of Gen. Stonewall

Elizabeth Withers Winn —

Daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth Withers, married in Fauquier Co., Va. in Oct. 1766 (marriage bond date Oct. 17, 1766) to Minor Winn, the son of Minor Winn of Fauquier Co., who was born in 1730.
He served during the Revolution as a Captain in the army. Later he moved with his family to Loudoun Co., Va., where he died in 1813. The date of Elizabeth's death is not known. Her daughter, Margaret Winn, married Thomas Neale in Loudoun Co. on Feb. 29, 1798 and had a daughter, Julia Neale, who in 1818 m.
Jonathan Jackson (1790-1826). Their son was Thos.
Jonathan Jackson (1824-1863), better known as Gen.
Stonewall Jackson.

Hannah Withers Winn —

Daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth Withers, married in Fauquier Co., Va., in March, 1767 (marriage bond date Mar. 3, 1767) to James Winn, the son of Minor Winn of Fauquier Co., Va.

Thomas Withers gave his daughter, Hannah Winn, land in Kentucky in 1792, and she settled here with her large family near what is now Louisville, Ky.

Donahoe
Know anything about Donahoes?

Copied from A Topographical Dictionary of Wales, Vol. II, 2nd Edition, by Samuel Lewis, London, 1840.

RUABON (RHIW-ABON), a parish, in the union of Wrexham, hundred of Bromfield, county of Denbigh, North Wales, 5 miles (s.w. by s.) from Wrexham; containing 8353 inhabitants. This place, which derives its name from its situation on the small river Avon, is distinguished in the Welsh annals on account of a fierce and obstinately contested battle fought in the vicinity, between the forces under Owain Cyveiliog, Prince of Powys, and the English, in which the former obtained a decisive victory. In commemoration of this event, the Welsh prince, who was eminent both as a warrior and a poet, composed a beautiful poem, called Hirlas Owain, or "the drinking horn of Owain", of which an elegant translation by the Rev. Richard Williams is preserved in Pennant's Tour in North Wales. The parish is situated in a picturesque part of the county, within three miles of the great Holyhead road, and is bounded on the south by the river Dee. The village, which is of considerable size, and of prepossessing appearance, is situated on the road from Owestry to Wrexham and Chester, and seems to have been indebted for its original prosperity to the noble mansion of Wynnstay, in the immediate vicinity, and for its present importance chiefly to the extensive mines of iron-stone and coal which abound, particularly in the southern and western parts of the parish. The extensive park of Wynnstay is entered from it by a plain but handsome gateway of modern erection, opening into a straight avenue, nearly a mile in length, composed of lofty trees of ancient growth, in which venerable oaks, stately elms, beeches and chestnuts are intermingled, and at the extremity of which is the mansion, the hospitable residence of Sir Watkin Williams Wynn, Bart., beautifully situated on a fine and extensive lawn, having a noble artificial sheet of water in front, reflecting from its surface the foliage of some majestic trees near its margin. This spacious mansion, which has been erected at different periods and in various styles of architecture, though wanting unity in its design, is notwithstanding a stately pile of building, possessing, from its extent and substantial elevation, a striking character of simple and unostentatious grandeur. The older portion of the building contains domestic offices and general apartments for the accommodation of the household. On the wall of a tower within the court of this portion of house are the following Latin verses, allusive to the name of Wynnstay: "Cui domus est victusque deceses, et patria dulcis, sunt satis haec vitae, caetera cura labor. Struxit Johannes Wynn, Miles et baronettus, A.D. 1706". The more modern part of the building, erected by the first Sir Watkin, and enlarged and modernized by the present baronet, is a handsome substantial structure: the interior comprises several noble apartments, embellished with some excellent family portraits by Sir Joshua Reynolds and some of the best masters, two full-length paintings of Charles II. and his Queen, and several other paintings of merit. Adjoining the house is a small handsome building, originally erected as a theatre, in which, during the festival of Christmas, dramatic performances were exhibited for the amusement of the nobility and gentry of the surrounding country, guests of the hospitable proprietor. The park, which is twelve miles in circumference, is enriched with fine timber, and comprehends much variety and beauty of scenery: there are handsome lodges or entrances into it from various parts of the surrounding district; and a new drive, leading to the house from the lodge recently built on the London road, has added greatly not only to the convenience of access, but to the embellishment of the grounds on the south side. At a short distance from the hall is the cold bath, near which stands a handsome fluted column, erected after a design by the late Mr. James Wyatt, to the memory of the late Sir Watkin Williams Wynn, Bart., by his mother: the shaft of the column, which is one hundred feet high, rests upon a square pedestal, sixteen feet high, ornamented on the faces with festooned wreaths of oak leaves, and at the angles, with eagles finely molded in bronze; the capital is surmounted by an entablature supporting a circular platform, surrounded with an iron balustrade, to which there is an ascent from within the column by a flight of spiral steps, and having in the centre a circular pedestal, twelve feet high, on which is placed a massive vase of bronze, enriched with goats' heads. Over the door leading to the ascent there is a tablet bearing the following inscription: "To the memory of Sir Watkin Williams Wynn, Bart., who died the 29th day of July, MDCCLXXXIX., this column was erected by his affectionate mother, Frances Williams Wynn," and on the north-east side, in letters of copper, is the inscription "Filio optimo, Mater Eheu Superstes." Near this column is a fine sheet of water, bounded by Wat's Dyke, which here intersected the part, and from which the mansion originally derived the name of Wattstay, changed by Sir John Wynn to ~~it~~ its present appellation. The dyke, which entered the park near its northern boundary, has been levelled in its course through the grounds but is traced again on the south side, near Penylan, and crosses the river Dee at its junction with the Ceiriog. By the late improvements, part of Offa's Dyke is now within the limits of the park, which it enters at the second lodge from Ruabon, and leaves again near the Waterloo Tower. Near the south-western extremith of the woods there is a cenotaph, erected by Sir W. Williams Wynn, Bart., from a design by Sir Jeffrey Wyatville to the memory of his brother officers and soldiers who were slain during the rebellion in Ireland in 1798: it stands on an eminence overlooking a deep ravine, called Nant y Bele, "the dingle of the marten," through which the river Dee urges its rapid course, along a narrow channel richly fringed with impending woods: from this building there is a most extensive and magnificent prospect, embracing a vast extent of the counties of Carnarvon, Denbigh, Flint, Chester, and Salop, Chirk Castle and its noble park, and the whole of the beautiful vale of Llangollen, including the stupendous aqueduct of Pont y Cyssylltau, and the majestic and elevated ruins of Castell Dinas Bran, with the fine range of mountains in the distance.

This parish comprises an important part of the Denbighshire coal tract, of which the principal seam of coal is here nine feet thick. Its mineral wealth in coal and iron-ore, particularly in the southern and western parts of it, has caused the establishment of numerous works, which till the year 1830 were in full operation, and extensive mines have been opened; so that a great part of the parish is now occupied by pits, charcoal hearths, and mineral works of various kinds, and is intersected in different directions by rail-roads. At Acrevair, within its limits, there are a very extensive iron-foundry and colliery, belonging to the British Iron Company, in which three hundred men were constantly employed. There are also numerous blast furnaces and forges in other parts of the parish, for the manufacture of iron, and at the Cevn, a large straggling village on the northern bank of the Dee, near a bridge over that river, called Newbridge, is a large establishment in which are mills for rolling, hoop and sheet iron: there are also considerable coal-works, and a manufactory for coarse earthenware, in this part of the parish. The Ellesmere canal, after passing over the Pont y Cyssylltau aqueduct, terminates in this parish: there is also a branch canal from the aqueduct, on the north bank of the river Dee, which passes by Trevor and Llangollen, and terminates at Llantysilio, where it receives from the Dee a supply of water for the whole line of the canal. It is in contemplation to construct a rail-road to proceed directly from the Ellesmere canal to Chester, and to be continued thence to Liverpool; a railway, three miles and a quarter in length, already extends from the aqueduct through an extensive coal-field to Ruabon brook. Fairs are held on the last Friday in February, May 22nd, and November 20th; and a post-office has been established in the village.

The living is a vicarage, rated in the king's books at £13.6.0½, and endowed with a portion of the great tithes, consisting of one-fourth part of the tithe of corn throughout the whole parish, and the whole of the tithe of hay in several of the hamlets within its limits: present income £568; patron, Bishop of St. Asaph; improPRIETORS of the rest of the rectorial tithes, Sir Watkin Williams Wynn, Bart., and others. The church, dedicated to St. Mary, is a spacious and venerable structure, containing some splendid monuments to the family of Wynn: the most ancient is one to the memory of Johannes ab Ellis Eyton, who joined the party of the Earl of Richmond, afterwards Henry VII, and, in reward for his eminent services, received from that monarch an extensive grant of lands in this part of the principality. In the same sepulchral chapel, on the south side of the chancel, are the monuments of Henry Wynn, Esq., tenth son of Sir John Wynn of Gwydir, ancestor of the present family: on this monument he is represented in a standing posture, and on one side is a kneeling figure of Sir John Wynn, and on the other side of his wife Jane, daughter of Eyton Evans, by whom the Wynnstay estate was obtained. On the opposite side of the altar there is a beautiful monument, by Rysbrach, to the first Sir Watkin Williams Wynn, who was killed by a fall from his horse, in 1749: his effigy, in a graceful attitude, is finely sculptured, and his various virtues are recorded in an elegant Latin eulogium, written by Dr. King, of St. Mary's Hall, Oxford. There is also a fine monument, by Nollekins, to Lady Henrietta, first wife of the second Sir Watkin, who died only a few weeks after her marriage, in 1769: on the pedestal is an exquisitely sculptured figure of Hope, reclining on an urn, and on one side is an inscription enclosed within a serpent having the tail in its mouth, emblematical of eternity. The church was thoroughly repaired, in 1772, at the expense of the late Sir Watkin, who presented an organ, and also, on the baptism of his eldest son, the present baronet, an elegant font of white marble, supported by a tripod of beautiful design. There are places of worship for General and Particular Baptists, Independents, and Primitive and Wesleyen Methodists.

The Rev. John Robinson, vicar of this parish, in 1703, bequeathed the shole of his estate, in the hamlet of Moreton, to his successors in the vicarage, in trust to receive out of the rents L12 per annum for preaching a sermon every Sunday afternoon in the parish church, and to appropriate the remainder to the support of a free school, to be open to all children of the parish, and under the care of a master approved by the vicar: he also gave lands in the parish of Wrexham to the vicars, in trust, to pay sixpence per week to nine poor people of this parish, and one of the parish of Erbistock, with a gown or coat to each every Christmas, and also to clothe six ~~poor~~ children from six to twelve years of age: and by a codicil to his will as they are traced either northward or southward, so as shortly to leave an interval of several miles. Various vegetable impressions, and a great variety of petrifications are found in the mines, and also near the river Dee, in the southern portion of the parish. The Rev. Peter Roberts, A.M., M.P.S., the learned editor of the Collegium Cambriae, and author of the "Early History of the Cymry, or Ancient Britons", and other works, resided in this parish. The total expenditure of the parochial rates for the year ending March 25th, 1837, amounted to L1693, of which L1459 was for the relief of the poor, L227 towards county rates, and L7 for incidental charges.

he gave a house and garden, and L50 in money towards the erection of almshouses for ten poor people, which he directed to be built near the church. The endowment of the school was augmented by Ellis Lloyd, in 1711, who bequeathed L200 for the support of the master, and for apprenticing poor boys: the school-room, which adjoins the churchyard, contains 70 boys, 30 of whom are educated by aid of the endowment, which amounts to L17 per annum, and the rest are paid for by their parents. There are also three other day schools, one of which, containing 40 girls, is endowed by Lady Harriet W. Wynn; another contains about 60 children, of whom 10 are paid for by an annual donation of L10, and the rest by their parents; and in the other about 20 are instructed wholly at their parents' expense. Five Sunday schools are supported by subscription; in one are about 80 males and females, who attend the Established Church; and in the other four, appertaining to various denominations of dissenters, are about 380. The Rev. Richard Davies, vicar of the parish, in 1740, bequeathed an estate in the Vale of Clwyd for the erection and endowment of eight almshouses for so many poor men and women: the almshouses are now eighteen in number and the inmates receive a weekly allowance of three shillings each. There are also four almshouses at Nant y Gwallia, in this parish, erected in 1782, by Mrs. Rowland, of Plas Binnion, who vested the nomination of the almspeople in her heirs. Numerous other charitable donations and bequests have been at various times and by different benefactors made to the poor of the parish, amounting to more than L2000, of which a part has been vested in the purchase of estates, and the whole produces a very considerable annual income, which is regularly distributed among the poor. Offa's Dyke and Wat's Dyke both intersect the parish, and in their courses approach within a quarter of a mile of each other, near the village, but diverge

Taken from History of Hertford (& Bertie) County - by Judge B.B. Wintour
We find Captain George Wynns a representative from Bertie County in the Colonial Assembly in 1731-32 and again in 1734.

John Wynns <sup>(son of George)</sup> represented Bertie in 1746 - The eastern Counties began to rebel against Governor Johnson - He wanted to deprive them of their proper representation - In 1746, John Wynns was the only member of Bertie Co. who appeared. The Governor issued his mandates that the members must attend the sessions and represent the free holders but they defied the commands. The next time we find Bertie & other indignant Counties being represented in full was 1754.

Benjamin Wynns <sup>(son of George)</sup> was one of the Representatives from Bertie from 1754 to 1759 - William Wynns <sup>(son of George)</sup> was elected justice of the Peace in 1759, he was cut off into the new County of Hertford. Benjamin Wynns, clerk of the Court was also cut off. He represented Hertford County in the General assembly from 1764 to 1774 - Benjamin Wynns, Jr., was a member of the Assembly in 1772-1774.

George Wynns <sup>(must be George, Jr. son of George)</sup> was a member of the assembly in 1775. Benjamin Wynns lived where the town of Winton is now located. He was a man of great wealth, long experience, as a public officer and legislator. Mr. Wynns in 1754 introduced a bill to locate and incorporate a town on his land at Barfields. That failed and ten years later while a member from the new County of Hertford he, in 1764 introduced a bill to establish a town on his land where the town of Winton is now located - Bill passed in 1768 and he donated one hundred & fifty acres of land for the town which was named Winton in his honor.

Benjamin Wynns was appointed one of the Commissioners in to act to have the town land off the estate named, lots numbered and a map made of the town. Fifty acres were set apart for the town commons. This was the first incorporated town in the County, & stood alone in its glory for twenty years. It soon became the center & mecca of Hartford dignitaries. Benjamin Wynns owned all the land and river front from Folly Branch to Harris Mill Race, besides other large bodies of land in the County.

Benjamin Wynns was the first Clerk of the Court in the County from 1760 to 1764. John. A. Wynns of Winton was very probably the son of Benjamin Jr. I don't think so. I think he was John Augustus Wynns.

Benjamin Wynns & John Wynns were men of prominence in Bertie as far back as 1735. They were deputy surveyors under the surveyors General of the Crown in 1744. Their depositions were taken in behalf of the Crown to prove charges of corruption against Governor Johnston for violating the land grant laws.

The offices held by Benjamin & John Wynns were of great importance in those days & only worthy & efficient men were selected to fill them. Both of them were free holders & on the jury list of Bertie as in 1740. John Wynns was deputy Clerk in the Court of that County, in 1741, aged 39. (Colonial Records vol IV. p 1117)

George Wynns who was still older was prominent in Bertie as far back as 1719. George Wynns was a member of the grand jury, July 28, 1719. In 1723 he was a witness in a land suit tried in Court at Ahoskie. (now in Hartford Co. C.W.)

April 9, 1724, George Wynns was appointed justice of the Peace for Bertie - He was Clerk of the County Court and in 1728 is mentioned in Colonial records as a Captain in Militia. He represented Bertie after the Lord proprietors surrendered their Charter rights to the Crown in the Assembly of the Providence from 1731 to 1736.

William Wynns was a Justice of the Peace in Bertie six years prior to the foundation of Hertford and also, Justice.

George Wynns Jr. <sup>(Son of George W.)</sup> was made a Major in the Colonial Militia in 1764 and entered the Colonial Army in 1777.

In 1780 he was captured by the British and carried to London held prisoner until the close of the war. (Think the ship was Fair America <sup>Peter built this. CW.</sup>) He returned to Hertford County and was a member from his County in the Convention of the state in 1788 to consider the ratification of the U.S. Constitution.

Benjamin, John, William & George Jr. who was major in 1764 must have been sons of George Wynns Sr. (Ge Benjamin Wynns son of George, was public Register from 1760-1764 - Clerk of Court from 1764 to 1772 and a member of Assembly in 1773 & 1774.

We do not find John Wynns mentioned in public life after 1746 - (I believe he must have gotten in poor health and here, as he was oldest son, I'm sure his father would have had him an administrator)

Peter Wynns in Assembly 1769-70 - after this date we lose him - (one was in Tyrrell Co. I've always been happy we descended from the Peter Wynns <sup>Wynn</sup> who died at Jamestown, Va.)

Benjamin Wynns Jr. left four sons, Benjamin, William, George & Thomas, the youngest & was born in 1758 or 1759.

According to the notice of his death in the Raleigh Register in 1825.
is a given, being about sixty-six years old.

James Dean & William. B. Wynns - (Wm. Baker, I think C. W.)

The U.S. Census of 1790 shows<sup>at that time</sup> John A. Wynns, Matthew Wynns, Major George Wynns, General Thomas Wynns, William Wynns were living in this County and were heads of families. The others had died previous to that date, except Benjamin Wynns<sup>III</sup>.

The Wynns family were among the oldest & most prominent in those days. The official record of the County indicates how they were regarded by their fellow citizens.

The name is printed in various ways in old Colonial records - we find it spelled Wynn, Wynn, Wynne but the old members ~~spelt~~ it Wynns as shown in their signatures on their wills - The name is spelled in the Charter of Virginia in 1609 Wynne<sup>(See entry Wynns CW)</sup> - Captain Thomas Wynns, Captain Peter Wynns<sup>PETER</sup>, Captain Edmond Wynne are there mentioned in the list of grantees in the Charter from King Charles II. (I believe they sympathized with his side. CW) of this illustrious family Colonel James M. Wynns, of Murfreesboro was the last of the older set to pass on. He Uncle Benjamin Wynns has descendants living in Florida

An Aunt of Mrs. James D. Wynns married Dr. J. B. Wynns of Mobile, Alabama

During the colonial times the assembly selected a list of persons in each County qualified for jury service and only free holders were accepted - In 1740 we find

Benjamin Wynn, a jurymen. In 1766, there were in Hertford 393 white men over eighteen years, capable of bearing arms.
In 1772 Colonel Benjamin Wynn made a report at general meeting of Hertford Regulars of Militia. Benjamin Wynn Sr, Col.
Benjamin Wynn Jr, Ensign, George Wynn Sr. Lt. Lt. George
Wynn was sent as a delegate to convention at Hillsboro, August 21-1775. Colonial Records - vol 10 - p. 164. Officers appointed by this congress, Colonel Benjamin Wynn, Colonel Thomas Wynn, Major George Wynn during earlier days of war.

Colonel Benjamin Wynn of Hertford Co. was in command of the Continental troops at Norfolk, Va and there met Governor <sup>Dunmore</sup> Dunmore, former British Governor of Virginia, who was in command of British troops.

Col. Wynn succeeded in driving Dunmore back in a speedy retreat. Col. Wynn was met with great rejoicing among the people and regarded with unbounded praise by Americans along route.

While the war was raging ~~the~~ N.C. kept its <sup>legislative</sup> legislative branch of government. William Wynn was one from Hertford in 1779.

Major George Wynn & General Thomas Wynn were two delegates of Hertford who met at Hillsboro July 21-1788 to consider the Bill of Rights & Constitution drawn for the American states to adopt & ratify.

The convention refused to adopt the Constitution. The state in 1779 called another convention to meet at Fayetteville on Nov. 2 to again consider whether N.C. would join Union.

Colonel Thomas Wynn was a delegate. Thomas Wynn member of House of Commons - 1787 & convention 1789. He began his protracted service as State Senator - Th. Co. to L.

The Raleigh Registry in 1825 speaks of him as a splendid & noble character. He was urged to run for Governor but declined - member of electoral college in 1809, voted for James Madison.

James D. Wynn served in the House in 1821 - leading justice of the Peace - one of the justices of special court of County for several years prior to moving to Bertie Co.

(Copied from Wintommes Book by O. P. Roberson (now deceased).

Queen Anne's Creek at Edenton July 23. 1719.

The Americanized Encyclopedia Britannica has it that Gen. Thos. Wey was taken prisoner in Rev. War & carried to London but its a mistake! General was never prisoner. It was George Weyman Jr. - at the close of the war he was returned to his native Co. of Hartford.

George Wynn + wife Rose, conveyed 150 acres of land on the Wynn Creek to John Early July 14 - 1714 -

George P. Wynn Gets Parole Recommendation

McALESTER (Special) — A Wagoner County convict who beat a woman to death with the stock of a rifle received his sixth parole recommendation in five years Sunday.

George P. Wynn, 53, is serving life for the 1960 murder of Luvena Sanders of Wagoner.

"We got into a little argument over $20, and I killed her," he explained. Wynn would work at an Ada brickyard if released.

Meeting Sunday at Oklahoma State Penitentiary, the board recommended 83 paroles and one commutation, and denied three paroles.

Christmas will come December 14, in addition to December 25, for 193 prison inmates.

The board released its annual list of Christmas commutations Sunday, allowing prisoners due to be released by February 28 to be freed December 14 so they can spend the holidays with their families.

Before the men and women are released, Governor David Hall must approve and sign the commutations. Not all of the inmates will be released; some will just begin serving new sentences for other convictions.

Of the total, 87 inmates are at the McAlester prison, 29 at the Granite Reformatory, 37 at the Lexington center, 18 at the Oklahoma City pre-release center and 12 at the Lawton pre-release center.

Police Notes

Lionell L. Hopper, 625 Spaulding, told City Police that a $500 hunting dog had been stolen from his home. He said the four-year-old male was taken and not his other dog.

Answer

Information from you gives the birth of your Green Wynnne 1 Jan 1766.
His father John Wynnne was probably born 21-40 yrs before or c 1726-1745.

I have a chart prepared many years ago by a daughter of Mr T B Deem - publisher in 1901 of the "Wynnne Genealogy". Your John was most probably 3rd or 4th Gen - that is Dr Thos. A. JONATHAN<sup>2</sup> (the only son) who m Sarah Greedy (or Graves?) - who had sons Thomas<sup>3</sup>

It has been found that the most effective way to prevent the spread of disease is by the use of disinfectants. The following are the most commonly used disinfectants:

- 1. Chlorine
- 2. Iodine
- 3. Quaternary Ammonium Compounds
- 4. Phenols
- 5. Alcohols
- 6. Formaldehyde
- 7. Glutaraldehyde
- 8. Hydrogen Peroxide
- 9. Sodium Hypochlorite
- 10. Potassium Permanganate

The choice of disinfectant depends on the type of surface being disinfected, the type of microorganism being killed, and the concentration of the disinfectant. It is important to follow the instructions for use of each disinfectant carefully to ensure effective disinfection.

Dear Sir;

In doing genealogical research, I have just read the Welsh Settlement of Pennsylvania by Charles N. Browning. According to this book, there are early land records of the original Chester County. For the township of Madaw there is supposedly a grantee record of 250 acres which were granted to Dr. Thomas Wynne in 1684. As Madaw is now in your county, I am writing you to ask if it would be possible to get a copy of this grant. For your convenience in answering this inquiry, I am enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Thank you so very much.

Gentlemen:

In doing genealogical research, I have been told that you have all the original land grants recorded in your office. According to Charles H. Downing's The "Welsh Settlement in Pennsylvania, there is a record of 250 acres in Radnor, PA which are granted to Dr. Thomas Wynn on May 29, 1684. Could it be possible for me to get a copy of this grant record?

For your convenience in answering this request, am enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Thank you so very much.

Dear Mrs. Dennison:

In response to your letter of November 12, 1974, a search of our records has disclosed several documents on file pertinent to a Thomas Wynne. These are as follows:

- (1) A letter dated May 19, 1684 signed by Thomas Wynne.
- (2) A warrant for City Lot in Philadelphia, dated November 15, 1683.
- (3) A list of land granted or surveyed to Thomas Wynne.
- (4) A warrant for 600 acres in Philadelphia County.

Certified photocopies of these documents are available at the statutory fee of $1.50 each, payable to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

It has been a pleasure to serve you, and we at this office are looking forward to being of continued service at some later date.

Sincerely yours,

Mrs. R. F. Dennison

The Historical Society of Pennsylvania is a privately endowed institution with limited financial resources and a small staff. Increasing use of our research library has made it necessary to utilize this form letter to answer mail inquiries. We can, however, provide better service if you are able to visit the Society. Our library is open to anyone of high school age or older on Monday from 1 P.M. to 9 P.M.; Tuesday through Friday from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. There is a $1.00 per day fee for nonmembers.

The information or material you requested:

1. _____ is not available in our library.
2. _____ could not be located after making a search of standard references or the Society's special research files.
3. _____ may be available but would require extensive research which unfortunately we are unable to do.
4. _____ is available for your use here at the Society but cannot be supplied by mail. Our books do not circulate.
5. _____ a list of genealogical researchers is enclosed.
6. _____ may be obtained from commercial dealers. Addresses of such firms can usually be found in the classified telephone directory or from your local library.
7. _____ should be available from public or school libraries in your area or from your state historical library.
8. _____ is enclosed.
9. ☒ Attached are pages 104-108 of volume 25 of PMHB.

We have both of the other Wynne genealogies you mentioned. We could Xerox the Cook, 1904, for $5.50 including postage. The other is much too long for Xerox; we can provide a negative microfilm of it for $18.00 inc. postage.

Dear Mr. Roth,

Thank you so much for the xeroxed copy of The Ancestry of Dr. Thomas Wynne which you recently sent me. I was very pleased with it. You mentioned that you could microfilm The Genealogy of the Wynne Family by T. D. Deem but as I do not have a microfilm reader, it doesn't seem worthwhile for me to have it one. Would there be any chance of me borrowing it on interlibrary loan? I am so anxious to see this book and have tried very hard to locate it.
You are the only ones, so far, that have a copy.
I will be most anxiously awaiting your reply.

Sincerely,

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Founded 1824

1300 Locust Street • Philadelphia, Pa. 19107

Mrs. Darthea W. Dennison

The Historical Society of Pennsylvania is a privately endowed institution with limited financial resources and a small staff. Increasing use of our research library has made it necessary to utilize this form letter to answer mail inquiries. We can, however, provide better service if you are able to visit the Society. Our library is open to anyone of high school age or older on Monday from 1 P.M. to 9 P.M.; Tuesday through Friday from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. There is a $1.00 per day fee for nonmembers.

The information or material you requested:

1. _____ is not available in our library.
2. _____ could not be located after making a search of standard references or the Society's special research files.
3. _____ may be available but would require extensive research which unfortunately we are unable to do.
4. _____ is available for your use here at the Society but cannot be supplied by mail. Our books do not circulate.
5. _____ a list of genealogical researchers is enclosed.
6. _____ may be obtained from commercial dealers. Addresses of such firms can usually be found in the classified telephone directory or from your local library.
7. _____ should be available from public or school libraries in your area or from your state historical library.
8. _____ is enclosed.
9. _____ None of our genealogies ever go out on loan even to members of our Society - otherwise, our shelves would be continually bare!

The book has no index or else we would suggest a Xerox of the index and from that you could order specific pages. Sorry.

Dear Mr. Roth,

The Xerox copy of the inventory of Mr. Thomas Wynne which you did for me was a huge success! So much so, in fact, that I am enclosing my check for $18.00 for an xerox copy which I think I shall give to my brother. *

At the time of my original inquiry, I also inquired about the Genealogy of the Wynne family" by J. I. Deen. You replied that you had the book but that it was much too long to xerox. Don't you think perhaps some student might like to pick up some extra money during his vacation by doing this? You quoted me a price of $18.00 for microfilming it--what do you think this might come to? **

Sincerely,

* Recd. - early Jan.
** No answer - finally located book in

CHECK POINTS THAT WILL HELP CANDIDATES QUALIFY FOR MEMBERSHIP IN THE SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS IN THE STATE OF LOUISIANA

1. Talk to every member of the family in-town, out-of-town, mother, father, uncles, aunts, cousins and ask all of them to give you all information about the family starting out with themselves and go back as far as they can on every name in the family...that is...fathers family mothers family, grandmothers family and grand-fathers family...on both sides.
2. Ask them IF they know of any member of the family that has ever been interested in FAMILY HISTORY (Genealogy) and...
  - (a) Who has the family bible
  - (b) The name of the Town where members of the family are buried and where were they married and died.
  - (c) The name of any printed family history IF any.
  - (d) Find out IF any member of the family...have been a member of any of the following OR IF NOT A MEMBER...ARE THEY ELIGIBLE FOR ANY OF THE FOLLOWING PATRIOTIC SOCIETIES.
    - (e) SONS OF CONFEDERATE VETERANS...Daughters of the Confederacy.
    - (f) Daughters...of the American Revolution
    - (g) War of 1812 (Daughters or Sons)
    - (h) War with Mexico.
    - (i) Member of the Colonial Wars Society.
    - (j) Member of the National Society of Colonial Dames of America.
    - (k) Or for that matter the member of any Patriotic Group.
    - (l) Who has the family Bible.
    - (m) WHERE ARE THE PARENTS, Grandparents, Great Grand Parents buried.
    - (n) The Name of the Cemetery and town where any of the members of the family are buried (THIS IS IMPORTANT AS GRAVE YARDS REVEAL HEADSTONES WITH INSCRIPTIONS THAT SOMETIMES WILL TELL NOT ONLY BIRTH, DEATH AND MARRIAGE DATES...But will reveal the place where born.
3. A very important step which should be taken immediately is to write to the Vital Statistic Department of the city where you were born and to the city where your parents, grand parents, and great grand parents were born, married and died and secure the following...
  - (a) Your own Birth Certificate
  - (b) Birth Certificate of your mother and father
  - (c) Marriage Certificate of your mother and father
  - (d) Death Certificate of your mother and father (if deceased)
  - (e) Marriage Certificate of Grand parents
  - (f) Marriage Certificate of Great Grand Parents (if not possible Death Certificate)
  - (g) Marriage Certificate of Great Grand Parents (if not possible Death Certificate)
  - (h) Marriage Certificate of Great Great Grandparents (if not possible Death Certificate)

You may ask? "Why all of this". The answer is simple, Marriage, Birth, Death Certificates is an endless chain of evidence...it tells as in the case of a Birth Certificate...the name of the Parents. The Death Certificate tells the name of wife and many times the names of parents and many times the place where they are born...These are IMPORTANT FACTS especially if the parents, grandparents, great grandparents were not born in the community where the applicant was born and is living...It is an endless Chain...an interesting one and a fruitful one.

WHEN WRITING TO THE HEALTH DEPARTMENTS FOR BIRTH, DEATH, OR MARRIAGE CERTIFICATES BE SURE TO MAIL WITH YOUR LETTER $1.00 FOR EACH CASE. IF THEY DO NOT HAVE THE RECORD THEY WILL USUALLY RETURN YOUR MONEY.

KEYS

In practically every library the following reference books may be found.

1. Daughters of the American Revolution. These works are accompanied by an index to names of ancestors and will give volume and page number. EXAMPLE: If your name is Jones...look in every one of the Index to ancestors and jot down the Volume and the page number. Check every book. This could be a short-cut because you may find where an aunt or some relative has become a member of the D.A.R. and if you are lucky in this connection you have immediately whipped 10 Ten generations. If you cannot find where any relative has joined the D.A.R...you may be fortunate enough to isolate the name of JONES in Virginia where your ancestor lived...and this will be your challenge to tie-up with this Revolutionary War Soldier. Then if successful, secure a copy of the application of the D.A.R. member.
  2. If your family came from Virginia, you will find in the Map Room at Tulane a Cross Index of Names and places by SWEM. There are two volumes and you will want to check for names of all your ancestors known to you. This index is very revealing and will cite volume and page # of various books where the information may be found. If you are LUCKY you may find a sketch of your family already traced and tailor made for you. Or you may not find anything.
  3. Again if your ancestors were from Virginia and if you are looking for Military Service you will want to check Virginia Colonial Militia by Crozier. You will also want to check "List of Colonial Soldiers of Virginia" by H. J. Eckenrode, Archivist also "The Lower County Virginia Antiquary" by James. The Tulane Map Room has a small box file on the big round table which contains a list of the so-called most important genealogies that are either on the shelves in the room itself or elsewhere in the Library and in the latter case it will be necessary to make up a slip of the books you need or want and they will get them for you.
  4. There will be good reference books that will not be listed. These used to be in the Rare Book Department but I have been told that this has been done away with and that all books will be listed on the cards in Map Room if pertaining to genealogy. If you know the name of the book you are seeking and it is not on the Map Room then you will be compelled to look through the Master Index Cards.
  5. In general here are the names of some of the books I would suggest checking and in the absence of an index the books you will have to read from cover to cover. They are as follows: NEW ENGLAND GENEALOGICAL MAGAZINE - A MARVELOUS SOURCE - PENNSYLVANIA ARCHIVES - SOUTH CAROLINA ARCHIVES - WILLIAM AND MARY QUARTERLY VIRGINIA MAGAZINE HISTORY OF BIOGRAPHY, MARYLAND HISTORICAL SOCIETY. In fact check to see if they have the State Historical Society Magazine of the State where your people were from. You will find a world of material. The Society of Colonial Wars Index of Ancestors, The Daughters of the Founders and Patriots of America, Hennings Statues at Large, Washingtons Manuscripts and many others you will find on the shelves of the Tulane Map Room or The New Orleans Public Library.
- THIS IS BIG GAME HUNT BUT WHETHER YOU FIND WHAT YOU ARE LOOKING FOR OR NOT REMEMBER TENNEYSONS LADY CLERE DE VERE THOUGH THE DAUGHTER OF A HUNDRED EARLS THE GARDNER ADAM AND HIS WIFE SMILE AT CLAIMS OF LONG DESCENT FOR TIS NOBLE ONLY TO BE GOOD.

MY

CREED

I do not choose to be a common man. It is my right to be uncommon - if I can. I seek opportunity - not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the State look after me. I want to take the calculated risk; to dream and to build, to fail and to succeed. I refuse to barter incentive for a dole. I prefer the challenges of life to the guaranteed existence; the thrill of fulfilment to the stale calm of utopia.

I will not trade freedom for beneficiaries nor my dignity for a handout.

I will never cower before any master nor bend to any threat. It is my heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid; to think and act for myself, enjoy the benefit of my creations and to face the world boldly and say, this I have done.

ALL THIS is what it means to be an American.

DOLWYDDELAN CASTLE.

merly three floors. The materials of this fortress are the shattery stone of the country; yet well squared, the masonry good, and the mortar hard. The castle-yard lay between the towers.

THIS had been founded by some of our princes; but we are ignorant of its origin. There were very few castles in North Wales, before its conquest by the English. They were needles; for Nature created in our rocks and mountains, fortifications (untill our fatal divisions) quite impregnable. Had there been occasion for artificial retreats, the wealth of our country could readily have supplied the means of erecting them. We had the balance of trade in our favor. This prevented our princes from ever making use of their third prerogative, that of coining*. Our herds and flocks were the frequent resource of the English, and brought large sums into Wales. Witness the large sums of money we too frequently were obliged to pay, as purchasers of disgraceful peace. Besides, cash was far from being requisite, since, by our laws, every subject was bound to assist in building the royal castles, excepting the husbandmen belonging to the king†.

Forwerth Drwndwn made this place his residence; and here is said to have been born his son, Llewelyn the Great‡, who began his reign in the time of Richard I. If Dolinchalan castle is, as I suppose, the same with this, Gryffydd ap Tudor, in the reign of Edward I. had a fee of fifteen pounds as constable*.

Meredydd ap Ievan, an ancestor of the Wynnes, of Gwedir, in the reign of Henry VII. purchased the lease of this castle, and the inclosures belonging to it, from the executors of Sir Ralph Berkenet; it having been excepted among the places granted by Richard III. and resumed by his successor†. Before that time, Heel ap Ewan ap Rhys Gethin, a noted outlaw, resided here. As soon as it came into possession of Meredydd, he removed his habitation in Evionedd, a hundred in the county, to this castle; giving this excellent reason: "I had rather fight with outlaws and thieves, than with my own blood and kindred: if I live in my own house in Evionedd, I must either kill mine own kinsmen, or be killed by them!" The feuds among the gentry in Evionedd, occasioned perpetual murders; and Nant-Conwy was filled with banditti.

THIS gentleman soon reformed the country: he established colonies of the most tall and able men he could procure; till at last they amounted to seven score tall bowmen, every one arrayed in a "jacket or armolet coate, a good Steele cap, a short sword and dagger, together with his bow and arrows; many of them" alsoe had horses and chasing slaves, which were ready to answer "the crie on all occasions‡."

PENAMNAEN.

RHAINDER Y WENOL. CARREG Y GWLCH.

He founded the strong house of Penamnaen, a mile distant from the castle. He removed the church, which before lay in a thicket, to a more open place, by way of security; for he never dared to quit his house, without leaving in it a strong guard; and another of twenty tall archers to attend him, whenever he went to church; besides a watchman, on a rock called Carreg y Big, to give notice of the approach of the banditti. He ended his useful life in 1525, and left behind him twenty-three legitimate, and three natural children.

The church had been an impropriation of the abbey of Bedd-kelert; is very small; and has in it a monument, commemorating such of the family who were buried here*.

In my return to Pont y Pair, digressed a little up the river Llugwy, to see a noted cascade, called Rhaiader y Wenol, or The Water-fall of the Swallow. The river runs along a strait stony channel, for a considerable way, amidst narrow meadows, bounded by majestic Alpine scenery; then falls into an amazing hollow. The bottom is difficult of access; but when arrived at, exhibits a wonderful scene of mountain and precipice, shaded with trees, which fringe the top, and start even from the fissures of the sides.

GWALCH.

Cross Pont y Pair, and go beneath a very lofty rock, cloathed with wood, called Carreg y Gwalch, or The Rock of the Falcon. Here was the retreat of a famous partizan of the house of Lancaster, called Dafydd ap Shenkin, who lurked in a cave, still named, from him, Ogo Davyd ap Shenkin. The noblest oaks in all Wales grew on this rock, within memory of man. I remember the stools of several, which proved that they were equal to any which grow in the deepest soil; yet these rocks are totally destitute of all earth for a considerable way, so that the nutriment which the oaks received, must have been derived from the deep penetration of the roots, through the fissures of the stones, into some nutritive matter.

The antient house of Gwedir stands near the foot of this rock. It is built round a greater and lesser court. Over the gate-way is the date, 1558, with I. W. John Wynne ap Meredydd, grandfather to the famous Sir John, author of the memoirs of the family. This shews 1553, the supposed time of the death of the former, to be a mistake. The place takes its name from Gwaed-dir, the bloody land, from the battles fought here by Llywarch Hen*, about the year 610; or perhaps from the cruel battle in 952, between the sons of Hoel, and the princes Jevaf and Iago†; and a third may be added, between Gryffydd ap Cynan, and Trabaern ap Cradog, equally bloody‡. The supposition that it was derived from its being the first house in Wales which had glass windows, is not well founded, those conveniencies having been known long before. Sir John Wynne himself even mentions a date of 1512, on a window at Dolwyddelan, which is long before the building of Gwedir. But the following lines of a poet, who flourished some centuries before, is still a stronger proof of the antiquity of glass in our country:

On a rock, high above the Lower Gwedir, stood another, called The Upper, seemingly built for the enjoyment of the beautiful view it commands of the rich meadows watered by the Conwy, and their elegant boundaries. It was a sort of Dieta, or summer-house, erected by Sir John Wynne, in 1604, who had a classical taste. The walls were covered with inscriptions; and the situation well deserved the panegyric bestowed on it in the following Welsh lines, placed over the entrance:

"A conspicuous edifice on Gwider hill, towering over the adjacent land;
"a well-chosen situation, a second paradise, a fair bank, a palace of "royalty †."

This has been of late demolished; but the family chapel, which stands near the site of the old house, is still preserved, and service performed in it four times in the year. Among various papers belonging to Gwedir, communicated to me by my friend, Paul Panton, esq; is a curious one, drawn up by old Sir John Wynne, prescribing the rules to his chaplain; an odd mixture of infolence and piety *. The inventory of his wardrobe, drawn up in his own hand, is also worth preservation, as it shews not only the complete drefs of a man of rank in those days, but the great œconomy of the times, among people of fashion, when their wardrobe was bestowed by will, and passed from generation to generation †.

SIR John was sent to London in 1574, to study the law; was a man of abilities, and particularly attentive to the antiquities of his country and family. His consequence made him to be taken notice of by the court; for he was made a baronet in June 1611.

This place continued in the family till the year 1678, when it passed into that of the late duke of Ancafter, by marriage of Mary, daughter and heiress of Sir Richard Wynne, with Robert: marqués of Lindsey; and is now possessed by Peter Burrell, esq; in right of his wife Priscilla, baroness Willoughby, eldest sister to Robert, late duke of Ancafter.

FROM hence to Llanrwst is a pretty walk, mostly by the side of the river. The town lies in Denbighshire, on the opposite bank. The approach is over the bridge, the boasted plan of Inigo Jones. It consists of three arches; the middle fifty-nine feet wide: two are extremely beautiful, and mark the hand of the architect: the third differs greatly, having been re-built in 1703, by a very inferior genius. I wish I could do more honor to my country, than suppose him to have been a descendant of this neighborhood: but he seems to have been by birth a Lon-

INIGO JONES.

Doner, a son of a cloth-worker *, who, in all probability, was a native of this part of Wales; but our country is right to clame the son, which is done by universal tradition of the country. The turn of his countenance, and the violence of his passions †, at left legitimate no distant descent. He was patronized by the earl of Arundel, and William earl of Pembroke; and by one or other sent into Italy. His real christian name was Imyr, which he there changed into Inigo, or Ignatius. Thus, John Cooper, master of the Viol de Gambia to Charles I. after he had been in Italy, assumed the name of Giovanni Coperario ‡. It is in vain to give the life of a man, which has been so amply written by one of the ablest pens in the fine arts. Let it suffice to say, that the first Sir Richard Wynne procured from Jones the plan of this bridge, of which he was founder, in 1636; determined to do his country all possible honor, by the beauty of the design, invented by an architect to which Wales had at left a near relation §.

THERE is one circumstance attending this great genius, which deserves mention, as it bears some relation to the country from whence he may have derived his origin. When he was employed to furnish rare devices, and paint the scenery for the masques of the festive year 1619, he painted the Creigie'r eira, or a scene in Snowdonia, for the masque FOR THE HONOUR OF WALES. He did it with such success, as to excite the envy of the poet, Ben Jonson; for the scenes were more admired than the entertainment, which might very well be: but Jonson was so offended, as to give vent to his spleen in a copy of verses, as imbecil as they were rancorous and ill-founded *.

THE river here makes a handsome appearance, extending in a direct line far above the bridge, and often enlivened with the coracles, the vitilia navigia of the antient Britons, busied in taking salmon; and in the months of February and March, numbers of smelt. The tide does not flow nearer than Llyn y Graig, a mile and half below the bridge, where, in spring tides, boats of twelve tons may come.

THE town of Llanrwst is small, and ill built; and has nothing remarkable, except the church, which is dedicated to St. Rysyd, or Reshitutus, archbishop of London in 361, present at the council of Arles in 353. The ground on which it is built, is said to have been given by Rhun, the son of Nefydd Hardd, to expiate the foul murder of prince Idwal, a son of Owen Gwynedd, slain by order of his foster-father, Nefydd, to whom he had been intrusted †. Some curious carving, said to have been brought from the neighboring abby, graces the inside. The Gwedir chapel, founded in 1633, by the above-mentioned Sir Richard Wynne, from a design of Inigo, would be another ornament, if not so shamefully neglected. On the wall is a ruinous marble monument, elegantly ornamented with trophies: it was meant to commemorate the ancestors of the family; but soon promises to tumble into a heap of undistinguishable rubbish.

TRAMPLED under feet, are several brass plates, admirably engraven with the heads of several of the family, who rest beneath. Among them is that of Sir John Wynne, compiler of the memoirs, who died in 1626. The country people have a tradition, that he was a great oppressor; and accordingly have sent his perturbed spirit to reside in the neighboring cataract of Rhaiader y Wenol. The head of his wife, Sydney*, daughter of Sir William Gerard, chancellor of Ireland, is elegantly engraven on a plate near him: that of their daughter, Mary, wife of Sir Roger Mostyn, on another. These were the work of Sylvanus Crew. But a half-length of dame Sarah Wynne†, daughter of Sir Thomas Middleton, of Chirkcastle, and wife to Sir Richard Wynne, by William Vaughan, is far the most beautiful piece of engraving I ever saw: yet neither the names of this, or the foregoing artist, are on the records of the fine arts. Her husband was a gentleman of distinguished merit, groom of the bedchamber to Charles I. when prince of Wales, and one of his attendants in the wild expedition into Spain, in 1623. He left behind him an excellent account of the journey, which was published by Mr. Hearne. He died the 19th of July 1649, and was interred distant from his country, in the church of Wimbledon. A fine head of him, by Jansen, is preserved at Wynn-Stay; and the charming print from it, by that inimitable artist, Mr. Bartolozzi, lays me under very great obligations to Sir Watkin Williams Wynne, to whose spontaneous munificence I am indebted for so considerable an ornament to the book.

A VERY plain stone records the death of his eldest brother, Sir John Wynne, knight, who died at Lucca, on his travels, in 1614, and was buried there, in the parish of St. John. I have seen numbers of his letters, which shew him to have been a very observant man; some of which may, in the Appendix, be an amusement to the reader.

ONE other tomb, of far greater antiquity than the others, remains to be mentioned; that of Howel Coytmor, whose figure, armed, is represented in stone. He was gran-son of the knight at Bettws; owned Gwedir, which was sold by one of his posterity to the family of the Wynnes,

IN this church is preserved the stone coffin of Llewelyn the Great, with the sides curiously cut into quatre-foils. That prince was enterred in Conwy abby; but at the dissolution, the coffin was removed to this place.

I MADE from Llanrwst two excursions; one to visit Maynan MAYNAN ABBY. Abby, translated hither in 1289, from Conwy, by permission of pope Nicholas *, as he says, at the request of Edward I. and the monks. The king bestowed on them the township of Maynan, in lieu of Conwy, and confirmed to them all the revenues and priveleges they before enjoyed, together with various immunities from taxes, tolls, and duties †; and besides, gave them the patronage of their antient church at Conwy ‡. Afterwards the sheriffs of the counties were enjoined to meet the justice at his entrance into the county, and to guard and conduct him to the utmost bound of the county; where the sheriff of the next county did receive him.

IN HIS SERVICE. vol. ii. p. 140.

FIRST. You shall have the chamber, I shewed you in my gate, private to yourself, with lock and key, and all necessaries.

In the morning I expect you should rise, and say prayers in my hall, to my household below, before they go to work, and when they come in at nygt—that you call before you all the workmen, workmen, specially the yowth, and take accompt of them of their belief, and of what Sir Meredith taught them. I beg you to continue for the more part in the lower house: you are to have onely what is done there, that you may informe me of any misorder there. There is a baylyf of husbandry, and a porter, who will be comanded by you.

The morninge after you be up, and have said prayers, as afore, I wo<sup>d</sup> you to bestow in study, or any commendable exercise of your body.

Before dinner you are to com up and attend grace, or prayers, if there be any publicke; and to set up, if there be not greater strangers, above the chyl dren—who you are to teach in your own chamber.

When the table, from half downwards, is taken up, then are you to rise, and to walk in the alleys near at hand, until grace time; and to come in then for that purpose.

After dinner, if I be busy, you may go to bowles, shuffel bord, or any other honest decent recreation, until I go abroad. If you see me voyd of busyness, and go to ride abroad, you shall comand a geldinge to be made ready by the grooms of the stable, and to go with me. If I go to bowles, or shuffel bord, I shall lyke of your company, if the place be not made up with strangers.

I wold have you go every Sunday in the year to some church hereabouts, to preache, giving warnynge to the parish to bring the yowths at after noon to the church to be catekysed; in which poynt is my greatest care that you be paynfull and diligent.

SIR JOHN WYNNE'S LETTERS. vol. ii. p. 145.

Letter from the Bourbonnoisse to his Father, dated 1st April, 1614, giving an Account of the Discontents in France in the beginning of the Reign of Louis XIII.

MY humble duty premised—Our ambassador being returned to England, and my acquaintance in Paris retyred with him; I am uncertayn where to dyrect my lres, that I may be assured they may come to hand.

This state of France is in divison with ytfelfe; for certain of the princes are discontentedly retyred to their governments; where they fortify themselves in the strongest cytties. Those of them who want place of importance in their own countrey, joyn with the rest to make good the hould they fynd fitt to make resistance: and so many are joynd together in Champaigne, being the government of the duke of Nevers, who also is one of the number. But the cheife of all is the prince of Conde, with whom also is the duke of Vendosme, bastard son to the late king of France; who not longe since was committed to pryson; but finding that opportunitie to shift him self into the habit of a scullion, he escaped, and put himselfe into the companie of the malecontents, being in number about six or 7 dukes, besides others, assembled together, upon there garde, in the cytty of Miffers and Cedan, upon the borders of the Low Countreys, being frontyre towns of Champaign. Whence the prince of Conde writt to the king and queen, shewing the cause of his retyrednes, so far as touched himselfe, being, as he sayed, out of the care he had of the king and kingdome, to reform the one, and give contentment to the other; which could not be don without the assembly of the states, which he earnestly desired, principally to abridge the extream taxations of the subjects; to purge the kingdome of the unnecessarie offices, who served to no other use than to impoverish the people; and withall to forbear to proceed in the marriage between France and Spayne, untill the assembly of the estates wear dissolved, least any thinge should be concluded to the prejudice of those of the reformed religion. The lre was well written, and carried with yt a shewe of great good to the comon wealth; but the people are so fearfull of the name of civil warre, that very fewe stirr of the parte of the princes. It is very true that the prince of Conde was drawn into the number by some other of the dukes, and not out of any just cause that he hath of discontent, more then for the love of some of them who he wo<sup>d</sup> protect.

3 N 2 of

Ther ys watch and ward in all towns, and good order for provision of arms, whereof ther ys no want in these partes.

The queen maketh great preparation to go to meete the king of Spayne, to conclude the marriage, notwithstandinge the distaste the princes have of that proceedinge.

The report hear ys, that the princes will submit themselves to the kings mercie, and will offer themselves to attende the kinge to his marriage; but how that will prove, ys uncertain: for they fortifie themselves daylie; and, while they speake of peace, they prepare for warre. But that w<sup>ch</sup> will turn to there mischise ys the want of money, w<sup>ch</sup> all knowe; otherwise they are well seated to do the kinge a shrewd turne. These sturrs in France causeth the kingdome to be more difficult for travaile, and maketh many strangers remove to other countreys; myself amonge the rest am resolved of my remove, with as much speed as I may, to Savoy, and so to Piemont, and to see some part of Lombardie, before the extreamitie of the heate. I have continued here in Burbonnoise to exercise myself to ride, whereto I have applyed myselfe amonge the best-natured people of the world. God contynewe you your health, and make my return as happy as you desire! I rest your obedient son, 1st Aprilis 1614.

Before I set forth, I ridd to the Bath, w<sup>ch</sup> ys 5 leagues distant from Moulins, as well to see the castle as other remarkable things, w<sup>ch</sup> are well worthy a strangers observion. The governaor of the country sent expresly to cause all things to be shewed me. Being arrived, I bestowed that nyht to see the new work, w<sup>ch</sup> the last king caused to be built near the springe; but that w<sup>ch</sup> was wonderfull, was 3 inclosed places within the bath, the waters whereof ys so extream hot, that there ys not any that care adventure to goe bath himselfe within, though the weather be never so could: for experience whereof, the last great frost, a younge mayd goinge to take up water, her feet slipt, because of the yce, and falling into the water, was taken up dead, being boyled by reason of the extraordinarye heat of the springe. all men at there devotion; so that non wo<sup>d</sup> travaille that day. I doubt nothinge of the omnipotencie of the Almightye, who hath made all things of nothinge; but I make question of many superstitious observations of these Papists, who have often belyed God, attributinge to reliks more then to God. This thorn is inclosed in christall within the same that the crosse ys, beinge all set in gould, with works of imagerie, contayninge the passion of our Saviour; w<sup>ch</sup> the houldinge in your hand, the bud appeareth at that tyme of the day, upon Good Fryday, remayneth on flowr, and so vanisheth.

From thence to Lyons, where I contynued a week; and so by water I voyaged to Avignon, w<sup>ch</sup> ys belonging to the Pope: where entring into the town, I was demanded by the gard at the gate, whence I was, and of what religion? Where havinge related all things, according to there demand, I was lett passe towarde my lodginge, beinge somewhat melancholick, because I supposed that I sho<sup>d</sup> not have that libertie to see all places in that towne, as I desired; but havinge encountred with a French lord of that country, of whom I inquired whether I might freely see all places in town; who used me with that extraordinarye kindnes, that being invited to supper that night, he speake of me to the cardinal, being vice-legat; and the next morninge brought me to the cardinal, who was returned from masse, having a hundred gentlemen well appointed, who in ranke went before him, by three and by three, until the pallaisie; my selfe coming by with that lord, I was saluted by the legat, and honorably entertayned with many good words, tellinge me that yt was not lawfull for those of our religion to remayne above three dayes; but for me, I might stay as longe as I wo<sup>d</sup>— with many other circumstances of love and curtesie; enioyninge that I<sup>d</sup> to shewe me all places in town, and principally to conduct me to see a companie at a gentlemans house, who wear ready to maske and dance, in honour of a bap<sup>t</sup>isme, whereunto the cardinals brother was intreated as godfather. In ende, beinge after dinner at the church, to see the manner of yt, though I had before seen the like, behould a great number of violens and musitiens came marching before the godfather, who brought the child upon his arme (accordinge to the French manner) to the church; and then the ladies and gentlewomen accompanying the godmother entred, and so they went to the ceremonie; my selfe went amonge the rest, and stood by to hear and see what they did: which some gentlemen perceivinge, who had taken notice of me in the morninge, demanded of me how I liked of the ceremonie? I sayd well. And whether there wear great difference between the Engliss manner and that of France for the bap<sup>t</sup>isme? I answered, for that I had seen that they differed from us. I was further pressed by those gent, whether yt pleased me to see the manner of yt or not? I sayd yea; but that I co<sup>d</sup> not enter for the presse. Then the gent made me place, and brought me close to the place; where, in interpretinge unto me the manner of all circumstances, he was louder than the curit who bap<sup>t</sup>ized the child. When all was done, the godfather kissed the godmother openlie in the church. The companie, being many that came about me, seeing I was a stranger, to hear what the other gent and I discoursed of. I was asked by the parent of the child, in what fort we differed in England from the manner of France in bap<sup>t</sup>isme? I answered, that our children wear not so well fed, before they received bap<sup>t</sup>isme, as this child was. The gent fell all to a laughter; for indeede the child was soould that he was almost ready to goe, and had such a broad face, that all the companie were made merry with the mouths the child made at the preist, duringe the time he was using his office. The gent told me that yt was the manner in these countreys also to christen them when they wear 4 or 5 dayes ould; but for this, the godfather beinge in Italy, they wear constrained to stay till his return. After the bap<sup>t</sup>isme I was offered all the curtesie that I could desire. And so I went to Aix, being the parliment of Provence, and from thence to Marselles, where I now am. From hence to Nezi, beinge the duke of Savoys countrey; and from thence to Genua; and thence to Lucca; and so to Florence, w<sup>ch</sup> ys 500 miles hence: where I shall not have so much money as will conduct me further, but only what will maintayn me untill I receive money from England, which I humbly entreat you to use means to send me my Michaelmas rent. Have patience with me, if I continewe a little longer then you wo<sup>d</sup>; I do yt for my experience, w<sup>ch</sup> I wo<sup>d</sup> gayne, if I may, as well as others; but without tyme, a man can do but what he can. I hope you would not that I should be less sufficient then other gent, who seeke out ther experience by the same means that I doe. I hope that yt shall not repent you anythinge of the course I have taken, no more then yt doth me. God send you your health, and my mother hers; and make both of you partakers of my prayers!

June 23, 1859 - Died at her residence in Greene County, Alabama on 22 Apr., 1859 of paralysis, Mrs. Jane Anderson in 81st year of her age. Deceased was of the Kennedy family, a native of Waxhaw District, South Carolina where she spent all of the days of her early childhood. She was Scotch-Irish in her descent, her parents having emigrated to this country from the north of Ireland prior to the War of the Revolution. When quite young, she removed with her parents to Abbeville District, South Carolina where she married Mr. T. J. Anderson with whom she lived happily until the time of his death. About the year 1818 she removed to the state of Alabama in the County of Greene where she remained to the day of her death. In 1820 she connected herself with the Presbyterian Church at Concord (and later Mt. Zion) after the death of her husband which occurred in 1827 the care and education of her numerous family of children devolved on her.

Obituary

Clyde McKeown

Clyde McKeown Mead, 62, of Pine Bluff died Monday at the Jefferson Hospital after an illness of several weeks. He was an independent public accountant.

A son of the late Moses (Mack) and R. E. Lee Wynn Mead, he was born in Lincoln County, where he was reared and attended elementary school. He later attended school in Pine Bluff and was a graduate of Pine Bluff High School. He also attended the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville.

He served in the Army during World War II as a major in the European Theater, being affiliated with the Allied Military Government. Following his discharge, he lived in Houston from 1946 until coming to Pine Bluff in 1970.

Mr. Mead was a member of the Methodist Church and Pine Bluff Lodge 69.

Survivors include five brothers, Earl Mead and T. T. Mead, both of Palmyra; S. Homer Mead and J. Morris Mead, both of Pine Bluff; and Clarence Mead of Pensacola, Florida.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Ralph Robinson and Son Mortuary by Dr. John W. Lindsay and Reverend T. P. Devlin. Burial will be in Jones Cemetery at Star City.

Pallbearers will be Truman Newton, Donnie Mead, James Mead, Robert E. Turley, Gus McClendon, Dr. J. R. Wofford, Paul Pendleton, Bob Small and Fred Luft.

sion of names of a few relatively late comers, the great majority of the owners in Parsons' plan gained their titles before 1700.

The earliest names on the list are those of Swedes who held land in the vicinity before Penn was granted his province. The next group consists of those who preceded Penn to Pennsylvania. These pioneers are well represented, for they numbered among them those responsible for selecting the site of the city and laying it out—Deputy Governor William Markham, Surveyor General Thomas Holme, and two of the three commissioners, John Bezar and Nathaniel Allen. In 1682 these leaders held a lottery for the distribution of town lots to fifty-two First Purchasers. This lottery was later disallowed and titles do not descend from it, but it is of interest to note that properties owned by twenty-four who participated in the lottery are found in Parsons' plan. A few months after this lottery, William Penn arrived on the Welcome. Seventeen of his fellow passengers perfected their Philadelphia titles, according to Parsons' book.<sup>12</sup>

By the summer of the following year, Penn had designated the distribution of city lots to First Purchasers, and Thomas Holme had drawn up a map of the city to show where the individual lots were located. A comparison of this map with Parsons' plan shows a wide divergence in titles to lots. Thompson Westcott in 1867, while studying the distribution on the Holme map, pointed out: "These allotments, it must be understood, do not give the names of the patentees of the lots in every instance. There were considerable land speculations and purchases and sales of lots in the early days of the city, and the rights of the persons named under the allotments were frequently parted with, so that when surveys were made for the lots and patents granted they were made out frequently to different persons than those named" in the list which accompanied Holme's map.

A few years after Holme had made his map, many of the changes in rights to town lots, the "allotments" mentioned by Westcott, had taken place. Early in 1690, Receiver General John Blackwell listed the property owners by streets in Philadelphia, and recorded the size of their lots and the approximate time they had been in the possession

Thomas Brassey (Bracy), William Shardlow, and the Growdens of Cornwall. Closely associated with the English purchasers was an influential Irish group that included Robert Turner, Samuel Claridge, Joseph Fisher, and George and Francis Rogers. Of these men, only Turner and Fisher came to Pennsylvania. Through Benjamin Furly, who was Penn's agent in Holland and the Lower Rhine, the Creditors and the Frankford Company were organized. Furly himself did not emigrate. The Welsh purchasers, like the Dutch, intended to emigrate in groups and to establish compact settlements on the Delaware. Unlike the Englishmen, they were landed men, not merchants or artisans. Their leaders, the men in whose names the large purchases were made, hoped themselves to lead groups of colonists to Pennsylvania. Save where illness or death prevented, all of them came to America. Thus, Dr. Thomas Wynne, Charles Lloyd, Dr. Thomas Lloyd, and Dr. Edward Jones came, but John Thomas, who was ill, died in 1683. These early Welsh settlers were Quakers, converted as the result of George Fox's missionary work in Wales.

The geographical distribution of the First Purchasers, as a sample of approximately half of them (370 of 751) reveals,<sup>26</sup> corresponds rather closely with that of the membership of the Society of Friends. London, with twenty-three per cent, and Middlesex County, with two per cent, account for a fourth of the total, while the nearby counties of Berks, Bucks, Surrey and Sussex account for ten per cent. In the southwest, Wilts alone is represented by twelve per cent, while others came from Somerset and even distant Cornwall. Bristol, a center of persecution, and neighboring villages in Gloucestershire contributed eight per cent, while other communities in the west, led by Chester and Lancashire, accounted for nine per cent. Oxford, with four per cent, provided an unusual number, although the neighboring towns, too, were represented. Yorkshire, the home of so many West Jersey proprietors and settlers, was indifferently represented among the First Purchasers. Thus, those whose underwriting was so important to the colonizing of Pennsylvania were found principally, so far as England was concerned, in London and its environs, in the hundred feet of ground before it shelved down to the river's edge—finally persuaded Turner to accept its location.<sup>47</sup>

Financial insecurity, private grievances, and the general discomfort of frontier living were compounded by the severe cold weather which arrived in December and continued all through January. The river froze, a fierce north wind penetrated the crevices of hastily built dwellings, game disappeared from the woods. Such conditions only added to resentment at demands on slender resources; grumbling and complaints at hardships endured were frequent. By the New Year Penn was reported to be mingling "strong and impressive sighs" with his prayers "because the true Philadelphia and brother love is not to be met with as freely in this our Philadelphia as he on his part desires."<sup>48</sup> By mid-January, 1684, the discontent was becoming more vocal and pointed.

Certain proposals, their precise nature carefully omitted in the official record, were submitted to Penn and the Council by Anthony Weston. He and more substantial citizens, including a number of original purchasers, had "mett at Tho. Hootens and there chose him to draw up Proposals . . . which Proposals were mended by Tho. Wynn," and which "Jno. Songhurst, Jno. Parsons, Tho. Duckett and Others, would stand to."<sup>49</sup> These proposals Penn and the Council summarily rejected as being "of great presumption and Contempt of this Government and authority." Thomas Wynne was "reproved for doeing of the same," and the "freemen that Subscribed to Antho. Weston's proposals" were ordered "to give for their good behaviour to ye governm" a single recognizance of fifty pounds "till such Pennypacker, Settlement of Germantown, 96. One of the seventeen servants Turner transported with him was Robert Salford, a brickmaker. Making use of his services, early in 1684 Turner began laying the foundation of the first brick house to be built in Philadelphia. "Further Account . . .," PMHB, IX (1885), 74.

<sup>48</sup> That the winter of 1683-1684 was very severe is reported in several accounts, e.g., Paschall's letter to J. J. Chippenham, cited in Note 31; James Claypoole to Thomas Cooke, Feb. 1, 1683/4, Claypoole Letter Book, 433-435; Pennypacker, Settlement of Germantown, 87, 97, 98.

<sup>49</sup> The previous spring, Weston and his wife were indicted and fined for selling strong drink without a license. When he petitioned the Council in November, his fine was remitted, but not hers. The indictment is in Penn Letters and Ancient Documents, 74, APS, cited in Note 70. Part. I. That case, and the present proposals he submitted, are in Colonial Records, I, 90, 91.

tyme as ye genea<sup>1</sup> Assembly shall next sett." Weston, as the instigator, was to "be Whypt at ye Market place on Market daye three times, Each time to have Tenn Lashes, at 12 of the Clock at noone, this being the first day." As the town prison was not finished, William Clayton was engaged to build a "Cage . . . 7 foot high, 7 foot long & 5 foot broad."<sup>50</sup>

Thomas Wynne's participation in the "presumptious" proposals very likely reflected in some degree his growing restiveness at restrictions not to his taste. Assigned no part of either a Front or High Street lot, even when he was assured the omission was inadvertent and he could share the other half of the lot on Schuylkill side assigned his co-purchaser, John ap John, he still was not satisfied. Like Robert Turner, he wanted to be near the Dock and the center of business, not two miles distant at the Schuylkill. Determined to locate near the Dock, Wynne entered into negotiations with Dennis Rochford, who was living on the Orian tract fronting the Schuylkill, and owned his brother-in-law Thomas Herriot's right to the Delaware Front lot north of Wynne Street. Accordingly, in September Rochford obtained a warrant to have half of his lots surveyed on Delaware side, "and on Schuylkill side the other half, being half the Lotts exchanged with Thomas Wynne for his purchase." After three months passed without further action, Wynne, impatient at the delay, took matters into his own hands. Obtaining his own warrant, the day before the Weston proposals came before the Council, he succeeded in having two fifty-one foot lots surveyed for himself and John ap John on the site assigned to Herriot, adjoining Charles Pickering's lot.<sup>51</sup>

Adding to the discontent simmering in town were apparent errors committed by surveyors. Early in 1683, Barnabas Willcox, a rope-maker of Bristol, and his second son Joseph came over with the in-

<sup>50</sup> The cage was erected at the intersection of Second and High Streets, as illustrated in the draft of the area in Warrants and Surveys, II, 102. At the end of March, 1684, the prison apparently still was not finished, according to the tenor of Samuel Hersent's petition to the Council in Colonial Records, I, 101.

<sup>51</sup> As surveyed, Wynne's lot was on the north, adjoining Pickering's, but Parson's "Draughts," and subsequent transfers of property, show that Wynne took possession of the southern lot laid out for John ap John. Rochford's and Wynne's warrants are in Warrants and Surveys, I, 839, and III, 238. See also Exemplification Book I, 15, 16: July 31, 1684, Patents to Thomas Wynne and John ap John.

DR. THOMAS WYNNE'S ACCOUNT OF HIS EARLY LIFE.

CONTRIBUTED BY WILLIAM MACLEAN, JR.

The contributor has recently obtained from a London book-store a pamphlet entitled as follows: "AN Antichristian Conspiracy DETECTED, and Satans Champion DEFEATED. Being a Reply to an Envious & Scurrilous Libel, without any Name to it, Called WORK for a COOPER. Being also a Vindication of my Book, entituled, The Antiquity of the Quakers; From the Base Insinuations, False Doctrine and False Charge therein contain'd against me, my Book, and against God's People called QUAKERS in general. By me Thomas Wynne. Printed in the year 1679" Dr. Wynne quotes various portions from the work of the "Libeller" and then appends his reply. The concluding chapter is of especial interest, as it contains many personal references, and is given below in full.

Of his Reflection on me, calling me COOPER, &c.

In this he spits his Malice at me as much as in any; and indeed his Book savours of little else; and in this he thought to Character to Disgrace, by Reflecting upon my small Original; but I am quite of another mind; for if this would be so to me, it would certainly be of much more to very many that I could name, were it not lest any should think I did reflect on them, who are now Persons of known Repute and Honour in the World, who had smaller Beginnings than myself; I could bring the Libeller under this Odium also, if he thinks it be any, if he be the Man he is said to be; but Revenge is none of my Way, therefore will at present reply to him of this Matter.

He's fitter to Plant Tobacco, or at best to mind his Ax and Saw, the Joynter and the Adz, alias, Nedde, the Criste and the Head-Knife, &c.

Libeller,
pag. 20.

Rep. Its known to many now living, in this my Native Country wherein I live, (and it being also near the place where I was Born) that my genious from a Child did lead me to Surgery, insomuch that before I was Ten Years old, I several times over-ran my School and Home when I heard of any ones being wounded or hurt, & used all my endeavours, then to see Fractures and Dislocations reduc'd, and Wounds dressed, and have been so long missing, that my Parents thought they had lost me, for which I underwent severe Correction, and the troublesome Times being then, my Parents sustained great Plunder, and my Father dyed before I was Eleaven Years old, and my Mother not being then able to produce so great a Sum of Money as to set me to Chyrurgery, I betook my self to this honest & necessary Calling he upbraids me with, with several other things that in those dayes pleased my mind; yet during all this time, I lost no opportunity to inform my self in the Practice of Chyrurgery, and continued thus until I became acquainted with an honest Friend, and good Artist in Chyrurgery, whose Name was Richard Moore of Salop, who seeing my forwardness to Chyrurgery, did further me in it, and brought me to Desections in Salop; the Anotomists being men of known worth in that Practice, whose Names are Dr. Needham and Dr. Hollins, who at this day are doubtless of deserved Repute in their Professions (in England) and I being then expert in Drils, and Handy in Knife and Lancet, & other Instruments for that purpose, I set on making a Skelton of a mans Bones, which I only with the assistance of Richard Moore performed to their content, at which time they thought me fit to be Licensed the practice of Chyrurgery, and this is near 20. Years ago, and soon after I being taken Prisoner to Denbigh, where I remained a Prisoner near six Years for the Testimony of Jesus, I then betook my self wholly to the Practice of Chyrurgery, and God was with me in my undertakings, to him be the Glory forever; and why then did not my envious Adversary to the abovesaid Instruments, have added the Plaister Box and Salvatory, the Trafine and the Head-Saw, the Amputation Saw, and the Catling, the Cautery Siring and Catheter, with many more which with Gods assistance I have used with good success, for the space of near 20. years last past (which was near thrice as long as I used those he speaks of to the great comfort of many who had some of them, their Limbs gangrened others Fractured, others Dislocated, others desperately Wounded by Gun shots, others pierced thorow with Rapiers, others with Ulcers and Fistula's, and Cancers, which I exterpated, & by Gods assistance Cured, yea, many Scores are living Monuments of Gods Mercy to this day, who were Spectacles of great misery in these respects; And as touching his Reflection and Detraction, enviously seeking to lessen my reputation in my present Calling of Chyrurgery, is no more to me then the barking of a Dog; and though Dogs yelp at the Moon, yet they cannot hinder her Light.

I beleve he is Ignorant in his very Trade of quack Chyrurgery, and cannot so much as Enlighten his credulous and very aduenterous Patients with the meaning of the Hipo & Epigastoea, the Medulla, Spinolis, and Piloras, &c.

Libeller,
Pag. 20.

Rep. Its possible that for all his malign Detraction, that to any whom it may concern I shall be able to give them such satisfaction, as becomes a Practitioner in Chyrurgery to do, having for at least 20. Years of great Industry informed my self in Anatomy, especially that part of it that belongs to a Chyrurgeon (viz.) of knowing the Structure and Scituation of mans Body, and not only so, but have with painful endeavours inform'd my self of the best Authors with the Nature of the Humours, Spirits and Ferments, and of their Co-operation in the Bodies of men, neither have I rested here, but have acquainted my self with both antient and modern Institutions, and the Aphorisms (& Observations) of worthy men; but what my attainments are in these particulars, I think not fit to be mentioned here, nor was it ever in my Heart to have said thus much, had it not been a force put upon me; however this I hope I alwayes shall be ready, while God enables me (as I have been hitherto) when called upon to serve my Country, according to my ability, not only in saying, but doing also, and there is no mark of disgrace which my Adversary would Characterize me by, to disgrace me with but I would as freely serve my Country now therein as ever, were I not able to serve them in a better capacity. I could, if it were needful, bring many Testimonies of famous men in the practise of Chyrurgery, who were first bred up Mechanicks, as Pereas, Fellix, Worteus, Curranus, Fellopius, Spigellius, Hildanus and Aquependante; nay, Leonard Phycerebate, a very famous Man, sayes, Its necessary for Youth to be sobred up, his Reason is, it will make them more handy and dexterous in the manuel Operations of Chyrurgery.

Libeller, in pag. 27, calls me Lay-Preacher, and bids me call my self a Liar and Fool, for when, said he, did any true Minister of the Church of England make any fawning Addresses to Richard Cromwell, or bemoane the Death of Oliver.

Rep. What I said there concerning the Priests is certainly true; for I said some of the Priests bemoaned the Death of Oliver, and in their Addresses to Richard, compared Oliver to Moses, and Richard to Joshuah, &c. it therefore had become him to read the Priests Addresses, before he had charged me with Liar and Fool, and did it not at this time look too like Revenge, which is none of my way. I have a Sheet in readiness that I could have produced to my defence, which if a force be put upon me may come forth, which will shew them in their Colours, and further clear the point; and for my part I heartily wish we may hear no more of this, except we hear it and see it in the Penetential Confession of the Offenders.

And although I be a Lay-man, as he calls me, yet I have a Testimony to bear for God in this day and time; and since he would exclude such, what makes him believe the antient Quakers, who were Lay-men, Exod. 3. 1. Moses was a Keeper of Sheep; and was it not this Lay-man and Quaker that gave record how God created Man in the Beginning, and the World, and all therein? and did not this Lay-man give Testimony of the Flood destroying the old World, and of Noah's being saved in the Ark, with much more of the Work of God for the Deliverance of his People, both Patriarchs and Prophets, &c. as may at large be read in his books? And was not David a Keeper of Sheep, 2 Sam. 7. 8. I took thee from the Sheep-coats, 1 Sam. 24. 3. Saul came to the Sheep-coats after David, 1 Kings 19. 19. Elisha was a Plow-man. Amos 3. 4. Amos was a Herds-man. Mat. 4. 18. Simon Peter, and Andrew his Brother, were Fishers. John 2. 1. Simon Peter said, I go a Fishing; they that were with him, said, We go with thee. John 21. 3. He expressed himself after the same manner.

Now you may see how these Preachers, after they had been preaching to the Nations, Mat. 10, they fell to their Nets again; and I hope the Libeller dare not say, but that they were rightly ordained to their Ministry; yet we see that their way of Livelihood was their Fishing-trade, and not to usurp Authority over the people; nor were they Incumbants to any Places nor inducted to any Benefice with Right to Tythes of One hundred, or Two Hundred, or Three Hundred a Year, more or less. Now if Peter or John should have come in their Fishers Coats to preach the Gospel in our days, would not the Libeller abuse them, think ye, and bid them mind their Nets and their Fishing-trade, and call them Lay-Preachers, and scoff at their Fisher's Coats, especially knowing them to be illiterate men? & did not the great Schollars, (who had the Hebrew, Greek and Latin in those days) in Derision call Christ a Carpenter's Son, and Blasphemer, and Devil? thus their Tongues and Languages deceived them; for they knew him not with all these Tongues, Acts 18. 3. Were not Paul, and Pricilla and Aquilla Tent-makers? and were not these true Preachers? sure they were. So all people that are spiritually awakened may see, how that God in the time of the Prophets and Apostles made choice of Lay-men (as my Adversary his stile is) to be his Ministers: but it may be the Libeller thinks that now the Case is alter'd, and that God hath changed his mind from Lay-men to Schollars only; if not, why are Lay-men excluded now adays? is not this to limit the Holy One of Israel? who will not be limited, but is now risen in his Power in a poor and despised Remnant, to whom he hath made known a heavenly Principle, which is the Spirit and Light of Christ Jesus, God's Anointed, the Second Adam, who is made a Quickening Spirit (as saith the Apostle) in man; and this was it I bore Testimony to in my Book, and its not fe to de fe to deny all outward Teaching, (in the days of the Gospel) that springs not from Christ Jesus, the Anointed of God, who is enjoyed within by the true Christians in this Age, as was by such in former Ages. Glory to the Lord God for the same. Christ saith, God is a Spirit, and they who Worship him, they must worship him in the Spirit and in the Truth.

And this spirit is the true Teacher, which we have believed in, & this is he whom God hath anointed to preach good Tidings to the Poor, even Christ Jesus in his Children; this is he whom God has sent to bind up the broken-hearted, and to proclaim Liberty to the Captives, and the opening of the Prison to those that are bound, and to proclaim the Acceptable Year of the Lord, and the Day of the Vengeance of our God to all that oppose the Appearance of his Son; yea, and to comfort all that truly mourn for Sin; yea, and to appoint to all that mourn in Sion, to give to them Beauty for Ashes, and the Oyl of Joy for mourning, and the Garment of Praise for the Spirit of Heaviness, that they may be called Trees of Righteousness, the planting of the Lord.

This chapter is followed by a conclusion in Welsh and an epistle to the Quakers, the latter of which is signed "Thomas Wynne" "Caerwis the 1st day of 11th moneth, 1678." There is in addition to this a postscript.

GENEALOGICAL GLEANINGS IN GREAT BRITAIN.

BY THOMAS ALLEN GLENN.

LLOYD-MAULDEN. Will of Grace Lloyd of St. Mary, Whitechapel, Middlesex, widow. Dated 10 May, 1698. Proved in P. C. C., 23 Dyer, 17 Feb., 1700-1. The testatrix desires to be buried "near my husband in Whitechapel Church." To granddaughter Elizabeth Buckerfield the money owed by Alexander Pollington and certain plate, linen &c. "with my marke G. & P. thereupon sett."

Bequest to testatrix's daughter Elizabeth, mother to the above Elizabeth Buckerfield. Testatrix's son Francis Maulden mentioned.

Testatrix's daughters Margaret Evans and Grace Mitchill.

Residue of estate "in England and Maryland or elsewhere beyond the seas" to my daughter Elizabeth Buckerfield and she sole executrix. Thomas Parker and Joseph Haycock overseers.

WYNNE-BUTTALL. Dr. Thomas Wynne, first speaker of the Provincial Assembly of Pennsylvania, married as his first wife, about 1655-7, Martha Buttall of Wrexham (See "Merion," 261 &c.). Searches in Wales undertaken by the late Mr. Palmer of Wrexham, and others on behalf of the late Mr. H. W. Lloyd failed to determine this lady's parentage, but Mr. Palmer turned up the will of her brother, Jonathan Buttall of Battersea, Surrey, dated 26 August, 1695, in which he mentions his sister Martha Wynne's children (she having died about 1670), and other relatives. A full abstract of this will is given in "Merion," pp. 262-3. The parentage of Jonathan Buttall, and Martha Wynne (his sister), is proved by the following document.

The testator bequeaths the house in which he dwells, gardens, &c., to his daughter Abigail. Remainder of his houses to Samuel Buttall, eldest son of Nathaniel Buttall, testator's eldest son.

To "my son Nathanael one shilling."

To "my son Samuel one shilling."

To "my son Johnathan one shilling."

To "my daughter Rebecca one shilling."

To "my son in law Thomas Winne one shilling."

To "my . . . . Charles one shilling."

See also will of Dr. Thomas Wynne in which he mentions money due from his brother-in-law, Samuel Buttall.

WILSON. "Captain Samuel Wilson's will." Will of Samuel Wilson (Captain) of Derryhow in the parish of Drumlane and County of Cavan, gent. To be buried in Church of Drumlane. Wife Rebeckah to have lease of Derryhow, and ready money, and money due testator in England.

To "daughter Rebeckah Anderson now in America if a widow £10 if she comes over to take care of her mother, she being in a capacity to do it while she lives' and what her mother leaves I doubt not she will get if she behaves as she should."

"Beside my daughter Anderson I would mind my grandson Samuel Stephens. . ."

"I therefore bequeathe to said Samuel Stephens and his sister Frances Baker and nephew Tom Wilson, one shilling each." Executrix, wife Rebeckah Wilson.

Witnesses:—Jos. Ingram, Francis Halliday, Richard Moore.

Will dated 21 September. 1745. Proved 16 August. 1746 (Kilmore Will).

CERTAIN PENNSYLVANIA SETTLERS
ADDENDA TO ARTICLES IN THE AMERICAN GENEALOGIST

By F. J. Dallett, Bath, England

TAG 38:162. Joseph Reed's list of First Purchasers lists not two but three men called William Smith: one the mariner (of Bristol), noted here, the other a brass founder of Bristol, the third a yeoman of Bromham, Wiltshire [Pennsylvania Archives, 3rd Series, III:341]. Hannah Benner Roach identifies the brass founder with William Smith who came on the ship Society of Bristol.

TAG 38:159, line 2; 38:162, line 37. Read Garton for Garton, Surrey.

TAG 39:4, 5, 241. Dr. Thomas Wynne of the Welcome had no "second wife...Elizabeth Buttall, widow of one Rowden." Such a person never existed. Thomas Wynne's "third" (i.e., second) wife, Elizabeth (Mrs. Joshua Maude) had previously been a widow Rawden (or Rowden) and her marriage to Maude in 1667 as "Elizabeth Rawden, widow, 34, Drax," gives all that we know about her. She was almost certainly not the daughter of anyone called Parr and she is more likely to have been born Chorley. For these corrections and supporting documentation, see my article, "Mrs. Thomas Wynne of Philadelphia and Her Family: Corrections to the Pedigree of Wynne and Maude," Pennsylvania Genealogical Magazine,

WELCOME NOTES

By George E. McCracken, Ph.D., F.A.S.G.
Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa

For the background of this second installment in a series, see TAG, supra, vol. 38, pp. 152-163. The next installment is planned for an early issue.

H. The Wynne Family

After William Penn, the most important passenger on the Welcome was probably the surgeon and practitioner of Physick, often anachronistically called "Dr.," Thor Wynne, of Caerwys, Flintshire, North Wales, who was the first speaker of the Pennsylvania Assembly. He was a witness to Thomas Heriott's will executed aboard the ship, and also an executor of Isaac Ingram's, likewise drawn up during the voyage, in which he received a bequest of £5. His name does not, however, appear as a first purchaser unless erroneously as "John Winn" (5,000 acres in partnership), which seems probable. He died in Philadelphia in March 1691/2 and was buried in the Friends Cemetery on Arch Street on the 17th of the same month. His will, dated 15 1st mo. 1691/2, probated 20 2nd mo. 1692 [Publications of the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania 1:84] by the third wife Elizabeth Wynne, calls him practitioner in physick; names wife Elizabeth Wynne; son Jonathan Wynne; children in America: Jonathan, Mary, Rebeckah, Sidney and Hannah; daughter Tabitha (spelled Tibatha) in England. There was a bond of £50, of which £25 was already paid, to brother-in-law Saml Buttall; overseers: with wife, Thomas Lloyd, Dept. Govr, Griffith Owen; witnesses: Arthur Cooke, Phineas Pemberton, Richard Thomas, Theobald Roberts, Mary Holme.

Thomas Wynne married, first, ca. 1655-57, Martha Buttall, daughter of Randall Buttall of Wrexham, whose will was dated 15 June 1680, probated at St. Asaph 1681 mentioning daughter Abigail; Samuel Buttall, eldest son of Nathaniel, eldest son of testator; sons Nathaniel, Samuel, Jonathan; daughter Rebecca; son-in-law Thomas Winne; as well as someone, perhaps a grandchild, named Chales. The will of Jonathan Buttall of Battersea, Surrey, dated 26 Aug. 1695 [Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography 40:239 f.], mentions sister Martha Wynn's children. Martha Buttall was the mother of all the Wynne children and, following her death in 1670, Thomas Wynne married, second, her sister Elizabeth Buttall, widow of one Rowden, and she died ca. 1676 leaving a daughter Elizabeth Rowden who with John ock declared their first intentions at Philadelphia Monthly Meeting, 1 5th mo. 1684, at which meeting her father-in-law (i.e., stepfather), Thomas Wynne, asked for a certificate to go to England with his wife and, being about to depart, requested permission for an earlier marriage. Accordingly, John and Elizabeth again appeared on 5 6th mo. 1684 and were passed. Thomas Wynne married, third, on 20 5th mo. 1676, Elizabeth Parr, of Rainhill, Lancashire, daughter of the Rev. Thomas Parr and widow of Joshua Maude of Wakefield, Yorkshire, by whom she had two daughters, Jane, aged 15/2/1 in 1682, and Marjory, aged 11 1/2 in the same year, when they came to America, not on the Welcome but on the ship Submission, in the log of which they are entered. With them, also on the Submission, was their stepsister, Rebecca Wynne, aged 20 in 1682, daughter of Thomas Wynne by his first wife, Martha Buttall. All three appear in the log as among passengers from Wales, and Jane and Marjory, but not Rebecca, also appear in the Pemberton register of arrivals.

It has been stated, on the basis of what evidence I do not know, that the only son of the physician, Jonathan, came on the Ship Lyons, but on what ship the other members of the family came to America is unknown to me, and I do not know whether the daughter Tabitha had ever come at all—she was in 1692 in England, doubtless when married.

The question now arises as to what ship had the honor of bringing Elizabeth (Parr)(Maude) Wynne to America, where she surely was in 1692. Her name does not occur in the log of the Submission although her two daughters and stepdaughter are there properly registered, and in 1682 they were presumably of such age that presumably they would have required the supervision of a duenna. The statements made above concerning the log are based on personal examination of a photostat of the original now in the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. The document was printed in 1895 by L. Taylor Dickson [Publications of the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania, vol. 1, first article], who remarks that Hannah Logan Smith was in error in stating that Elizabeth Wynne came on the Submission, and that probably she came on the Welcome with her husband, with which conclusion I am happily in agreement. Where Hannah Logan Smith made this statement is unknown unless it was she who in 1885 had transcribed the Pemberton register for publication, for the printed version [Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography 9:231] definitely says: "Jane Mode and Margery Mode, daughters of Thomas Winn, of Walley [Wales?]. His wife came and arrived at the time aforesaid," i.e. on the Submission. The actual document, however, does not have the words which I have underlined, nor any blank space where they could have been read in 1985 and since have faded. They are clearly an interpolation by the transcriber. Dr. Jordan [Colonial and Revolutionary Families, 3:1189-1197] state categorically that Elizabeth Wynne did come on the Submission, but something has gone wrong with the following sentence: "This third wife who survived Dr. Wynn and was named in his will as executrix, did not accompany him to Pennsylvania, but, accompanied by her first husband [sic: Joshua Maude, who had then been dead at least six years] and daughters Jane and Margery Maude, sailed from Liverpool, September 5, 1682, in the Ship 'Submission,'...." As the result of these facts, I am inclined to conclude, as stated above, that Elizabeth Wynne did come on the Welcome with her husband.

There was also in the Wynne household, on the Submission and not on the Welcome, another person whose name, sex, status and subsequent history are all doubtful. The printed version of the Pemberton list calls this person "Harriet Hodges, servant to Thomas Winn," and since it places her, as it does, on the Submission with the three young women, it might be thought that she was a woman of mature years, sent along to chapel one of the three girls. Unfortunately, the actual documents do not support the reading just quoted. The Submission log has at the bottom of the list, considerably below the names of the passengers, as a sort of afterthought, the following:

...and the owners servants for sale

Farclife Hedges & Ellen Holland

At least, that is what appears to me to be the correct reading, but Dickson read the names in 1895 as "Jane-clif Hodges & Ellen Holland," and in discussing the reading, admits that perhaps the reading should be "Farclif Hodges," though certainly not "Harriet." On the other hand, the Pemberton list, which shows the two Maude girls but not their stepsister Rebecca Wynne, does yet have in the same connection "Farclife Hedges apprentice to Thomas Winn." Now in the seventeenth century an apprentice might be regularly called a servant, but I do not think a person who was really a servant in the modern sense would ever be called an apprentice. I am therefore inclined now to think that a person named Hedges, with a given name something like "Farclif," came as a servant on the Submission, passage being borne by the owners of the ship who expected to be reimbursed by selling the services of said servant to some inhabitant of Pennsylvania, and that Thomas Wynn was the subsequent purchaser. It is not quite certain that the sex of this person was male but I think this are probable than female, and if so, one would expect to find subsequently a physician of this name in Pennsylvania. So far as has been discovered, however, the records are completely silent about any physician of this name.

Burlington Monthly Meeting Minutes [Hinshaw, Encyclopedia of American Quaker Genealogy 2:275] show that an Elizabeth Winn of Newtown, Gloucester County, N.J., married there at the house of John Wills, 17 7th mo. 1701, Thomas Sharp of the same place. Though it would have been easy for the widow of the physician to move across Delaware to Newtown, the will of Thomas Sharp, dated 5 8th mo. 1724 [New Jersey Wills 1:412] shows his wife as then Judith, mentions no Wynne, and appears to indicate that he was much younger than the widow of the physician.

A considerable bibliography on Thomas Wynne should be cited: Richard Y. Cook, Ancestry of Thomas Wynne (Philadelphia 1904); T. B. Deem, A Genealogical Summary of the Ancestry of the Welsh Wynnes, who Emigrated to Pennsylvania with William Penn (Knightstown, Indiana, 1907); Thomas Allen Glenn, Welsh Founders of Pennsylvania (Oxford 1911), pp. 98-107; William MacLean Jr., "Dr. Thomas Wynne's Account of his Early Life" [Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography 25:104-108]; Taylor Dickson [Publications of the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania 1:7-13]; John W. Jordan, Colonial and Revolutionary Families of Pennsylvania (New York 1911), 3:1189-1197, the fullest account of the later Wynnes including some living in 1962. See also Howard Lloyd in Thomas Allen Glenn's Merion in the Welsh Tract (Norristown 1896), pp. 261-275 (on the Wynnes and Pennwood); James J. Levick, "John Ap Thomas and His Friends" [Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography 4:301-328, especially 325]; Howard W. Lloyd, Lloyd Manuscripts (Lancaster, Pa., 1912), p. 347.

This Wynne family of Pennsylvania shows no connection with the Wynne family of Virginia lately discussed by Cameron Allen [TAG, supra, 37:234-240; 38:13-19].

I. Two Other "Physicians"

The names of two other persons alleged to have been physicians, and now to be discussed, have never appeared on any of the lists of Welcome passengers, but that they were on the ship is claimed by Caspar Morris, M.D., in his "Contributions to the Medical History of Pennsylvania," read before the Medical Committee of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, 22 May 1826, printed in the 1864 reprint of the first volume of the Memirs of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. WELSH SETTLEMENT OF PENNSYLVANIA

Merioneth, promised and undertook to write up the "sufferings" of the Welsh Friends, in the years past. A subject so enlarged, subsequently, by Friend Besse, that it is only contained in two large printed volumes, since he records the sufferings of Friends in all lands. At the Yearly Meeting at Garthgynvor, near Dolgelly, in 1685, there were in attendance these "gentlemen," who had a part in the founding of the Merion Meeting. Charles Lloyd and Richard Davies, from Montgomeryshire; Roger ap John, and John ap John, and Richard Davies, from Denbighshire. The delegates to the great Yearly Meeting, at London, in 1688, when the Welsh Friends were first represented were Richard Davies, representing North Wales, and James Lewis, South Wales.

And of this John the son of John, the late Dr. Levick, of Philadelphia, said in an address delivered before the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, 13 month, 1893*: "He was the Apostle of Quakerism in Wales," and he "was the direct agent, under Providence, in bringing about changes which resulted in the settlement so largely by Welsh emigrants of the Township of Merion."

And this is the good authority for John ap John, the first minister among Welsh Friends, having been the Father of the "Welsh Tract" in Pennsylvania, and of the variously called Merion, Haverford, or Radnor Monthly Meeting, in it, and it was natural that he should head the committee of Welsh Friends who first interviewed Penn about buying some of his land in America, and removing thither, and as this was but shortly after he had entered into possession, it is possible that John was in Penn's confidence, and had the earliest information of the consummation of his bargain with the King, and suggested to the Welsh to secure the best lands.

*Pennsylvania Mag., XVII, 385, etc.

ARRANGING WELSH SETTLEMENT

The material inducements to purchase his land, and remove to it, that Penn offered, no doubt was made to the Welsh Friends through John ap John, and they can be imagined. Surely they were sufficiently attractive, for a committee, probably gotten together by John, and representing Monthly Meetings of a half dozen Welsh shires, decided upon going to London to interview him personally before investing, for the Welsh were ever a cautious race.

The gentlemen,—who may, or may not have gone in a body,—who sought this conference with Penn on the part of themselves, and the Meetings of which they were members, is the first Roll of Honor connected with "New Wales," "Cambria," or "The Welsh Tract," as the lands, in Penn's Province, in which they became interested, were variously known at first.

These delegates, on the part of the Welsh Friends, who went on this mission, gentlemen all according to land deeds, were:

John ap John, of Ruabon, Denbigshire.
Dr. Thomas Wynne, of Caerwys, Flintshire.
Richard ap Thomas, of Whitford Garne, Flintshire.
Dr. Griffith Owen, of Dolserre, Merionethshire.
Dr. Edward Jones, of Bala, Merionethshire.
John ap Thomas, of Llaithgwm, Merionethshire.
Hugh Roberts, of Llanvawr, Merionethshire.
Thomas Ellis, of Dolserre, Merionethshire.
Charles Lloyd, of Dolobran, Montgomeryshire.
Richard Davies, of Welshpool, Montgomeryshire.
John Bevan, of Treverigg, Glamorganshire.
Lewis ap David, of Llandewy Velfry, Pembrokeshire.

There were others, among them Edward Prichard, William Jenkins, and John Burge, who went to talk with Penn about the same time, but the list aforesaid includes the leaders in the movement for Pennsylvania land (although there is evidence that John Roberts and Robert Owen, who

WELSH LAND COMPANIES

The patentees for 30,000 acres of the "Welsh Tract" lands granted by William Penn, to whom deeds were made out, may be considered self-constituted heads of seven "companies" for the division and sale of this land to the Welsh whom Penn and they hoped would be actual settlers on it, were, with the number of acres each "company" had for sale, as follows:

Co. 1. John ap Thomas, of Llaithgwm, Merionethshire,
Dr. Edward Jones, of Bala, Merionethshire.	5,000
Co. 2. Charles Lloyd, of Dolobran, Montgomeryshire,
Margaret Davies, widow, of Dolobran.....	5,000
Co. 3. John Bevan, of Treverigg, Glamorganshire.	2,000
Co. 4. John ap John, of Ruabon, Denbighshire,
Dr. Thomas Wynne, of Caerwys, Flintshire.	5,000
Co. 5. Lewis ap David, of Llandewy Velfry, Pembroke- shire, . . . . .	3,000
Co. 6. Richard ap Thomas, of Whitford Garne, Flintshire, . . . . .	5,000
Co. 7. Richard Davies, of Welshpool, Montgomery- shire . . . . .	5,000

It was one of Penn's earliest intentions to sell his land in blocks of 5,000 acres, he having adopted the Dutch plan of "patroon concessions." He certainly made his offer attractive to the Welsh by this "concession." It may not have been stated in so many words, but the purchaser of such block was a "patroon" after the Dutch idea, since those with whom he divided the land settled with him, in his grant, and looked on him as their leader, and it was amount, 2. 7mo. 1701. Afterwards, James was astonished to learn that his purchase was not within the Welsh Tract and, on 16. 12mo. 1701, requested a new warrant for Welsh Tract land to this amount, which the Commissioners granted, provided he could find such an amount of unclaimed land in the tract. But it seems he could not, as by his will he devised to his son, Nathan Thomas, lands in Duffrin Mawr.

William Jenkins, by deed of 3. 7mo. 1686, sold 500 acres to Francis Howel, of Lancilio, in Carmarthanshire, who devised 300 acres of the purchase to Thomas Howel, which he sold, by deed 1. 7. 1700, to above James Thomas.

From the number of these sales of land, it might be supposed that Penn had no difficulty in getting rid of his land; but he had, even before Ford's persecution cast a shadow on the titles. For some reason the bottom dropped out of his real estate business after the first boom, and when he supposed 100 "barons" in the "House of Lords"—each to buy 5,000 acres, was too small a number to stop at, he suddenly discovered that he might not be able to have even half that number of "Lords." And his order that "no 1,000 acre lot could be increased contiguously, unless within three years there was a family settled on each 1,000 acres," shows how sparsely the country must have been settled at that period.

In the early land records of Chester Co., for the townships of Radnor and Haverford, there are records of the following early grantees.

* William Sharlow was a London merchant. He purchased from Mr. Penn, by deed dated 2. 5mo. 1683, besides the above, 500 acres, which was laid out and surveyed to him, 30. 7mo. 1684, and named "Mount Ararat." It lay on the Schuylkill, above the Thomas & Jones tract, but not adjoining it, as in Holme's map. Mr. Sharlow's Pennsylvania attorney, by deed of 5. 10mo. 1692, conveyed 150 acres of "Mt. Ararat" to Thomas Potts, who by deed of 2. 2mo. 1695, conveyed his purchase to David Hugh, who sold the same to "Robert Jones, of Meirion, Labourer," or "Robert Jones, Yeoman, of Meirion," who was a son of John ap Thomas.

Page 179. Will of "Daniel Medlicott, of Haverford," signed in the presence of Stephen Evans, John Roberts, and Daniel Meredith, 16. 7. 1688, was proved at Philadelphia, 20 March, 1697-8. He left his estate to his wife, Martha, and mentioned his daughter, Mary Medlicott, and overseers Edward Jones and Francis Howell. He had property "near Schoolkill beyond the Gulf". His widow, Martha, married James Keite (his second wife), who died in 1713.

Page 181. I do not know who was the compiler of the pedigree, so cannot speculate on its authenticity, or reliability, and this, too, since no authorities are given for important statements made, nor are the sources of the information cited, but there is a "long distance" pedigree of Dr. Thomas Wynne printed in page 618, of Jordan's "Colonial Families of Philadelphia." It says that the Doctor was the son of Thomas ap John Wynne, and that "he was born in parish of Yskeiviog, near Caerwys, Flintshire." The Doctor's immediate pedigree as given, runs,

"John ap Rees ap John Wynne" married at Bodfari church, 29 Oct. 1588, Grace Morgan. (It is not known when either died). "Their only son,"

"Thomas ap John Wynne," lived on Brovedog farm in Yskeiviog parish. He was bapt. at Yskeiviog par. church 20 Dec. 1589. (His wife's name not given). (According to the Doctor's statement, his father died about 1638). "He had five sons. His third and fourth were," brother Samuel Humphrey was the father of Daniel and Benjamin Humphrey, and three daughters.

JOHN AP JOHN, of Plas Ifa, in Ruabon parish, Denbighshire, as has already been told, did not come to Pennsylvania, and died 16. 9mo. 1697, at Whitehough Manor, in Staffordshire, having long before disposed of all his Pennsylvania lands.

THOMAS WYNNE (or Gynn, fair haired), was called a "practitioner of physick" in an early mention of him. Watson, in his "Annals of Philadelphia," states that "Dr. Wynne was an eminent Welsh physician," who had "practiced medicine several years with high reputation in London," and that his brother, also a physician, came over with him in 1682, but this brother is not clearly identified, unless he was the John Wynne, a lawyer in Sussex Co. (Del.), in 1687, or was the "John Wynn, chyrurgeon," whose will was proved at Annapolis, Md., in 1684. But the latter may have been the son, or of the family, of Thomas Wynn (son of Gruffydd Wynn, of Bryn yr Owen (ap Richard John Wynn), of Trefechan, near Wrexham, in Denbighshire, who was in Maryland as early as in 1671, and was a sub-sheriff, in 1678, and doorkeeper of the House of Assembly, of Maryland.

In a pamphlet issued by Dr. Wynne, in 8mo. 1679, replying to the attack, entitled "Work for a Cooper," by one William Jones, on his defense of the antiquity of the Quakers, who challenged the claim of Dr. Wynne having any knowledge of the practice of medicine and surgery, saying he was only a cooper by trade, and also "The Ale-Man, the Quack, and the Speaking Quaker," Dr. Wynne tells of his youth, and how he came to be called a physician and surgeon. He says, "my genius from a child had lead me to surgery, inso-much that before I was ten years old I several times overran my school and home when I heard of any one's being wounded, or hurt, and used all my endeavours then to set the fractures and dislocations reduced and wounds dressed."

WELSH SETTLEMENT OF PENNSYLVANIA

He says his father died before he was eleven years old, (therefore, the Doctor could not have been identical with Thomas, baptised 1 Feb. 1636, who had a brother John, both living in 1665, when their father, William Wynne's, a son of Sir John Wynne, of Gwydis, Bart., will was proved, as has been suggested), and left his family poor, and "mother not being able to produce so great a sum as to set me to Chyrurgery, I betook myself to this honest and necessary calling he upbraids me with," referring to his having learned the occupation and trade of cooper. "Yet, during all this time (while a cooper's apprentice), I left no opportunity to inform myself in the practice of Chyrurgery, and continued this untill I became acquainted with an honest Friend and good Artist in Chyrurgery, whose name was Richard Moore, of Salop, who, seeing my forwardness to Chyrurgery, did further me in it, and brought me to Defecations in Salop, the Anatomists being men of known worth in practice, whose names are Dr. Needham and Dr. Hallins."

Continuing, he says, after he had learned enough and was able, with the assistance of Dr. Moore, "to set up a Skelliton of a man's bones," the afore-mentioned doctors "thought me fit to be licensed the practice of Chyrurgery, and this is near 20 years ago."

Shortly after being licensed to practice medicine and surgery, Dr. Wynne became too prominent in Quaker affairs, and was arrested and imprisoned for six years in Denbighshire, and when released, he continues: "I betook myself wholly to the practice of Chyrurgery," and says he became a remarkable expert "in the use of the Plaister Box and Salvatory, the Trafine and Head Saw, the Amputation Saw, and the Catling, the Cautery, Sirring and Catheter," . . . "to the great comfort of many, some of them desperately wounded by Gun Shots, others pierced thorow with Rapiers."

Coming over in the "Welcome" he must have been a busy doctor, as nearly all the passengers and the crew were taken ill with the smallpox, and thirty were buried at sea en route for Pennsylvania. One of the passengers executed his will, signed 19 Sept. 1682, which was proved at Philadelphia, and with its germs, is preserved in the office of the Register of Wills. It was witnessed by Dr. Wynne, who sealed with a coat of arms, "gules; a three-turreted castle, argent," which arms were his own, but only in American fashion, by adoption, as they were the arms of the first husband of his third wife, Joshua Maud.

In connection with Dr. Wynne's professional life, we have from the minutes of the Quarterly Meeting of Merionethshire, Montgomeryshire, and Shropshire, which met "under the care of Charles Lloyd, Richard Davies, Thomas Lloyd, and Richard Moore," (familiar names in the Welsh Tract), at Dolobran, in 1668, that the said Richard Moore, of Shrewsbury, (who had been the instructor of Dr. Wynne), died in this year, leaving a son, Mordecai Moore, a minor and without money. For the love the Friends had for the lad's father, the Quarterly Meeting appointed a committee to learn what occupation would be suitable for him, and what he "had a taste for." The result was the committee found the "poor boy" had the desire to be a "chirurgion Barber," so a collection was taken up at the Quarterly Meeting "to bind him as an apprentice to some reliable barber-surgeon." It was decided to send him as an apprentice for seven years to Thomas Wynne, of Caerwys, in Flintshire, and John ap John was instructed to see the arrangement was made, and the boy delivered to Mr. Wynne. Subsequently, this boy came to Maryland, and married Deborah, a daughter of Gov. Thomas Lloyd, of Pennsylvania.

From this minute, we learn that Thomas Wynne, in 1668, was a barber-surgeon, or a barber who practiced surgery, and cupping and bleeding, with some knowledge of the use and effect of herbs, and from his own statement, that he never acquired the degree of M.D. from a university.

WELSH SETTLEMENT OF PENNSYLVANIA

The place of the birth of Dr. Wynne, and his parentage is unknown, though it may possibly have been in Flintshire, where he resided, in 1682, at Bronvadog, near Caerwys.* The minutes of the Merion Preparative Meeting 5. 11mo. 1704, record that Dr. Edward Jones filed an account of Dr. Wynne; his parentage, home life, conversion, etc., but it has disappeared, otherwise we could know more of him. Dr. Wynne was probably one of John ap John's earliest converts to Quakerism, about 165—, and became himself an accepted minister among the Welsh Friends. He published in 1677, when living at "Caerwys," near the palace of the Lord Bishop, a pamphlet, "The Antiquity of the Quakers," defending Friends' teachings.

The full titles of this pamphlet, and that containing the abusive attack on it, both extant, are quaint, and of the manner of the time:— The Antiquity of the Quakers, Proved out of the Scriptures of Truth. Published in Love to the Papists, Protestants, Presbyterians, Independents, and Anabaptists. With a Salutation of Pure Love to All the Tender-hearted Welshmen. But more especially to Flintshire, Denbighshire, Caernarvonshire, and Anglesea. By their Countryman and Friend, Thomas Wynne. Part of it is in Welsh, and "your real friend, Thomas Wynne," wrote it at "Carwys y mis yr ail dydd 1677."

The title of Mr. Jones' effusion:— Work for a Cooper. Being an Answer to a Libel written by Tho Wynne the Coop-

*If it is any suggestion as to the Doctor's ancestry, his son Jonathan named his seat in Blockley, "Wynnstay," or "Wynnestay," (i.e., Wynne's Field), and there was an estate by this designation near Ruabon and Wrexham, in Denbighshire, in the Doctor's time, in which vicinity he resided prior to removal to Pennsylvania. The late Howard Williams Lloyd had the parish Registers, and all the Wynne wills in Flintshire, that would possibly give a clue to the Doctor's ancestry, examined, but got only the information that at that period Wynne, sometimes Gwin, was a common name in North Wales. The most prominent family of the surname was that of Gwydir House, of which there is a printed history, and it was to this family that "Wynnstay" belonged.

er, the Ale-Man, the Quack, and the Speaking Quaker. With a brief Account how that Dissembling People differ at this Day from what at first they were. By one who abundantly pities their Ignorance and Folly. London. Printed by J. C. for S. C., at the Prince of Wales Arms near the Royal Exchange. MDCLXXIX. The writer thought the Doctor "is ignorant in his very trade of Quack * * * Chyrurgery," and that "he's much fitter to mind his Ax and saw, the Joynter, and the Adz, the Crisle, and the Head knife, the Spoak & the Round Shreve, the Dowling, and the Tapir Bitts, the Tap and Bungbore." This brought out a reply from the Doctor entitled:— An Anti-Christian Conspiracy Detected, and Satan's Champion Defeated.

In 1682, he and Charles Lloyd (Co. No. 2), and Richard Davies, (Co. No. 7), who were subsequently also grantees, and "trustees" for large tracts of Pennsylvania land, went to Whitehall, London, to see the Secretary of State, and intercede for the Friends of Bristol, who were being badly treated, and received a "fair promise." They themselves had known what it was to "suffer." Joseph Besse, in his book of "The Sufferings of the People Called Quakers," tells that Nathaniel Buttall, Bryan Sixsmith (draper), and Thomas Gwin, and others, "being met together in their own hired house at Wrexham [were] taken to the Common Goal at Writhen," in Dec. 1661. And at another time, when Thomas Wynn and 23 others "were on their way to the Meeting House at White Hart Court, [in London], they were arrested in Angel Court, and sent to prison." On 8. 10mo. they were tried at Guildhall, charged with "being guilty of a riotous assembly, with force and arms," in White Hart Court. All pleaded not guilty, as they had not yet been in White Hart Court, and were only passing through Angel Court. However, as both places were in the same ward, and a woman had preached in the street, they were all confined in Newgate till they raised the money to pay the fines.

WELSH SETTLEMENT OF PENNSYLVANIA

He joined the Welshmen who went to London, in May, 1681, to interview William Penn about his Pennsylvania lands, and becoming interested himself, became a co-trustee, as said, with John ap John, for 5,000 acres, and from this time he was an intimate of the Proprietary for several years, and came over with him on the ship "Welcome," which sailed 30. 6mo. 1682, and arrived here in the 8mo. following, which was a memorable voyage for many reasons. There were upwards of 100 Quaker immigrants from Penn's home county, Sussex, on the ship.

As to this voyage of ship "Welcome," the London Gazette, (No. 1752), in the issue of 31 Aug.—4 Sept. 1682, printed this dispatch:—"Deal. Aug. 30th. [1682]. There are now in the downs, outward bound, two or three merchantships for Pennsylvania." And, in issue of 4 Sept.—7 Sept. 1682.—"Deal, Sept. 2d. Two days since sailed out of the downs three ships bound for Pensilvania, on board of which was Mr. Pen, with a great many Quakers, who go to settle there."

Here is an extract from a fictitious letter addressed to John Higginson, written in Oct. 1682, it was said, by the reputedly pious, Rev. Dr. Cotton Mather, of Boston:—"There is now at sea a shipp (for our friend Elias Holcroft, of London, did advise me by the last packet that it would leave some time in August), called the Welcome, which has aboard it a hundred or more of the hereticks and malignants called Quakers, with William Penn, the scamp, at the head of them. The General Court has accordingly given instructions to Master Michael Haxett, of the brig Porpoise, to waylay said Welcome as near the end of Cod [Cape Cod, Mass.], as may be, and make capture of Penn and his ungodly crew, so that the Lord may be glorified and not mocked on the soil of this new country with the heathen worshipp of these people. Much spoil may be made by selling the whole lot to Barba-does, where slaves fetch good prices in rumme and sugar." Signed: "Yours in the bonds of Christ, Cotton Mather."

This alleged "extract" created considerable of a sensation when it was started on the rounds of the newspapers. It was thought it would not have been beneath this device to take such a fling at the Quakers, therefore the letter, which was addressed to Rev. Mr. Higginson, "at New Port," (Rhode Island), was believed to be genuine. But, after investigators failed to see, or locate such a letter, and on making the discovery that Mr. Higginson was not then living at Newport, but was then established as the minister at Salem, Mass., and knowing that Mather was then only 19 years old, the story of the attempt to kidnap Mr. Penn was pronounced a fake, when several people had the assurance to come forward and each claim, for the fame there was in it, to have been the perpetrator of the "joke on the historians."

It may be presumed that Dr. Wynne passed his first winter here with Penn, at Upland and at New Castle, looking after the small-pox patients, and accompanied him to New York and to Baltimore, on business trips, taking as many of the germs along as possible.

He was chosen by Penn as a member, and his representative possibly, in the first preliminary assembly of delegates from the settlements on the Delaware and Schuylkill, held at Upland, 4. 10mo. 1682, and was appointed a member of the committee to "petition" Penn for a constitution for his Province. And when the first organized Assembly was held in Philadelphia 12. 1mo. 1682-3, he was chosen one of the members to represent Philadelphia Co. in it, possibly by the Welsh, and was selected speaker at the first meeting.

He was present at the first Monthly Meeting of Friends, held in Philadelphia, on 9. 11mo. 1682-3, and was appointed of the committee to select and secure the site for the Philadelphia Meeting House, in Second street, and was a member of the building committee.

It is claimed that his brick dwelling in the west side of Front Street, above Chestnut Street, was the first brick house erected in the town. The street now called Chestnut was originally called Wynne.

In the 6mo. of 1684, he went to England on a business matter, probably with William Penn, in the ketch "Endeavour," sailing from Philadelphia 12. 6mo. 1684, and, on his return, went to Lewes to reside, which then was a more desirable place than Philadelphia for a residence. Here he became a justice of Sussex County, in 3mo. 1687, and a representative of that county in the Assembly, 3mo. 1688.

He died while attending a meeting of the Assembly, in Philadelphia, on 16. 1mo. 1692, and was buried the next day in the Friends' ground, Philadelphia. His will, dated 16. 1mo. 1691-2, was proved at Philadelphia 20. 2mo. 1692, the overseers named being Thomas Lloyd, the Dep. Gov., and Dr. Griffith Owen, the Provincial Councillor. He named his wife, Elizabeth, his brother-in-law, Samuel Buttall, (to whom he owed £25), and his children as below. The only land he mentioned was what he owned at Lewes, valued at £80, which went to his wife and then to son Jonathan, to whom he also gave 200 acres on Cedar Creek, Sussex Co., valued at £20. His personalty amounted to £430. 1. 3., including 3 negroes, valued at £60, and one "servant."

According to the Minutes of the Provincial Council, 6 Oct. 1693, Charles Pickering (who had been convicted of passing counterfeit money in Philadelphia, by the first Court, see Minute of 28. 8. 1683), "in behalf of the widdow Wynne, having preferred a pe'tion to the Leivt. Governor and Council, setting forth that her Husband, Thomas Wynne, Late of Sussex Countie, deceased, had been Sumoned to the Court of New Castle, to ans'r the Complaint of Adam Short and others. But falling sick, dyed 3 or 4 hours befor Judgm't past ag't him, att the said Court, and that the originall proces ag't her husband was by a wrong name, and therefore requested that the execu'on be stopt, and that the pe'tionr have a fair tryall." The clerk's record of the New Castle Court being produced, and it was found the petitioner's husband's name was written "Thomas Guin." The Council ordered the matter before the next Provincial Court to be held for Sussex Co., and that in the meantime execution be suspended.

Dr. Thomas Wynne* was married three times.* He married first, possibly at Wrexham, Denbighshire, Martha Butall, about 1655-57, by Morgan Lloyd, who sent John ap John to "try out" Fox's teaching. She was the sister of Jonathan Butall, sugar baker, of the Surry side of the Thames, and was named, with her brother Samuel, in his will, signed 26 Aug. 1695. Her issue was to be his heirs on failure of his own. She died about 1670, and is presumed to have been the mother of all of Dr. Wynne's children.

Dr. Wynne married secondly, a widow named Rowden, who by her first husband was the mother of Elizabeth, who m. in Philadelphia Monthly Meeting, 5. 6mo. 1684, John Brock, of Philadelphia. She died in 1675-6.

Dr. Wynne married thirdly, 20. 5mo. 1676 (record of Monthly Meeting of Hardshaw East, in Lancashire), Elizabeth Parr, widow of Joshua Maud, who survived him. When he married her, who came to Pennsylvania with him, he was living at Caerwys, Flintshire. Her daughter, Margery Maud, married at Lewes, Thomas Fisher, a quibus Fisher family of Philadelphia.

He married Elizabeth Maud, or Mode, of Rainhill, Lancashire, at the dwelling of John Chorley, and among the signers of their certificates were John and Alice Barnes; Bruen, William, and Ester Sixsmith; Samuel, Alice, and Margaret Dunbabin; John, Alice, and Mary Southworth.

But his wife, Elizabeth, did not come in the same ship with the Doctor. According to the extant log, 6. 7mo. to 21. 8mo. 1682, of the "Submission," one of the vessels which sailed with the "Welcome," she was a passenger on that ship, and was accompanied by her daughters, Jane and Margery, whose surnames appears as "Mode," and the Doctor's daughter, Rebecca Wynne.

WELSH SETTLEMENT OF PENNSYLVANIA

By deed of 3. 3mo. 1688, Dr. Wynne bought for his wife, an island in "the Broad Kill Marshes," in the Schuylkill, near its mouth. After his death, his relict, by deed of gift dated 1. 12mo. 1693, conveyed this island, which, on survey of 5mo. 1701, contained 175 acres, to her daughter, Margery, and husband, Thomas Fisher, and then it became known as Fisher's Island, but subsequently was called Province Island, and was the location of hospitals.

Of the children of Dr. Wynne* by his first wife, Jonathan Wynne, only son and heir. It is not known when, nor where he was born, nor how old he was when he came to Pennsylvania, and it is only presumed he was the youngest child, and that he came with his father, either on his first trip in the "Welcome," or his subsequent trip.

We have seen that Jonathan was to receive, after his step-mother's death, the homestead near the town of Lewes, and 200 acres on Cedar Creek, in Sussex Co., (Del.). After his father's death, he began investigating both the land transactions of "John & Wynne," and his father's personal operations in the Welsh Tract.

He made it out that only 1,850 acres of the 2,500 acres of his father's land had been located and sold by him, and that there was thus 650 acres due him, besides 50 acres of the Liberty lands, as bonus; this besides the 100 acres due on the joint account, mentioned above. He went before the Land Commissioners, Edward Shippen, Griffith Owen and James Logan, 18. 4mo. 1705, and presented his claim, as he understood it.

The decision of the Commission as to the 100 acres was made as above, and from the Surveyor General's office it found that 2,125 acres of Dr. Wynne's 2,500 acres could be accounted for. That is, he had sold to Thomas Taylor 500 acres, to John Bevan 300 acres, to Richard Orme 150 acres, to Humphrey Bettly 125 acres, to Richard Crosby 500 acres, and to Mary Southworth 300 acres, and had retained for himself 250 acres in Radnor. The Commission also found some evidence that the Doctor had sold some land to Roger Andrews and to Trial Rider, but not the amount.

Of the Doctor's 250 acres, in Radnor, the Commission learned that it was confirmed to him by patent, dated 29. 6mo. 1684, and that, of this land, he had sold 200 acres to Howel James, of Radnor, by deed of 9. 10mo. 1687 (who sold 100 acres out of the tract to David Evan, and 100 acres to his son, William James, who also sold to David Evan, by deed, dated 26. 11mo. 1689), and had conveyed the balance, 50 acres, to Hugh Williams.

The Commissioners decided to throw out the possible sales to Andrews and Rider, after investigating for two years, and in 7mo. 1707, and granted a warrant to Jonathan for 400 acres even, which he was authorized to lay out in the Welsh Tract if possible, that is, if he could find so much untaken land therein. "The Commission considered that Dr. Wynne's son had all, and more, that was coming to him from his father's grant," was its recorded opinion. This land, 400 acres, was finally laid out in the Chester Valley.

As to the 50 acres of Liberty land, claimed due by Jonathan to complete his father's purchase, the Commission found out that his brother-in-law, Dr. Edward Jones, of Merion, had acquired, in some way not revealed, 10 acres of it, so a warrant for 40 acres only of this choice land was given him, which was laid out to him in the Liberty lands, or Blockley tp., southeast of the present settlement of Bala, just without the township of Merion. Here Jonathan erected a stone house, which he named "Wynnestay," after the Welsh seat mentioned, or, as is also said, "Wynne Stay," for he proposed to stay here till he died, which he did. The property remained in the possession of this Wynne family till after the close of the Revolutionary War. Since that time it has passed through the hands of several owners, and several years ago was completely "remodelled." In September, 1910, it was leased for Miss Hannah Smedley to Mr. Alvin Ehret.

Jonathan also was granted a lot, 60 by 300 feet, in High (Market) street, in the city, due also on account of his father. This he devised to two of his daughters, Hannah and Mary, to be equally divided between them. He devised to his other three daughters, minors, 400 acres in The Great Valley, "Great Meadows," or Chester Valley, where he had also acquired by purchase 500 acres which he divided between his sons, Thomas and John.

The will of "Jonathan Wynne, of Blockley, yeoman," dated 29 Jan. 1719, was proved 17 May, 1721, by his wife, Sarah. Overseers appointed, "brother-in-law Edward Jones and Daniel Humphreys"; if they died before him, then John Cadwalader and Jon. Jones. The witnesses were Rowland Ellis, Thomas Jones, and Edward Jones. He was buried at the Merion Meeting House, 28. 12mo. (Feb.) 1720-1. His widow, Sarah, was also buried here, 27. 2mo. 1744. He had by his wife, Sarah, whose surname has not been preserved, (unless it was Graves, or Greave, as there is reason to believe), married possibly at Lewes, about 1700-1, eight children mentioned in his will, and a son James, who was buried at the Merion Meeting House, 24. 8mo. 1714, namely, Thomas, his heir, who was to have the homestead (near Bala) after his mother's death, John, Jonathan, Hannah, Mary, Sidney, Martha and Elizabeth.

Rudnor<sup>2</sup> but repeats the old name of Radnor in Wales, and Haverford (aberr-ford, the ford at the confluence,) tells the story that it was from Haverford West in South Wales the early settlers in this immediate vicinity came, while Merion, in the new world, takes up and in itself continues a name which has had a topographical meaning for more than a thousand years. Meirion, as it is often written, in the old provincial records, and as it was originally called in the Welsh language, is but a slight modification of the name of that British prince, or king as he is sometimes called, who, as Meyreon, Meirion, Meiriawn ruled over a part of Britain in the early part of the eighth century, and who gave his name, even then, to his own domain, which it has since retained, and which, as Merionethshire, has been a county of North Wales since the year of our era 1284. It was from Merionethshire, North Wales, that the settlers on the land, which now lies north of the Pennsylvania Railroad, near Philadelphia, chiefly came, and of one or two of them and their families that it is proposed in this paper to write. The information thus given is derived from papers brought here by these emigrants themselves, or written by them contemporaneously with the settlement, which have been transmitted by them to their descendants.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>2</sup> The names of Radnor and of Haverford, like that of Merion, are both of very ancient date. Radnor is mentioned in Welsh history, even so early as A. D. 1196, as having been burned by an invading foe. Haverford had its Castle so early as the year 1112 A. D., and Giraldus Cambrensis gives the account of "a preaching tour" made there by Archbishop Baldwin and himself in the year of our era 1118. He reports that they were most kindly received by the Haverfordians and their religious services gratefully acknowledged.

name being that of his ancestral home in Wales. He returned to America bringing his family with him in the year 1697. The certificate of removal, granted him by the meeting of which he was a member, bears date : Garthgynfawr, y<sup>e</sup> 7th of 11th month, 1696. It says of him and his wife Margaret that "they are such as we dearly love and have been serviseable to truth, and ready and open hearted to receive and entertain the followers thereof, and zealous for the Lord and his blessed cause; carefully diligent for meetings and the affairs of the Church of God. We therefore commend them unto you in the love of God, tenderly wishing that their removal may be for their temporal and eternal felicity. Soe we thus for, and in the said Bearers behalfe, thought fit to acquaint friends where they may come; and are your friends and brethren." "Signed Lewis Owen, Rowland Owen, David Jones, & others."

Rowland Ellis took an active part in the new colony, "being much consulted because of his sound judgment in all cases civil or religious." The memorial prepared by Gwynedd Monthly Meeting respecting him, says, he had a gift in the ministry which was acceptable and to edification. He was careful in educating his children religiously by timely endeavoring to inculcate in them the principles of piety and virtue; a practice tending thereto was having meetings frequently in his family, which he long continued. He died at the house of his son-in-law, John Evans, in the eightieth year of his age, and was buried at Friends' burying-ground, at Plymouth, 7mo. 1729.

Thomas Wynne was born in Caeuwys, Flintshire, North Wales, and came to America in the ship Welcome with William Penn. He took an active part in the early history of Pennsylvania, was Speaker of the first Provincial Assembly held in Philadelphia. He was also a preacher among Friends, and wrote several controversial tracts, a few copies of which are still extant. He died 1 mo. 16, 1692, and was buried in Friends' burying-ground, in Philadelphia. In his last will and testament, a copy of which has been kindly furnished the writer by Dr. William Kent Gilbert, bearing date the 15th day of the first month, 1691, he calls himself Thomas Wynne, practitioner of physick. He appoints his dear friends Thomas Lloyd, deputy governor of this Province, and Griffith Owen, to be overseers of his will. His daughter Mary was the wife of Edward Jones, who settled at Merion in the year 1682. For one, among many notices of Dr. Wynne, see Philadelphia Friend, vol. 27, p. 228.

Hugh Roberts, or Hugh ap Robert, as his name is sometimes written, was one of the most useful of the associates of William Penn in his new settlement. Like his friend Rowland Ellis he had been greatly persecuted at home because of his Quakerism, several instances of which are on record in Besse's Sufferings of Friends (Article Wales), and his name is on the business affairs and their public spirit, the Fishers were thus prominent among Friends and also in the community, and consequently their silent influence was greatly feared but perhaps exaggerated by the Revolutionary party. Pike, the dancing master and swordsman, was among the exiles, and it may be supposed he turned the red coat in which Graydon saw him in Reading, for Mr. Fisher relates that he escaped from Winchester. In that town the exiles lost by death Thomas Gilpin and John Hunt. The others passed eight dreary months of separation from their families, and at last were released, "unheard and untried," under a resolution of Congress which declared, "Their longer remaining in exile was a dangerous precedent on a future occasion, and answered no good purpose."

So notable a thing as the cake called A. P.'s should not be passed over slightly. They were excellent and of wide-extended fame in the earlier part of the century. Their name was derived from the initials of their maker, Ann Page. Her small frame house in Second Street, two doors north of Carter's Alley, was no doubt the scene where many a Master Slender of the day sighed in vain.

Chestnut Street was at first called Wynne, after Dr. Thomas Wynne, of Wales, who came here in the good ship Welcome with William Penn. The founder had desired his province to be called Sylvania, but yielding obedience to his monarch's pleasure he submitted to its being called Pennsylvania. It was indeed a sylvan scene—earth never saw a fairer—and so, as a matter of course, the streets of the city, that he doubted not was to be one of the mighty ones of the world, were to be named after the trees of the beautiful forest that then covered almost all of the land.

On page 164 of this volume it is stated that Andrew Bradford's printing office was on the west side of Second Street. "Thomas Bradford the eldest son of William Bradford and Rachel, the daughter of Thomas Budd, was born May 4, 1745, O. S., at the S. E. corner of Black Horse Alley and Second Street." It is most probable, therefore, that Andrew Bradford's office was at the same place.

WELCOME NOTES

By George E. McCracken, Ph.D., F.A.S.G.
Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa

H. The Wynne Family

After William Penn, the most important passenger of the Welcome was probably the surgeon and practitioner of Physick, often anachronistically called "Dr.," Thor Wynne, of Caerwys, Flintshire, North Wales, who was the first speaker of the Pennsylvania Assembly. He was a witness to Thomas Heriott's will executed aboard the ship, and also an executor of Isaac Ingram's, likewise drawn up during the voyage, in which he received a bequest of £5. His name does not, however, appear as a first purchaser unless erroneously as "John Winn" (5,000 acres in partnership), which seems probable. He died in Philadelphia in March 1691/2 and was buried in the Friends Cemetery on Arch Street on the 17th of the same month. His will, dated 15 1st mo. 1691/2, probated 20 2nd mo. 1692 [Publications of the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania 1:84] by the third wife Elizabeth Wynne, calls him practitioner in physick; names wife Elizabeth Wynne; son Jonathan Wynne; children in America: Jonathan, Mary, Rebeckah, Sidney and Hannah; daughter Tabitha (spelled Tibatha) in England. There was a bond of £50, of which £25 was already paid, to brother-in-law Saml Buttall; overseers: with wife, Thomas Lloyd, Dept. Govr, Griffith Owen; witnesses: Arthur Cooke, Phineas Pemberton, Richard Thomas, Theobald Roberts, Mary Holme.

Thomas Wynne married, first, ca. 1655-57, Martha Buttall, daughter of Randall Buttall of Wrexham, whose will was dated 15 June 1680, probated at St. Asaph 1681 mentioning daughter Abigail; Samuel Buttall, eldest son of Nathaniel, eldest son of testator; sons Nathaniel, Samuel, Jonathan; daughter Rebecca; son-in-law Thomas Winne; as well as someone, perhaps a grandchild, named Chales. The will of Jonathan Buttall of Battersea, Surrey, dated 26 Aug. 1695 [Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography 40:239 f.], mentions sister Martha Wynn's children. Martha Buttall was the mother of all the Wynne children and, following her death in 1670, Thomas Wynne married, second, ~~her sister Elizabeth Buttall, widow of one Rowden, and she died ca. 1676 leaving a daughter Elizabeth Rowden who with John~~ rock declared their first intentions at Philadelphia Monthly Meeting, 1 5th mo. 1684, at which meeting her father-in-law (i.e., stepfather), Thomas Wynne, asked for a certificate to go to England with his wife and, being about to depart, requested permission for an early marriage. Accordingly, John and Elizabeth again appeared on 5 6th mo. 1684 and were passed. Thomas Wynne married, ~~third~~, on 20 5th mo. 1676, Elizabeth ~~Parr~~, of Rainhill, Lancashire, ~~daughter of the Rev. Thomas Parr~~ and widow of Joshua Maude of Wakefield, Yorkshire, by whom she had two daughters, Jane, aged 15/2/1 in 1682, and Marjory, aged 11 1/2 in the same year, when they came to America, not on the Welcome but on the ship Submission, in the log of which they are entered. With them, also on the Submission, was their stepsister, Rebecca Wynne, aged 20 in 1682, daughter of Thomas Wynne by his first wife, Martha Buttall. All three appear in the log as among passengers from Wales, and Jane and Marjory, but not Rebecca, also appear in the Pemberton register of arrivals.

It has been stated, on the basis of what evidence I do not know, that the only son of the physician, Jonathan, came on the Ship Lyons, but on what ship the other members of the family came to America is unknown to me, and I do not know whether the daughter Tabitha had ever come at all—she was in 1692 in England, doubtless then married.

The question now arises as to what ship had the honor of bringing Elizabeth (~~Parr~~)(Maude) Wynne to America, where she surely was in 1692. Her name does not occur in the log of the Submission although her two daughters and stepdaughter are there properly registered, and in 1682 they were presumably of such age that presumably they would have required the supervision of a duenna. The statements made above concerning the log are based on personal examination of a photostat of the original now in the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. The document was printed in 1895 by L. Taylor Dickson [Publications of the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania, vol. 1, first article], who remarks that Hannah Logan Smith was in error in stating that Elizabeth Wynne came on the Submission, and that probably she came on the Welcome with her husband, with which conclusion I am happily in agreement. Where Hannah Logan Smith made this statement is unknown unless it was she who in 1885 had transcribed the Pemberton register for publication, for the printed version [Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography 9:231] definitely says: "Jane Mode and Margery Mode, daughters of Thomas Winn, of Walley [Wales?]. His wife came and arrived at the time aforesaid," i.e. on the Submission. The actual document, however, does not have the words which I have underlined, nor any blank space where they could have been read in 1885 and since have faded. They are clearly an interpolation by the transcriber. Dr. Jordan [Colonial and Revolutionary Families, 3:1189-1197] state categorically that Elizabeth Wynne did come on the Submission, but something has gone wrong with the following sentence: "This third wife who survived Dr. Wynn and was named in his will as executrix, did not accompany him to Pennsylvania, but, accompanied by her first husband [sic: Joshua Maude, who had then been dead at least six years] and daughters Jane and Margery Maud sailed from Liverpool, September 5, 1682, in the Submission, '....' As the result of these facts, I inclined to conclude, as stated above, that Elizabeth Wynne did come on the Welcome with her husband.

There was also in the Wynne household, on the Submission and not on the Welcome, another person whose name, sex, status and subsequent history are all doubtful. The printed version of the Pemberton list calls this person "Harriet Hodges, servant to Thomas Winn," and since it places her, as it does, on the Submission with the three young women, it might be thought that she was a woman of mature years, sent along to chaperone the three girls. Unfortunately, the actual documents do not support the reading just quoted. The Submission log has at the bottom of the list, considerably below the names of the passengers, as a sort of afterthought, the following:

hed the owners servants for sale

Farcliffe Hedges & Ellen Holland

At least, that is what appears to me to be the correct reading, but Dickson read the names in 1895 as "Jane-cliff Hodges & Ellen Holland," and in discussing the reading, admits that perhaps the reading should be "Farcliffe Hodges," though certainly not "Harriet." On the other hand, the Pemberton list, which shows the two Maude girls but not their stepsister Rebecca Wynne, does yet have in the same connection "Farcliffe Hedges apprentice to Thomas Winn." Now in the seventeenth century an apprentice might be regularly called a servant, but I do not think a person who was really a servant in the modern sense would ever be called an apprentice. I am therefore inclined now to think that a person named Hedges, with a given name something like "Farcliffe," came as a servant on the Submission, passage being borne by the owners of the ship who expected to be reimbursed by selling the services of said servant to some inhabitant of Pennsylvania, and that Thomas Wynn was the subsequent purchaser. It is not quite certain that the sex of this person was male but I think this are probable than female, and if so, one would expect to find subsequently a physician of this name in Pennsylvania. So far as has been discovered, however, the records are completely silent about any physician of this name.

Burlington Monthly Meeting Minutes [Hinshaw, Encyclopedia of American Quaker Genealogy 2:275] show that an Elizabeth Winn of Newtown, Gloucester County, N.J., married there at the house of John Wills, 17 7th mo. 1701, Thomas Sharp of the same place. Though it would have been easy for the widow of the physician to move across the Delaware to Newtown, the will of Thomas Sharp, dated 5 8th mo. 1724 [New Jersey Wills 1:412] shows his life as then Judith, mentions no Wynne, and appears to indicate that he was much younger than the widow of the physician.

A considerable bibliography on Thomas Wynne should be cited: Richard Y. Cook, Ancestry of Thomas Wynne (Philadelphia 1904); T. B. Deem, A Genealogical Summary of the Ancestry of the Welsh Wynnes, who Emigrated to Pennsylvania with William Penn (Knightstown, Indiana, 1907); Thomas Allen Glenn, Welsh Founders of Pennsylvania (Oxford 1911), pp. 98-107; William MacLean Jr., "Dr. Thomas Wynne's Account of his Early Life" [Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography 25:104-108]; Taylor Dickson [Publications of the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania 1:7-13]; John W. Jordan, Colonial and Revolutionary Families of Pennsylvania (New York 1911), 3:1189-1197, the fullest account of the later Wynnes including some living in 1962. See also Howard Lloyd in Thomas Allen Glenn's Merion in the Welsh tract (Norristown 1896), pp. 261-275 (on the Wynnes and Wynnewood); James J. Levick, "John Ap Thomas and His Friends" [Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography 4:301-328, especially 325]; Howard W. Lloyd, Lloyd Manuscripts (Lancaster, Pa., 1912), p. 347.

This Wynne family of Pennsylvania shows no connection with the Wynne family of Virginia lately discussed by Cameron Allen [TAG, supra, 37:234-240; 38:13-19].

I. Two Other "Physicians"

The names of two other persons alleged to have been physicians, and now to be discussed, have never appeared on any of the lists of Welcome passengers, but that they were on the ship is claimed by Caspar Morris, M.D., in his "Contributions to the Medical History of Pennsylvania," read before the Medical Committee of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, 22 May 1826, printed in the 1864 reprint of the first volume of the Memories of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. # Mother of Year

Family Is Central Point in Fordyce Woman's Life

By JUDI NORTON
Women's News Editor

"My mother is a remarkable human being. I have never known another person so unselfish, so devoted, so full of goodness and filled with love. She is gentle, pretty, intelligent and charming. If I were about to be born again and was given the opportunity to choose my mother, I would do just that: choose my Mother."

This is what Thomas D. Wynne III has to say about his mother, Mrs. Thomas D. Wynne Jr. of Fordyce — Arkansas's Mother of the Year.

Wynne wrote a letter, which included that statement, last February — just after his mother had been nominated by the Culture Club of Fordyce for the honor. The letter was written to the state chairman of the American Mothers

Committee, Inc.

AS ONE ENTERS the Wynne home on Pine Street in Fordyce, it is immediately apparent that life centers around the family, although all four of the Wynne children have graduated from high school.

Golf and other sports trophies and awards fill a curio cabinet and the top of several tables. Pictures of the family are on the walls and on the end tables — a special place is devoted to Wynne Ann Roark the Wynnes' three-year-old granddaughter.

Talking with Mrs. Wynne also makes one realize that her family remains the focal point of her activities.

"When I was nominated by the Culture Club for the mother of the year competition, I had to compile a brochure on my family and my own activities," she said, adding:

"I SAT DOWN and actually started figuring the hours I had spent making crepe paper costumes for Halloween and operettas, attending PTA (Parent-Teachers Association) meetings and transporting my children to and from their various meetings and games and tournaments.

"I know that time amounted to quite a number of hours, but I wouldn't trade one minute for all the diamonds at Tiffany's."

Bubbling with enthusiasm over the achievements of her family, Mrs. Wynne delights in telling stories of their childhood years.

"I recall when Robin (their youngest) was playing in a golf tournament at Arkadelphia and I carried him and a friend over there. When he was ready to play, I asked the parents of his opponent if they weren't going to join me in walking the course," she said.

"THE LADY said her son wouldn't dream of allowing them to watch him play," Mrs. Wynne said, "adding that sometimes her husband hid behind a bush to watch him."

Mrs. Wynne continued:

"I've always walked with my sons in golf tournaments and even hold their putting balls for good luck. They don't realize that there's any other way to play in a tournament."

A flicker of a smile crosses her lips when she talks about the closeness of the Wynne family.

"WHEN TOM came home the other day, I invited him to join me about 4 o'clock for a cup of coffee and a chat like we used to do so often when he was in high school," Mrs. Wynne said. "I didn't have to fix supper that night and do you worries me," Mrs. Wynne said. "I don't believe I've given enough credit to my husband (Thomas D. Wynne Jr., a Fordyce lawyer)."

"You realize, if it weren't for Tommy, I wouldn't have been able to do all of the things I do. Before accepting any job, I talk things over with him and he has been nothing but encouraging."

Morning is Mrs. Wynne's favorite time of day.

"I awaken each morning around 7, dress and prepare breakfast while Tommy reads the newspaper and dresses. Then we have breakfast, finish the paper and then talk over the news and what we have planned for the day. It's a most enjoyable time for both of us."

ASKED IF she had any advice for mothers, Mrs. Wynne replied: "Oh, no, I wouldn't dare think of telling mothers how to raise their children. I'm no authority."

Mrs. Wynne did say that she had learned one lesson:

"I try never to say 'my child couldn't do anything like that,' because I really don't know what my children are going to do."

MRS. WYNNE represented Arkansas at the National Awards Week of the American Mothers Committee, Inc., last week at Denver. In April, she received a citation from the committee during a proclamation ceremony at the state Capitol, presided over by Governor Bumpers. A special guest at the ceremony was her mother-in-law, Mrs. I. I. Coffee, the 1948 Arkansas Mother of the

The Wynnes' four children include:

— Mrs. Larry Roark of Fordyce, a homemaker who is now attending the University of Arkansas at Monticello, where she is on the Dean's List;

— Tom Wynne, who graduated cum laude from Harvard University at Cambridge, Massachusetts; where he then became assistant director of admissions;

— Terry Frank Wynne, an honor graduate of Harvard, who is employed by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., at Kansas City; and

— Robin, a student at Harvard, where he is a member of the golf team.

ALTHOUGH MRS. Wynne has ceased her activities with the Fordyce PTA since her youngest son graduated from Fordyce High School, she says she plans to return to the association when her granddaughter enters school.
